AWAIT MELLON AT KANSAS CITY

PRESIDENT STARTS ON VACATION TRIP THIS EVENING

Will Hunts Vainly for Delegates in Kansas City Pews

(Special To The News)

KANSAS CITY, June 11. — On Sunday (even in a political convention) I just got an idea I would see just how religious all these politicians really are, as I had heard that religion might play some part in the fall festivities.

So I grab a cab and rush from one church to the other all over town, and not a single candidate, delegate, or even delegatess was among the worshippers.

Still, this fall in the campaign, you will hear them get up and shout! "Our religion is the bulwark of our great and glorious country. We must continue to be God-fearing people, our church is our salvation."

Well, our churches are our salvation, but some of those babies won't be among those rescued.

Yours,

WILL.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Some idea of the change that is made by the introduction of daylight savings time during the summer months was evident last night. Church services were concluded before daylight had faded in the evening and it was nearly 9:30 o'clock before it was necessary to turn on the street lights of the city.

Hundreds of New Castle children took up summer programs this morning. Probably 800 started summer school sessions at the Ben Franklin junior high school while some hundreds in addition gathered at the various city playgrounds for the start of the summer's schedule.

New Castle and Lawrence county radio host is ready. The receiving sets are attuned for the big test of the next few weeks. The Republican party convention gets under way at Kansas City tomorrow and later in the month the Democrats will start their pow-wow at Houston, Texas. Proceedings at the conventions will be broadcast over a nation-wide hookup.

Pa Newc is in hopes today that the continuous rain of the past week has let up. The skies this morning are a perfect blue and indications are that the rainy weather is over for a time. According to the local weather bureau report more rain fell during the past week than during the preceding two months together.

Who has the worst job in all the world? Pa Newc will cast his vote for the man he saw at New Castle Junction over the week end. First, all one could see was a red haze in a flat car. Then the haze suddenly dispersed as the man turned off his paint gun. His clothes were red, his face was red and if one could see his lungs Pa Newc believes that they would be coated with red lead.

Heading a Bunkless party one of the humorous magazines has started a campaign to get Will Rodgers in the presidency. Already many votes are pledged to him. And if he makes the grade or if he even polls a few thousand votes it will show that some people have confidence in the sagacity of the man who contributes his sardonic shafts of wit to the NEWS.

Although croquet is fast approaching complete extermination, it belongs to the gay nineties yet Saturday afternoon at Penn State when the sun broke through the clouds for a few moments the learned Herr Professor Doktors indulged in a tournament and it was a gruff mining engineer who turned in the lowest score proving himself the champion of the faculty.

Much to his surprise Pa Newc found that one could procure Italian spaghetti in the rtalm of the Pennsylvania Germans.

While overhead it looked like real June this morning, topcoats were still being warn by pedestrians on the street. A day or two of sunlight like today, will work wonders, and do away with the need for topcoats.

Coolidges Will Depart Tonight For Wisconsin

Three Months' Vacation To Be Spent By President In Middle West

MRS. COOLIDGE IS ACCOMPANYING HIM

President's Secretary Is At Kansas City To See That "Draft Coolidge" Move Fails

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 11—President Coolidge leaves Washington tonight for a three months' vacation in Wisconsin. With him will go Mrs. Coolidge, who, at the last minute, abandoned plans to remain behind and attend the graduation of her son John next Monday at Amherst.

The spot picked for this year's summer White House is the camp of the late Henry Clay Pierce, millionaire oil man, located on the Brule river about 32 miles from Superior. Over 4,000 acres are encompassed in the estate, through which run a number of streams reputed to be outstanding spots for trout. The main cabin, known as Cedar Island Lodge, which will house the president and Mrs. Coolidge, is on a little island, connected with the mainland by drawbridges. A score of other buildings furnish guest and servants quarters.

Large Office Staff.

A large office staff will make the trip with Mr. Coolidge, and a temporary executive office is to be set up in Superior. The president plans to motor in daily to attend to national business.

Also, the Coolidges are taking with them quite a force of household servants who will minister to the wants of the Wisconsin camp throughout the summer.

Newspaper men, secret service operatives and photographers will swell the total of persons aboard the presidential special train to over 60. In

Southern Cross Fliers Receive Great Ovation

Half Million Australians Greet Southern Cross Fliers In Sydney Landing

WILL BE GIVEN $25,000 PRIZE

Smith And Ulm May Continue Flight Around World; Cross Pacific In 88 Hours

(International News Service)

SYDNEY, Australia, June 11.—After a tremendous ovation tendered by a half a million Australians upon their arrival here, Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith, commander of the monoplane Southern Cross on its epochal 7,800-mile flight across the Pacific, and Charles T. P. Ulm, copilot, today formulated plans for extending their flight around the world.

Get Large Award.

It is not known whether the American members of the crew, Harry Lyon, navigator, and James Warner, radio operator, will accompany them or take a ship back to the United States from Brisbane.

The fliers have been invited by Premier Stanley Bruce to come to Canberra as guests of the Australian government. At Canberra, another tremendous reception awaits them and the premier will present the fliers with $25,000 voted them by the Australian parliament in acknowledgement of their accomplishment.

The fliers were greeted yesterday by the wildest acclamation ever witnessed here. They were literally mobbed by thousands who broke through police lines to catch a glimpse of them. After being officially welcomed they were taken through the main thoroughfare which was lined on all sides by admiring residents.

The fliers completed the last 500 miles of their journey, from Brisbane to Sydney, in about five hours, making the total elapsed flying time for the 7,800 miles about 88 hours.

Special Court May Hear Indictments In Pittsburgh Clean-Up

Police Superintendent, Two State Legislators And 165 Others Indicted

Investigation Into Alleged Vice Conditions In Pittsburgh Is To Be Continued

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 11.—A special July term of court may be called by United States judges for western Pennsylvania to try the 167 men, including Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh, two state legislators, several magistrates, politicians and police indicted in an alleged gigantic prohibition law violation conspiracy, it was learned today.

Tentative plans to this effect have been made at the offices of the United States district attorney and the United States prohibition administrators who have conducted one of the most inclusive investigations in the history of western Pennsylvania.

The United States district attorney has urged that the 167 men indicted be arraigned within the next two weeks to plead their guilt or innocence to the charges.

Carry Probe Further.

Further investigation is being carried on by the state of Pennsylvania as a result of the grand jury action last Saturday. Following the charge by the grand jury that there were many state law violations, especially gambling, found that were not within the jurisdiction of the federal government, Samuel H. Gardner, Allegheny county district attorney, declared he would investigate.

That the government's probe is by no means completed was indicated after the indictments were returned when squads of the prohibition unit were working on further developments

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—The draft Coolidge movement gained impetus today with the arrival of Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago who controls the anti-Lowden bloc in the Illinois delegation.

New York's 90 Delegate Votes May Go To President Coolidge On First Ballot

UNIT RULE MAY NOW BE INVOKED

Charles D. Hilles, National Committeeman, Controls New York Delegation

By RAYMOND L. BORST
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—So bitter has become the feud between the Coolidge and Hoover forces in the New York delegation at the Republican national convention that today there was talk of invoking the unit rule and voting the Empire state's 90 delegates for the president on the first roll call.

Charles D. Hilles, national committeeman, and George K. Morris, state chairman, who have been leading the fight to renominate the president, have been joined by former United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr. They have more than enough votes to clamp the unit rule on the New York delegation, but they refused to discuss such a possibility.

The unit rule has not been invoked in New York since the state has had direct primaries. At the last session of the legislature the Republicans killed a bill, sponsored by the Democrats, which would have permitted the unit rule.

STORM TOSSES SHIP TO EARTH

Crew Divided As Gondola Crashes And Remainder Of Ship Floats Away

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 11.—Spurred on by radio reports from the Italia that while General Umberto Nobile and the 17 members of his crew were alive, two of those aboard the airship were seriously injured when the ship's gondola was hurled to the ground in a storm, relief workers attempted to accelerate their rescue plans today.

The gondola was detached from the airship during a terrific storm and Nobile and seven of the crew hurtled to the ground inside it. The remainder of the crew drifted 30 kilometers to the eastward with the dirigible before it came to the ground.

In this way, the crew of the Italia became separated into two parts, on the ice floes of the Arctic, advices from King's Bay, Spitzbergen, received by the Exchange Telegraph company in Rome and relayed here stated.

Ice Is Breaking

The ice-ship Hobby has advised that a strong wind is now breaking up the ice and that it will soon be possible for the ship to proceed farther northward to search for the Italia's crew.

Both the Hobby and the steamer Braganza will attempt to press onward to Cape North as soon as possible. Captain Riiser-Larsen, the Norwegian aviator, has reached the Hobby in his plane, the Gull.

Larsen and Lieut. Holm will attempt to locate the Italia's castaways from the air and drop food and other supplies down to them. Holm made one attempt to scour the northern regions but was compelled by inclement weather to make a landing on the ice of Mossel Bay.

Meanwhile the Italia continues to keep in constant touch with the Citta Di Milano at King's Bay by radio. The two parts of the crew are on an ice pack 80.30 degrees north latitude and 28.4 east longitude they are un-

PENNSYLVANIA DELEGATION HEADED BY MELLON IS KEY TO REPUBLICAN NOMINATION

Delegates Will Caucus On Arrival In Kansas City During Afternoon

Number Of Choices For Standard Bearer Are Before State Contingent

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—The "Key" to the Republican Party's presidential riddle was speeding across the Midwestern Plains today as three special trains brought Pennsylvania's seventy nine electoral votes to the convention.

The delegation, headed ostensibly by Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, but under the dual command of Mellon and Senator-elect William S. Vare, of Philadelphia, was expected to provide a solution to the tangled presidential situation shortly after its arrival this evening. The delegation will caucus at 8 o'clock tonight on its choice for the Republican nomination and when its preference is announced, the convention riddle may be solved.

Number of Choices

The Pennsylvanians were expected to cast a complimentary vote for their governor, John H. Fisher, on the first ballot and thereafter go to their real choice. His name may be Calvin Coolidge, Andrew W. Mellon, Herbert Hoover, Charles Curtis or James E. Watson.

A vote for either Coolidge or Mellon, it was believed, would not influence the convention much one way or the other. A vote for Curtis or Watson, however, would be expected to eliminate Hoover and insure the nomination of the favored senator. A vote for Hoover would be certain to close the convention Wednesday night with the Secretary of Commerce as the Republican nominee.

Rumors, as contrary as April showers, preceded the delegation into Kansas City. The Hoover followers were certain the cabinet member would be favored on the second ballot or the third at the latest.

Spokesman for the "allied" group of candidates opposing Hoover predicted the Pennsylvanians would swing to Curtis or Watson after complimentary ballots to Fisher and Mellon. It merely depended on which camp an interviewer entered as to which man was named as the Keystone State's beneficiary.

In Three Special Trains

The Pennsylvanians came west on three special trains. The first, carrying the delegates from Pittsburgh and nearby points was due here at

Hoover Leaders For Farm Relief Like Jardine Plan

Definite Plan To Be Presented For Taking Care Of Farm Problem

BORAH ARRIVES WITH PLATFORM

Would Take Definite Stand On Prohibition; Also Wants Stand On Corruption

By KENNETH CLARK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—As a peace offering to the embattled farmers the Hoover leaders today endorsed a definite farm program to be incorporated in the Republican platform.

It is based on the so-called Jardine farm plan and will be urged as a substitute for the vetoed McNary-Haugen bill which has aroused the corn belt.

Plan In General

The plan contemplates generally a federal revolving fund of $250,000,000 or $300,000,000 to be used in assisting farm cooperatives in the orderly marketing of basic crops. It does not contain the equalization fee. President Coolidge in past utterances has endorsed a farm relief program of this character, the Hoover people pointed out.

The program has worked out by Hoover forces after conferences with Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, a supporter of the Cabinet candidates. Before coming here Jardine talked over farm relief with President Cool-

Farm Caravan Failing To Gain Much Momentum

Uncertain As Yet As To What Farmers' "Big Parade" Will Amount To

FEW OF EXPECTED HORDE IN EVIDENCE

Reports Indicate Cavalcade May Yet Get Under Way In Mid-Week

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—The vanguard of the farmers' "big parade" lumbered into the Republican convention city today.

Banners proclaiming their demand for a farmers' friends as the Republican nominee were unfurled and auto horns blared determination as the first few cars were swallowed up in the throbbing traffic of a crowded city.

The Hoover supporters dismissed the appearance of dust-laden flivvers with the word "politics", while the bearers of the banners of the "allies" scanned the horizon in the hope that the line would lengthen into the greatest trek in convention history.

Just how big the "big parade" will be is still a matter of doubt. Backers of the movement proclaimed confidence that 40,000 to 50,000 farmers would drop their plows and hurry Kansas Cityward.

Thus far the reports apparently are not encouraging. While Gov. A. G. Sorlie of North Dakota was heading a cavalcade from the Northwest, another was reported forming in Iowa and two Pullmans of Indiana farmerse were en route, there was no evidence of a gigantic movement.

Farmers Welcomed

Governor McMullen of Nebraska, Senators Nye, Republican, of North Dakota, and George N. Peek of Illinois, chairman of the farmers' "committee of 22", and M. J. Tobin of Iowa, were on hand to welcome the farmers.

Peek refused to predict the numbers en route, while Mark Woods of Lincoln, Neb., a McMullen aide, declared that 50,000 would bivouac on plains near the city.

A great amusement park, transformed into a tourist headquarters, was made ready for the farm caravan. A visit to the park in the early morning hours revealed that comparatively few had accepted the invitation to pitch their tents.

The first conference of farm leaders and backers of the McNary-Haugen bill in the recent congressional fight was scheduled to be held today in the large suite of offices which serves as farm headquarters.

From this conference is expected to develop a definite proposal for the Republican platform, for future farm relief legislation and a clear-cut statement of what the "farm lobby" will do if it is defeated.

Emphatic denial that any principles of the farm relief fight have been abandoned was issued by Peek. He declared that farm bureau resolutions at Chicago, which did not mention the equalization fee of the McNary-Haugen bill, had been misinterpreted.

"There has been no change in the attitude of the farm organizations on the McNary-Haugen bill or any other legislation that has been advocated," he asserted.

While the "farm lobby" was having its innings, L. H. Cook, editor of the Iowa Homestead, a farm paper, and LaFollette manager in 1924, issued a statement declaring that Hoover would carry both Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

HOOVER ALLIES APPEAR BITTER

Senators Curtis And Watson Assume Leadership In Drive To Halt Hoover

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—The real work of trying to "stop Hoover" got under way today as incoming trains poured into Kansas City the hundreds of delegates with whom the decision ultimately rests.

"He will be stopped," asserted the spokesmen of the hard-pressed allies.

"He can't be stopped," countered the Hoover managers. "It will be Hoover on the first or second ballot."

It is into this situation, with lines drawn taut, that Andrew W. Mellon will step late today. No schoolroom ever waited more expectantly for the teacher than does this Republican national convention await the coming of the shy, taciturn little leader from Pennsylvania.

Portable Schools Being Removed

Two Structures In Front Of North Street School Being Taken Down

MAKING PLANS FOR SCHOOL CHANGES

Workmen are engaged today in removing the two steel portable school buildings which have served the North Street Junior high school for the past several years. While they are solidly constructed and have served their purpose well, they have been no addition to the architectural beauty of the building and their removal will be an improvement.

With the opening of the next school year it is expected that the George Washington Junior high school will be ready, or at least shortly after the opening. When this is accomplished, the present North street building will be used for the students of the Martin Gantz school and this building will be abandoned.

Plans are now being drawn for the remodeling of the East street building just back of the North street building, to provide administration offices for the superintendent, secretary, supervisors, and superintendent of buildings and grounds.

We'll know very shortly, perhaps in a week, just who, and what for and what kind of a geek, will be named by the lads for the president's chair, for they're starting the quadrennial political fair. Tomorrow's the day when the boys get together to say who'll they run in the scrap in the fall, will Herbert or Charley, or Calvin or Lowden, or some one unnamed up to date get the call. They'll battle a while and they'll cast the first ballot, the favorite sons will get their usual play, but who have they got in the back of their curtain, its anyone's guess, seventy-seven today.

Democrats Name County Officers

Committee Meets In Courthouse On Saturday Afternoon

PATTERSON IS NEW COUNTY CHAIRMAN

Meeting in the county court house on Saturday afternoon, the county committee of the Democratic Party elected an entirely new set of officers for the coming biennium.

Attorney Clarence A. Patterson was elected as chairman of the county committee, Ira M. Ramsey, secretary, and Harry Turner chairman. The election of Mr. Patterson as chairman is the first change in ten years in this office.

For the past ten years J. O. Rodgers has been the chairman and under his leadership in that time the Democratic party has elected a judge of the county, a sheriff of the county, a mayor, a city treasurer and a district attorney. The party has also carried the county for congress once in that time and once for the United States Senate.

Addresses were made on Saturday afternoon by the retiring chairman, and by Attorneys C. H. Aiken, W. E. Porter, A. Martin Graham, and by T. E. Shields. Harmony prevailed throughout the meeting and plans made to sponsor the candidates of the party in the coming election.

PENNSYLVANIA DELEGATION IS KEY TO NOMINATION

4:40 p. m. It was commanded by Secretary Mellon and his lieutenant, Sen. David A. Reed. The second section carrying Harrisburg and Central Pennsylvania delegates, was due at 5:30 p. m. The third special due at 7 p. m. On it rode Senator-elect Vare and his lieutenants, Frances Shunk Brown, former attorney general, and Thomas W. Cunningham, Sheriff of Philadelphia County.

The caucus was to be held an hour after the Vare group arrived.

The Mellon and Vare camps were said to favor a unit rule for the state but followers of Herbert Hoover were reported ready to fight this arrangement if it lasted more than two or three ballots.

The Hoover contingent within the delegation was led by Governor Fisher, former congressman Fred B. Gernerd, of Allentown, and Col. James Elverson, Jr., Philadelphia publisher.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, a Keystone delegate-at-large, preceded the delegation here. He arrived last night but he told newspapermen he could not predict the caucus' choice.

It's comfort to have a coming young man interested in daughter, but he shouldn't be too absent-minded about going.

Mayor Not To Act

Walsh, the city magistrates, the ward chairmen and others holding city positions, against whom indictments were returned, will continue to hold their city positions unless they are found guilty, according to Mayor Charles H. Kline.

Pittsburgh's mayor declared there would be no suspensions or requested resignations as far as he was concerned despite the charges made by the Federal grand jury.

Superintendent of Police Walsh maintained absolute silence about his indictment. He refused to comment upon his position or what action he would take.

idge and Secretary Hoover. He is believed to be representing the president's views in the matter.

Hoover people believe it is the better part of strategy to offer the farmers a definite form of relief in the platform instead of dealing in generalities. Thus, they say, they will not be put in the position of "destructionists," and will not be open to the charge of being unfriendly to the agricultural west.

Borah Is Adherent

This general program gained an adherent in Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, who has arrived here with a platform in his pocket. He wrote it after conferring with Hoover in Washington.

Borah has two pet proposals—prohibition and corruption in government. He wants the party to take a definite stand and not straddle on prohibition. He would do this by adopting a plank specifically opposing repeal of the Eighteenth amendment.

"This is not a time for generalities," he said. "Let's fight it out. If those opposing the prohibition law are sincere let them propose repeal or modification of the prohibition law. We must oppose nullification of the constitution."

His corruption plank will cover the oil scandals and election frauds.

"One of our most searching problems is whether the honors and positions in public life are open only to those who have enough money to command them or have the wealth to enable them to manipulate politics," said Borah.

Senator Nye, Republican of North Dakota, chairman of the Teapot Dome committee wants to include a vigorous denunciation of the oil scandals.

Outside of farm relief and prohibition there appears to be little fight over the platform.

Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah, chairman of the Resolutions committee, who has been on the ground a week, has already completed a tentative draft. It will be presented to the committee tomorrow afternoon when a subcommittee will be named to whip the platform into final shape for the entire committee Wednesday morning.

the Hilles-Morris-Wadsworth forces and the Hoover delegates will come late today at the caucus of the New York delegation.

There is every indication that the group backing the commerce secretary will be routed, at least for the present.

Hilles will be re-elected national committeeman at the caucus and he also will be chosen chairman of the delegation. Previously, the Hoover forces had insisted they would be able to prevent the election of the national committeeman until after the nominations were made at the convention. In any event, the Hoover crowd would prefer to see Morris as chairman of the delegation.

Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, of New York City, will be re-elected national committeeman and the various New York delegates who are to serve on the convention committees will be chosen at the caucus. Either Miss Florence Ward Well of Otsego county, a delegrate at large, or Mrs. Miriam A. Schindler of Albany, will be selected for place on one of the committees.

Calls Conference

In an effort to keep the "draft Coolidge" forces in the New York delegation solidly in line, Hilles has called a conference on some of the leaders for today. It was reported that the proposal to invoke the unit rule would be discussed. Those who will attend include Hilles, Morris, Wadsworth, Miss Sarah Schuyler Butler, vice chairman of the New York state committee; Hary J. Bareham, Monroe county leader, Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, and Samuel Koenig, New York county leader.

Some of the Hoover backers in the New York delegation frankly admitted today that the commerce secretary would not get more than 27 of the 90 delegates on the first ballot. Previously, William H. Hill, of Binghampton, up-states manager for Hoover, had insisted that from 45 to 50 of New York delegates would vote for Hoover on the first roll call.

The president is determined not to be a candidate to succeed himself, and he is not going to be forced into accepting the nomination.

The message was received at 11:07 p. m. D. S. T. It read:

"Qst. still drifting south by southwest on packed ice. Strong northeast gales. Nobile."

Byler is the amateur radio fan who first picked up news of the German monoplane Bremen's landing on Greenely Island. Last week he received a message purporting to come from the Italia saying the crew was safe but the Italia was down about 300 miles north of Spitzbergen.

Boy Is Drowned At Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 11—John Robinson, 12, was drowned Sunday afternoon when the rowboat in which he was riding with a boy companion tipped over as it struck the brink of the Lake Glacier dam in Mill Creek Park here.

Police were immediately called and, by means of hooks, brought the body to the surface.

The companion of Robinson, hanging to the overturned boat, was rescued.

According to police reports, the boys had rented a boat for the afternoon and ventured close to the edge of the lake dam.

Caught in the swift current, caused by recent havy rains, the boat headed for the dam and stuck on the edge, turning over and throwing the boys into the water.

Policeman Joseph Greer testified that about 11 o'clock on the night of March 17 an automobile containing a young man and girl was stalled in Market alley. The battery had run down and he and the girl were trying to push the car back, while the young man was throwing it in reverse gear in the hope of getting it started, when Aho dashed around the corner from Mill street and crashed into the side of the Sherman House. Greer said that the car only missed striking him by a few inches. Aho was arrested and taken to the mayor's office. Later a charge of driving while intoxicated was placed against him.

Says Konjola Is First Medicine To End Her Pain

New Castle Lady Tells How New Compound Ended Stomach and Kidney Trouble.

MRS. ANNA L. CRAIG.
Seavy Photo

Since the Konjola Man came to this city, hundreds of people are calling on him and telling of the aches and pains that are caused by various ailments of the liver, kidneys, stomach and bowels. In nearly every case they are relieved after taking this medicine. Konjola is a new compound made up of twenty-two roots and herbs, combined with other beneficial ingredients. It contains no alcohol or harmful drugs. Many New Castle people are strongly indorsing this surprising remedy. One of the latest to describe the relief gained thru the use of Konjola is Mrs. Anna L. Craig, 7 South Jefferson street, New Castle, who made the following statement to the Konjola Man at the Love and Megown Drug Store, 204 East Washington street, this city:

"I know what Konjola will do, and for this reason I want to tell everybody what it has done for me," said Mrs. Craig.

"My stomach trouble was the the worst thing that I had to contend with. After every meal that I ate would come awful belching spells and I would be subject to gas formations that always made me feel miserable. Stringy bits of undigested food would work their way into my throat and mouth and leave an unpleasant taste. Every time I used to have those belching and gas spells, I would soon after be attacked with a terrific headache that would sometimes last for days. My kidneys were in an awfully disordered condition and every night when I went to bed I would have to rise three or four times. This made it very hard for me to get any rest at all. Then the next morning when I got up I felt terribly—weak and dizzy, and never felt like doing anything at all. Finally, all these ailments combined to make me very nervous and there were times that I had to sit down and rest for indefinite periods. I was always feeling tired and worn-out and I did not know what to do next for relief.

"A friend of mine was taking Konjola and it was doing so much good for her that I thought I would try it. After the first three days I noticed an improvement in my whole system. It was wonderful the way Konjola seemed to go to the source of my trouble right away. I continued with the treatment until now I've taken six bottles and can honestly say that my whole condition is a hundred percent better off. First it regulated my stomach organs. The awful indigestion pains soon left me and the gas bloating and that heavy feeling I used to have after meals all passed away. My kidneys are a lot stronger and now when I go to bed I do not have to get up at all. I feel better than I ever did and my nerves which used to bother me so much are as well now as ever. I get up in the morning now feeling full of vigor and pep and go about the house with a keener enjoyment in my work.

"Yes, Konjola surely is a wonderful medicine and I want to indorse it and recommend that my friends take this medicine."

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown Drug Store, 204 East Washington street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

MYSTIFIED EUROPEANS

EUROPEANS do not understand Americans, and they understand them less since Henry Ford's recent sojourn among them. London looked for nothing from this "colorless American billionaire," but in his first 24 hours in the British capital he created two distinct sensations.

The first sensation was ticked off when he nonchalantly mounted the plebeian steps of an ordinary London bus and took a 6-cent ride around town, while Londoners' eyes bulged with amazement. It was an unheard-of thing.

The second surprise came the next morning when he appeared in the ritzy dining room of the Carleton Hotel at 8 o'clock and asked for breakfast. No doubt the attendant, who advised the automobile wizard that he was an hour early, was gallant enough to conceal his own feeling of cultural superiority.

Doubtlessly Mr. Ford rode the London bus for the same reason he has ridden in Model T and its more refined successor. He is a student of transportation and learns by actual contact and experience. That 6-cent ride probably taught him more about London buses and traffic than a whole library of books on the subject.

Some philosopher will be inspired by the premature breakfast order to discourse upon American activity and British leisure. The truth is there are many Londoners and many Americans who always have breakfast before 9 in the morning and there are some Americans, just as there are some Londoners, who would not be inconvenienced by a 9 o'clock breakfast hour. But the amazed employes of the Carleton Hotel will insist until their dying day that they discovered the secret of Ford's success.

THE CAMPAIGN TO "STOP HOOVER"

ALTHOUGH the Kansas City Convention does not open until Tuesday, the Republican National Committee was on the ground during the past week, deciding the cases of contesting delegations among other things.

Mr. Hoover is far in the lead in the number of delegates instructed for him or favorable to his nomination. This fact has spurred the representatives of the rival candidates to a coalition against him. They call it an offensive and defensive alliance.

The gain to any individual candidate is dubious, to say the least of it. The mere cry, "Stop Hoover," does not make a very inspiring fighting slogan. Besides, the combination has the bulk of public sentiment within the party against it.

THE CONVENTION

MUCH-TROUBLED Democracy has found some solace in the thought, fathered by the wish, that the president's veto of the McNary- Haugen bill will bob up during the Republican national convention to worry the G. O. P. platform builders. Democrats know the Republican party will never make the mistake of repudiating a Republican administration. The repudiation of Cleveland by the Democratic convention in 1896 lived to curse that party for a dozen years. And the Democrats cannot see how the Kansas City convention can draft a platform that will pacify the Middle West farmer without repudiating the Coolidge administration.

Republican leaders and the rank and file of the party anticipate little trouble in laying the planks of their platform for this year's campaign. Not so the Democracy.

The Democratic party is divided on so many issues and its presidential timber has been so outspoken one way or the other on some or all of these issues, the task before the Houston convention will be a sort of put -Humpty-Dumpty-together job. No matter which way they approach it the Democrats will find it difficult to match platform and presidential nominee.

The representatives of the Republican voters of the nation are in Kansas City to draft a platform and make nominations that hold forth the promise of Republican success in November and four years more of good government.

The odds are in their favor.

WASHINGTON ABOUT DESERTED

WITH congress adjourned and all eyes turned on Kansas City, Washington begins to resemble a deserted village. When the president leaves this week it will relapse into a sort of political solitude. He has chosen a summer home which anyone else would find isolated and quiet, but already there are signs of a rush of visitors to the neighborhood. What time he can spare from his official duties he ought to have to himself, but the American people are not very considerate in this respect. He is taking a very large office force with him; hitherto, it is said, he has found it inadequate. Its quarters will be some distance away from the lodge where he is to fish and get such recreation as he can. This is a good idea.

A man seldom considers his experience worth all it cost.

We got an awful bawling out from a bird because we did not tell in our little note about Peaches Browning as to where she was playing. We give enough free advertising right here in town without hunting it in other places.

The great Wannamaker store in Philadelphia and the first department store to install a broadcasting station, has discontinued broadcasting. The station was established in 1922 and has been in operation ever since. Advertising on the radio does not pay it seems.

Human beings are naturally slovenly. You have to hold a young kid tight to wash it's face the first time, to comb it's hair you have to actually run 'em down.

F. A. B. sent me the following, from a book of poems by Lizzie Doten, a spiritualist medium, and supposed to emanate from Robert Burns:

The upright, honest-hearted man,
Who strives to do the best he can,
Need never fear the church's ban,
Or hell's damnation;
For God will need no special plan
For his salvation.

The one who knows our direct needs
Recks little how man counts his beads,
For righteousness is not in creeds,
Or solemn faces,
But rather lies in kindly deeds
And Christian graces.

Tak tent o'truth, and heed this well:
The man who sins makes his ain hell,
There's no worse de'il than himself,
But God is strongest.
With loving kI'dness will he wait
Till all the prodigals of fate
Return unto their fair estate
And blessings many . . . .
Nor will he shut the Golden Gate
Of Heav'n on any.

F. A. B. says he thinks the foregoing is the whole truth about life here and hereafter. But of course you are entitled to your own opinion. Personally, it strikes me as pretty good.

A newspaper publisher was fined one thousand dollars for referring to a new house built by a bootlegger as "the house that grog built". Some of those bootleggers are touchy when razzed about their calling.

There isn't anything to hinder any person or organization boosting New Castle. The more the better, but knocking some one who has always spent his time and money doing it does not seem reasonable. Along about this time of the year tall chaps like the Hints and Dints man have a grievance against low hanging tree branches. This is especially true with those of us who can get hold of a nice new, straw hat. One trip under some trees a bit wet and it's all off as far as cleanliness goes with the straw thatch. On wet days one has to almost go on hands and kneese under some trees when the limbs are weighted down with water. Why not have the police tell the offenders about the ordinance we have in New Castle about low hanging tree branches?

Sid McKay came in the News office a few days ago and we were so surprised we could scarcely speak for a moment. Last winter we drove from Orlando to St. Cloud, Fla., to see Sid and his estimable wife, but he was out fishing and we missed him. It was hard to leave St. Cloud without seeing him, but we had to do it. We never would go south without going to St. Cloud, Fla., where we have some real friends. Sid is going to remain in this vicinity a few weeks and his hosts of friends will be glad to hear this. Mrs. McKay is not with him but is perfectly satisfied with him making the visit home.

TO PEGGY

When I was young and happy,
And every moment flew,
I thought that there were myriads
As good and dear as you;
I thought that they were nesting
On every woodland tree,
And I had but no beckon
And they would come to me.
But now the days are somber,
And snow is in the sky;
I sit alone and ponder
On those old days gone by.
Oh! hold the thing that's precious,
And keep the friend that's true,
For I never found another
When I lost you.

Universal service digs out this:

"The Hoover people, like the man who believed in killing the cat the first night, intend to find out about that 'Coolidge draft and tide wave' at the beginning of the convention.

"The plan is to put President Coolidge in nomination on the first ballot and find out at the start how President Coolidge feels about it, and how the Republican convention feels about it."

"That's news," but Universal Service will forgive you for not believing it.

Preserving such beauty for all time and all races is a noble and sensible idea, better than collecting for private possession.

Last summer on the broad terrace back of the palace of Versailles, in bright moonlight, this writer saw that the heavy stones of the balustrade were fastened together by new clamps of copper.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., put them there, and he put the new copper roof on the old palace, spending millions to preserve that which could never be reproduced. That's a good way to use money.

Old China changes slowly. Chang Tso-Lin fled from Peking to Mukden, his stronghold, on the advice of magicians and astrologers. Two astrologers, one called "Prince Benevolence" 71 years old, another "Iron Mouth," have predicted things that convinced him. The Mongolians like magicians.

What, in the opinion of Col. Barnes, would happen if enemy airplanes refused to play the game nicely and failed to come within comfortable range of the anti-aircraft guns? How would he deal with those enemy planes unless he had pursuit planes to send after them.

AN ADVENTURE IN INTERNATIONAL GOOD WILL

A plan is on foot to send to each primary school in a Mexican village, from schools in America, a friendship school bag.

This is an adventure in good will toward Mexico that will do much toward counteracting the effects of mischief makers who, on account of business matters, are desirous of making trouble with Mexico.

A similar project dealing with Japan was carried out not long ago with dolls as messengers of friendship, and aroused enthusiasm and response beyond the dream of the sponsors.

The idea is to send Friendship School Bags to the younger Children of Mexico. These bags are chosen for the expression of friendliness because of the great movement in that land for popular education. The bags, which are durable, in three colors, and beautifully embossed, may be obtained from the Committee, 289 Fourth avenue, New York City. They may be filled with serviceable and appropriate gifts having some connection with school life. These bags are being sent to the Department of Education in Mexico City for distribution among the primary children on Mexico's Independence Day, September 16.

Some have already arrived, and Dr. Moises Saenz writes that the Department of Education is "thrilled" with this evidence of the friendliness of the American children.

A letter of introduction is included in each Friendship Bag, together with two pictures of two great Mexican heroes, one of Washington and Lincoln, also one of Lindbergh, who is well known to the children of Mexico everywhere. There will be letters in them telling of school life and recreation and pastimes.

This is bringing geography right home to the child and is real education.

Over 6,000 bags have been sent out and orders are coming in every day.

Churches and church federations, schools and women's societies are cooperating. Generous responses have been received from Worcester, Mass., and Nebraska announces a goal of two bags from every children's group in the state. Indiana and Ohio

Bible Thought For Today

ANOTHER RUNNER

Promoter Pyle's Marathon is history, and neither Pyle or the runners profited thereby. The event again brought home to the observant the fact often lost to view—that the human can stand more physical grief than any other animal. Man has more physical resistance than any other living creature. If an army could be trained to make forced marches at the speed attained and distance run by Pyle's cross-country runners, that army could win the Earth.

There are many runners outside of the list of those who have just crossed the continent. One of those is Clarence De Mar, of Melrose, Mass. He is not a young man but is an athlete worthy of the emulation of all American youth who admire physical prowess and good citizenship. Recently he won at the age of 39, a marathon. He has won this same marathon so many times it has been suggested that it be called the "De Mar Marathon," instead of the "Marathon of Boston."

De Mar does his regular work daily just like any good citizen. He runs back and forth between his home and his business. He served his country in the World War and has been a true patriot all his life. De Mar teaches a Sunday-school class every Sunday and does not neglect it at marathon time. In the social life of Melrose, Mass., he takes his place with dignity and fulfills his obligations to acquaintances and friends. Massachusetts says she is proud of him. No wonder.

While age and endurance are under discussion, do not forget Tyrus Cobb. Every day that he appears now in a baseball uniform and takes his place either in the field or at bat, he makes a new record for a baseball player's endurance.

An automobile driven by spurts of expanding gases like a Fourth of July rocket has been given a trial in Germany. Prof. R. H. Tests of the rocket automobile may be followed by the building of a rocket airplane that will go higher than any plane can reach today. Will the Lindbergh of the future be the man who makes the first inter-planetary flight?

JURISPRUDENCE AND OTHER PRUDENCE

In all sobriety, now that some of the indignation about important recent trials has died down, I offer the opinion that we ought to do a little tinkering with our machinery of justice. I don't believe in wiping anything out or reforming anything in the common sense of the term. But I think we ought to begin to think and discuss, and that within the next fifty years we ought to make certain slight changes.

There is a fairly provocating article entitled "Twelve Men in a Box" in the current issue of The Forum. It opens up the question of the jury system, and whether some other system would be more desirable.

I think the jury system needs repairing here and there. It isn't the only feature of the judicial structure that needs attention, however.

Here is my suggestion for improving the jury system. First, reduce the jury from twelve to six persons. That might be done in a few states in a few years, after due deliberation and plenty of talk.

Then, along about the next decade, require intelligence tests for jurors. No person incapable of forming a rational judgment should be permittel to sit on a jury to decide the most important matters concerning the life or rights of another person.

Well, in another century I believe it might be possible to provide in some states for three professional jurors to sit with three amateurs on every jury case. The three professionals would be required to know something about the basic principles of law, and a good deal about logic and philosophy.

Some progress toward increasing the chances for justice would have been made by this time.

Along about this time, we should have an amendment to the constitution, making confessions to policemen inadmissable as evidence. Policemen are not proper persons to use as judicial adjuncts or assistants. Their third degree methods are notorious. Every newspaper man who knows anything knows that most confessions are beaten out of unwilling victims, and that many innocent persons confess to crime they know nothing about, under the strain of police brutality.

I believe that altogether too many criminals escape, even after arrest and trial. I believe in life sentences for habitual offenders. I believe in using murderers for medical experimentation during their life sentences. I do not believe in coddling criminals. But I know that persons who are not criminals sometimes get in the way of the confession extorters, to their

"Queen Of Diamonds" And Two Companions Not Likely To Start For Europe Today

WEATHER REPORTS ARE UNFAVORABLE

(International News Service)

CURTISS FIELD, N. Y., June 11.—After surveying weather conditions at dawn, Charles A. Levine, sponsor for Miss Mabel Boll's proposed trans-Atlantic flight in Levine's monoplane Columbia, announced that the flight would not start today. All preparations had been made for a hop-off between five and six o'clock this morning, but unfavorable weather reports caused the "queen of diamonds" and her pilots, Oliver Le Boutillier and Captain Arthur Argles, to change their plans.

The flight will not start until tomorrow at the earliest, Levine announced. The fliers may head directly for Europe instead of first flying to Old Orchard Beach, Me., as had been planned originally. The two pilots are in favor of a direct flight if the runway at Roosevelt Field is dry enough to permit the Columbia to take off with a full load of gasoline.

Those who desire to take occasion to celebrate this movement may communicate with U. S. Commissioner of Education John J. Tigert, at Washington, D. C. President Augustus O. and be liked by everybody. To say that a man is universally popular is to condemn him in the eyes of the most intelligent. Even wealth which may be accidental which you may inherit to win without having exercised any singular good judgement will be sure to make you unpopular with some who haven't wealth. And no matter how you spend it there will always be some who think you are crazy. Don't crave universal popularity. Even if you won to that position you would lose—because you wouldn't be standing for anything.

THERE IS MORE FUN—

In making good than in making excuses.
In hard work than in hard times—take your choice.
In forgiving insults than in carrying grudges.
In openheartedness than in close fistedness.
In living in a great little village than in a small big town.
In losing a hard fight than in winning an easy one.
In staying poor and saving your soul than in winning wealth and losing your self-respect.

If babies weren't going out of fashion, it would be only a matter of time until every home would have a built-in spanker.

To Prepare Plans For Hospital At Mercer Co. Home

Poor Board Accepts Proposal Of Oil City Firm For Hospital Plans

(Special To The News)

MERCER, June 11.—At a meeting of the Poor board held Friday afternoon Crosby and company, of Oil City, were awarded the contract for the plans for the hospital at the Mercer County home. The estimated cost of the building under the plans submitted by this firm is $125,000, $35,000 less than those previously prepared by Charles F. Owsley, the Youngstown architect, and the plans on which the mandamus preceedings were brought against the county commissioners to compel them to furnish the funds for the building of the hospitals.

Three others submitted plans, Charles F. Owsley, of Youngstown, O.; Albert Thayer, of New Castle, and the Russell Howard company, of Dubois. The estimates of the architects run from $120,000 to $135,000.

The plans are much the same as those originally prepared and approved by the State Welfare department and the court. There will be an administration building in the center, and the rest of this will be the general kitchen. The administration section will be two stories high, and the second floor will be devoted to sleeping quarters for the help. The kitchen will be but one story high, eliminating the hospital which had been originally planned on the second floor of this section.

There will be wings one story high on either side of the administration building. The idea carried out is to keep the patients all on the ground floor.

The location as selected is on the north side of the north driveway between the brick cottage and the water tower.

The action of the Poor board will result in a court action on the part of Charles F. Owsley, well known Youngstown, O., architect, to recover for professional services rendered in the preparation of the previous plans, which will amount to several thousand dollars.

Mr. Owsley has a contract made with the former board of county commissioners, signed on June 1, 1925, the board at that time consisting of Thomas D. Beatty, David J. Jarett and F. P. Hinner. The contract is for the erection of the laundry at the County Infirmary, the hospital at the County Infirmary and the Tuberculosis hospital authorized by the voters in 1923.

The contract was approved by the board at its executive meeting on June 18, 1925. Under this authorization Mr. Owsley contends he went ahead and prepared the plans on the suggestions and data furnished to him by the poor authorities. The first set of plans were the expensive and a second set was prepared by him, on which the estimated cost was $160,000.

These plans were laid before the State Welfare department, Mr. Owsley accompanying the poor authorities to Harrisburg. With slight changes these plans were approved by the department, and were given the approval court.

Mr. Owsley stated Friday evening, following the action of the Poor board, that he would take the matter before the court immediately.

At the time of the employing of Mr. Owsley it was supposed that the county commissioners had the employing of the architect, and the carrying out of the construction of the building, but the act of 1925 places the authority with the Poor board, the commissioners simply to furnish the funds, which was the question involved in the recent mandamus proceedings.

RICHMAN'S CLOTHES

Established 1879

Forty-nine years of good clothes making—forty-nine years of generous value giving and fair dealing with the public—forty-nine years of consistent growth. These things mean even more than the smart style, the rich appearance, or the low price of Richman's Clothes. For they bear evidence of the sound business policy and ideals upon which this business is founded—proof of our ambition to give the greatest clothes value your money can buy at all times.

With each passing year Richman resources become more powerful—command greater savings in the purchase of fine woolens and other materials, and effect greater economies in the scientific volume production of good clothes. As our business grows, we are able to add more value—and the added value, in turn, brings us still greater sales.

All under direct factory supervision—all operated without extravagance—all offering the same remarkable values at one price—$22.50.

THE world's largest direct-from-factory sales volume bears evidence that men find in Richman's Clothes the style smartness, sound quality and long wear they expect of clothes, regardless of the price they pay. If Richman's Clothes had nothing more than low price to offer, they could not so overwhelmingly dominate the direct-from-factory clothing business.

Today, we are using woolens far richer in quality than any man ever expected to see in clothes sold at our price—finer materials in the inner construction—giving more care and greater precision to the tailoring of each of the 232 separate operations we employ in making a suit—providing quality in a measure never before possible, at a price of $22.50, or any figure near that.

And $22.50 is not the price of a limited number of suits advertised to bring you to our stores—it is the only price you will be asked to pay for any suit, sport suit, topcoat, or tuxedo suit you choose from the thousands on display.

If you had the privilege of buying your clothes at wholesale, from any manufacturer you preferred, you could not get greater value than you do when you buy Richman's Clothes from our stores—for we are the manufacturers of every garment we show—we sell them direct to you at the price we would ask if we were selling to the retailers. You save the middleman's profit, plus the savings of our huge cash buying capacity and scientific volume production.

Dear Brother Lion:

If you have never been a delegate to a Republican-Democrat national convention it will be your pleasure on Tuesday to sit in such a gathering. Andrew Mellon Patterson and Herbert Hoover Shumaker are all stirred up over this affair so much that we anticipate some hot speeches.

Of course there will be many candidates presented by their respective supporters. Al Smith may even be mentioned as a dry Republican candidate.

Come out and enjoy this experience which will be most unusual. Bring a guest with you. Very truly yours.

THOMAS I. ELLIOTT,
Secretary.

Local Lady Tells How Ten Herbs Benefited Stomach and Liver.

"I know now that the statements I read in the paper regarding the merits of Ten Herbs were true, as your medicine seems to have cleansed my system of all the waste matter and impurities that were causing me so much trouble," was the statement of Mrs. Helene Anderson, 113 Quest street, New Castle, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington street, this city, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine to crowds of men and women.

"A severe cold left me in a run-down condition, and there were pains through my shoulders and chest," Mrs. Anderson continued. "My stomach was in a very bad condition. I would bloat with gas and could not get any relief. My liver was disordered; and at times my complexion was sallow, and there would be 'liver spots' on my face. I was subject to dizzy spells and severe headaches. Sometimes my whole body ached. My nerves began to trouble me and I felt depressed most of the time. I was continually taking laxatives to overcome constipation, and had to keep increasing the dose to get results.

"I read in the paper of so many persons being benefited by Ten Herbs, that I started using your medicine. In a few days I felt better, and now all my health troubles are ended. The pains through my shoulders and chest are gone. My stomach is in better condition, and I am no longer troubled with gas or bloating. My complexion has been greatly improved, and the 'liver spots' have disappeared. Dizziness and headaches have been relieved. My bowels are so regular it is no longer necessary for me to use laxatives. I am pleased to recommend Ten Herbs to the public."

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington street, this city, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. He will be glad to tell you how to take it to get the best results.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Among the other Sunday pastimes enjoyed by the residents of East Long avenue Sunday was the watching of accidents near the corner of Long and Cunningham. There was three of them altogether, which would seem to be enough to relieve the monotony of any day.

There are two bad corners in this district, but neither of them so bad that accidents cannot be averted, if reasonable care is used.

The corner of Arlington and Cunningham is a curve, a sharp one with a rough piece of street to negotiate, and for this reason should not be taken at high speed. Long and Cunningham is an intersection and despite the usual arguments as to who had the right of way, it's a pretty good idea to give the fellow coming down Long avenue hill a bit of a break. It's a steep hill and brakes don't always work just right.

One of the accidents caused a rather bitter discussion as to who had the right of way. All of which recalls that old verse which you have probably seen many times. It is an epitaph on the grave stone of a motorist: "Here lies the body of Johnson Jay. Who died defending his right of way. He was right, dead right, as he sped along. But he's just as dead as though he were wrong."

Driving the highways Sunday was no job for a nervous driver, and passing cars was a lesson in differential calculus. The driver who wanted to be out ahead of the pack had to be able to pull in and out in a hurry, and not all of them did.

East Washington street, from city hall back to Pearson street, was a line of cars most of the afternoon and evening, and down on the public square it looked like a parade of all the cars in Pennsylvania. If some mathematically minded lad would sit down there some Sunday afternoon and count the cars the figures would be interesting, not that they would prove anything, but then the figures would look good.

Some folks can take their golf or leave it alone. Others take it in habit forming quantities. Saturday afternoon was rainy. Very much so. All afternoon it poured down in a machine like manner, only letting up occasionally to get another start. And yet through all that rain, pouring as it was, there were a number of foursomes on the New Castle Field club course.

The youngsters are being taken care of this season at the field club. A portion of the front lawn has been set aside for a children's corner and playground equipment installed. The foundation has been started for a caddy house and in a few weeks the caddies will have a structure of their own, which will eliminate waiting in the weather.

Dr. Nicholas M. Butler Says Republican Party Is Facing Real Crisis

By DR. NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER
President of Columbia University and One of the Country's Foremost Republican Leaders:
Written Exclusively For International News Service.
Copyright, 1928, By International News Service

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—In my judgment the Republican party faces at this convention one of the most critical periods in its history. In many ways this crisis is more important and more far-reaching than that of 1912 which was at the bottom a contest very largely over personalities.

The party is now without any dominating personality and whether recognized or not, it is questions of principle and of public policy which are at issue in a most acute form. The fact of the matter is that owing to developments of the last 20 odd years the two great political parties, Republican and Democratic have lost the significance which formally attached to them.

The tariff is no longer a living issue. It has passed into accepted American public policy, and the only interest which that subject now arouses is as to some specific rate of duty or group of rates. There are nearly as many upholders of protection in the Democratic party as in the Republican party.

Similarly, the fundamental and far-reaching financial issue has passed out of the realm of debate. The gold standard is accepted by everyone, and the federal reserve system has brought stability, permanence and elasticity into our national banking and credit systems. No one proposes to change it.

Again in respect to foreign relations there are no differences of opinion that can be called partisan. Public opinion is overwhelmingly for those declarations and arrangements that will establish and maintain international peace. What difference of opinion existed as to our joining the League of Nations has largely disappeared since it is becoming evident that the league can do a splendid and constructive work of its own without our membership and that we can and will cooperate with it in those of its international activities that are non-political.

With these questions out of the way, every other important matter before the American people runs straight across present party lines. This is true of the problems growing out of the Eighteenth Amendment, of the matter of farm relief and constructive agricultural policy, and of confining the federal government at Washington to its own business and not permitting it to develop into a huge and all-absorbing bureaucracy. As to these matters differences of opinion are so marked that either party can make a definite, a sincere and a constructive declaration without alienating a substantial portion of its membership. This is why the active political leaders are so much concerned with avoiding all real issues and of confining themselves to those sonorous platitudes which give the least possible offense and make the least embarrassment for a candidate for office.

My interest in politics is in questions of principle. I look upon the Republican party as a most powerful instrument for good government under our constitution. My concern is to have its record straight and its declarations sound on matters of principle, and to let the question of candidates take care of itself.

It is obvious, however, that in 1928 no candidate can possibly be elected who alienates the vote of the agricultural west or that widespread liberal vote which is found throughout the country and which is controlling a dozen states normally Republican.

FREIGHT RATE CONFERENCE IS SET THURSDAY

Pittsburgh District Industries Seek Rates Favorable With Mid-West Reduction

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 11.—Carrying their fight for equitable freight rates on Pacific coast shipments into a conference with eastern railroad executives next Thursday in New York, Pittsburgh district steel manufacturers and industrial shippers will ask the eastern roads for lower rates to Atlantic ports so as to meet the Illinois Central railroad's recent rate-cutting to New Orleans.

The Pittsburgh committee, which will go to the conference Thursday, will be backed in their fight for lower rates by traffic men of southern Ohio, Cleveland, Buffalo, Youngstown and Wheeling.

Thursday's conference was arranged at the request of eastern shippers and was called by the traffic executives' association.

Expect To Remove Injured Members Of Crew In Plane

Planes Hop Off In Attempt To Reach Survivors Of Nobile's Crew

(International News Service)

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 11.—The two injured members of the Nobile expedition will be removed in a seaplane from the ice floe where they had been cared for since the Italia was wrecked on May 25, according to plans under way today.

The party of 18 men divided into two parties and have been making painfully slow progress across the ice field towards land, with the two injured men borne upon improved sledges. A little field radio, repaired and nursed with infinite care, was the sole means of keeping them in communication with the outside world.

The latest word from the Nobile expedition gave the position of the main party as 27 miles north of Cape Leigh Smith and between 15 and 18 miles west of Little Foyn island. This would be in longitude 28.4 and latitude 80.30.

Capt. Riiser-Larsen, Norwegian explorer and aviator, who hopped off yesterday morning in a seaplane sought an open stretch of water as close as possible to the spot where the Nobile party was reported.

Later Lieut. Lutzo Holm hopped off in a seaplane, according to word received here. Whether Lieut. Holm was able to get close enough to sight the Nobile party and to drop provisions and a note is not yet known.

It is believed here that the gale and fog on May 25 drove the Italia so low that the Gondola was caught by an ice crag and ripped from the envelope.

Pittsburgh Tax Plan Explained

Attorney McNair Explains Idea Behind Taxation Basis In Pittsburgh At Rotary

The Pittsburgh plan of taxation, by which the rate on buildings is one-half of the rate on land was explained by William N. McNair, Pittsburgh attorney and Democratic candidate for the senate at the regular weekly meeting of the New Castle Rotary club, which took place at noon today in the crystal ballroom of The Castleton.

Mr. McNair first explained the history of the graded tax law, telling how Pittsburgh periodically cut the tax on buildings and raised the tax on land until 1925, when the tax on land was twice the tax on buildings. This, he went on to state, is a great stimulus for building and materially increases the buying power of the community in which it is operating.

Acting for the education committee, Dr. C. C. Green inducted D. Roy Bradford, general manager of the New Castle Aircraft., Inc., and James W. Cole, secretary of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, as members of the organization.

Through the efforts of Robert Whitla the five honor students from the Senior High school were special guests at the meeting, being Gertrude Potter, Jennie Wygonski, Mary E. Gibson, Mary McGeehan and Mike Kulick. J. Clyde Gilfillan made the address of welcome to the honor students in behalf of the club. In their later life he declared they would find every day a test day and he congratulated them on making a success of their high school careers. He also congratulated Dr. Green and Frank Orth as well as the citizens of New Castle for having such a fine school system.

Louis B. Round also announced that on June 20 Kole's Komedy Koons would perform at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, all proceeds to go to the Lawrence County Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Intensive Search Is Begun For Two Missing Students

Son Of Chicago Millionaire And Harvard Student Missing, Renew Hunt For Miss Smith

(International News Service)

BOSTON, June 11.—Search for two college students was instituted in eastern Massachusetts today.

Boston and Massachusetts state police were looking for William Wayne Neff, son of a Chicago millionaire and assistant manager of the Harvard varsity crew, who was last seen aboard a trolley car between Stonington and New London, Conn.

At the same time a new search began for Miss Frances St. John Smith, who mysteriously disappeared from Smith College. A law firm engaged in the search emphasized the fact that Miss Smith had remarkable musical ability, that she may be teaching music or playing in an orchestra.

Miss Earhart Still Waits On Weather

(International News Service)

TREPASSEY, N. F., June 11.—After more than a week's delay, Miss Amelia Earhart, Wilmer Stultz and Lou Gordon were today still awaiting favorable weather for the start of their projected flight to England in the tri-motored Fokker monoplane Friendship.

Conditions were slightly improved today, with visibility better over the Atlantic and the winds more favorable. However, fog still hovered over the harbor here. The fliers may start today, they announced, if the fog lifts.

Borah Earnestly Denies Report Of Hoover Seconding

Idaho Delegation To Vote For Borah On First Ballot, Not Set On Second Choice

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, today denied reports that he would make the speech seconding the nomination of Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover at the Republican convention.

"Nothing like that has been decided," said Borah. "The Idaho delegation is going to vote as a unit for me on the first ballot. We haven't determined who our second choice will be.

"One thing is certain—I'm not going to vote for any candidate until the platform is odopted. I'm more interested in platform than candidacies at this stage."

Prohibition is drying its best to succeed.

WHAT THE PRESIDENT WILL SEE

These folk, gathered on the steps of the general store at Brule, Wis., will be neighbors of President and Mrs. Coolidge when they arrive at Cedar Island Lodge, near there, this summer. Below, some fish taken from the Brule river, in the heart of Wisconsin's trout region, where the president will have an opportunity to indulge his love for the sport.

BOOMED FOR VICE PRESIDENCY

An additional impetus has been given the vice presidential boom of Hanford MacNider, former assistant secretary of war, at the reunion at St. Louis of the veterans of the Second Division, commemorating the tenth anniversary of Chateau Thierry. For the past six months a committee from the division has been backing its former buddy for the vice presidential place on the Republican ticket.

News Of State Interest At National Capital

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11—Pennsylvania is represented at the Republican national convention at Kansas City by a noteworthy assemblage of men and women prominent in the political, business and professional life of the state. With Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon and Senator David A. Reed at the head of the delegation the Keystone state will figure prominently in the final selection of candidates and the platform on which the Republican ticket will go before the country next November. Special interest is being taken by the Pennsylvania delegation in the adoption of a strong protective tariff plank, as the increasing importation of foreign-made goods has proven detrimental to many industries in the state during the past few years.

President Coolidge is of the opinion that the record of legislation enacted by the recent session of congress was satisfactory despite the failure of several important matters to reach a final vote. The president regards as among the outstanding pieces of legislation the alien property bill, the Mississippi river flood control measure and the tax reduction bill. The president is said to feel that the naval construction bill and the Boulder dam legislation will receive attention early when congress reconvenes next December.

Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon has extended an invitation to sculptors to submit designs in the form of plaster models for a medal in commemoration of the achievements of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh. The medal is to be made by one of the United States mints pursuant to a resolution passed by congress. One thousand dollars is to be paid to the sculptor whose design is accepted.

The new air mail postage rate schedule provided through a bill introduced in congress by Representative Clyde Kelly of Edgewood, will become effective August 1, according to Postmaster New. The new postage charge for air mail will be five cents for the first ounce and 10 cents for each additional ounce. The present rate is 10 cents for each one-half ounce. Postmaster General New predicts the new rates will result in an increase of from 100 to 300 per cent in air mail service.

Total appropriations made by the first sesion of the 70th congress were $4,628,045,035.09, according to Representative Weed of Indiana, who is the acting chairman of the house committee on appropriations. The amount includes the regular annual appropriations for the next fiscal year, deficiency appropriations for the present and prior years and the permanent running expenditures of the government.

From one-tenth to one-fifth of all crops are destroyed from insect damage in the United States each year, according to officials of th United States department of agriculture. Plant diseases are responsible for a like loss. The losses are estimated at $2,000,000,000 nullifying the labor of 1,000,000,000 men, according to government specialists.

The American sweet tooth is growing and unless you consumed 12 pounds of confections during the past year you did not get your per capita share, according to statisticians in the department of commerce. The 1926 candy consumption in the United States reached 1,393,000,000 pounds valued at $342,000,000. In 1925 the consumption was 60 million pounds less. The survey by the commerce department shows that Nevada residents have the greatest fondness for candy consuming more than 13 pounds per capita. Pennsylvanians are recorded as consuming an average of 10 pounds per person.

The per capita expenditure for postage of each person in the United States is $5.09 annually, according to Third Assistant Postmaster General Robert S. Regar, a Pennsylvanian whose home is in Lancaster county. Mr. Regar states that the postal service is a billion dollar business and that during the last fiscal year the total receipts from postage were $610,000,000, which represented the handling of over 25,000,000,000 pieces of mail. At the close of the fiscal year postal savings depositors had on credit $151,389,756.59, an increase of over 13 million dollars over the previous year.

Investigation Shows Many Fawns Perish

United States Government Finds Fawns Die From Lack Of Food

Vernon Bailey, chief field naturalist of the Bureau of Biological Survey of the United States government, during the first of May made a trip through the districts of Pennsylvania abounding in deer to make an investigation of food conditions in the forests.

During his five days' trip he found many dead deer, almost every case being a last year's fawn. Of the live deers seen they were all does and only one a last year's fawn. The reason given for the fawns dying off is that the adult deer have eaten the best food from the trees and shrubs to such a height that the fawns cannot reach it.

Mr. Bailey, in a very carefully prepared report, states that the overabundance of deer in the state may cause the serious depletion of the food supply, not only for themselves, but also of all our small game.

To control the situation this government expert recommends the open season on does, which will bring the right proportion for the bucks and the does and will also tend to scatter the herds where food may be more easily obtained. Other measures recommended are the scattering the deer by chasing with small barking dogs, introducing of new plants for food and the introduction of other game animals that eat other kinds of food, such as the elk, mule deer and mountain sheep.

During the investigation it was found that not only were the deer rapidly destroying important food plants, but also certain species of plants which they seem to relish are being exterminated from the districts. Also it was found that crops and fruit trees of farmers near the habitat of the deer were being destroyed.

Evidence was also seen on the trip that the food supply of many smaller game animals and birds were being destroyed by the deer. Among the game thus affected by an over-abundance of deer were grouse, pheasants, turkeys, quail, rabbits and other small game.

It was also found that it was useless to try to reforest in the state as long as there was such a super-abundance of deer. It was estimated that 95 per cent of the seedlings obtained from the nurseries and planted were destroyed by the deer and that the remainder would soon perish. State forest rangers and nurserymen told the government expert that no further efforts would be made to plant small trees in unenclosed areas.

There was no evidence that any of the deer died from eating laurel and thus being poisoned. Laurel, rhododendron and other plants formed one of the chief items of food apparently without any evil effect. The killing off of chestnut trees by blight deprived the deer of an important article of food in the nuts of the trees for fall feeding.

The Diary of a New Yorker

by CLARK KINNAIRD

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, June 11—I've discovered the deepest and possibly the strangest golf course in the world. It's 100 feet below Times Square, the busiest place in the world.

When the New York Times moved its presses to the new building in 43rd street, there was left a huge cavern carved in solid rock below the basement of the Times Tower and underneath two subway train tubes. There was no commercial use to which the remote space could be put, so the Times converted it into a playground for its employes. Besides the several hole-practice golf course, there is a shooting gallery and other sports equipment.

The most exclusive golf course around New York, and possibly in the world, is that of the Crick club, which has J. P. Morgan, the Vanderbilts and other money moguls as members, most of whom go to and from the course in private yachts. No bills ever are handed to club members, regardless of how many times they play or what they order at the clubhouse. At the end of the year each member pays an equal share of the gross expense. This runs into the thousands.

The city editor of a New York newspaper goes to work in an automobile that cost $9,000. It is equipped with radio set, a folding mirror and vanity box for a possible woman passenger, smelling salts, small refrigerator, ornate cigar and cigarette box with lighter, electric fans, reading, rest and other embellishments.

And there is a reporter who lives in a six-room apartment in an exclusive hotel, with an oriental valet and chauffeured automobile.

The newspaper business isn't what it used to be. Not so long ago it caused a sensation among newspapermen in Lexington, Ky., when the managing editor of one of the papers bought a second-hand auto.

Speaking of reporters, a man walked into a police station in Brooklyn and happened to enter the reporters' room.

"A man has been shot in my car," he told the assembled newsgatherers, "and I want a bucket of water to wash off the bloodstains."

The hardboiled reporters smiled to each other, and not a little bored, gave him the bucket of water just to "get rid of the drunk."

The visitor took the water and began cleaning his car in front of the station. A policeman noticed him, investigated, and arrested him, for the car WAS stained with blood. A friend of the visitor was found lying beside a road a mile away, his body riddled with bullets.

No Hollywood manse is complete without a private movie theatre. It's getting to be that way in New York. Lots of rich folk view the latest photoplays without going around the corner and rubbing shoulders with the hoi polloi. Clarence Mackay, the telegraph and cable magnate, insists on seeing productions of his favorite stars immediately after release and pays as high as $500 for an evening's showing, it is stated.

Production of home movies is getting to be a major sport, with many notables "reeling their own." Commercial movie concerns would be glad to pay big prices for some of the films taken by sons of famous houses, showing private lives of their families and friends.

"Black sheep" used to get even with their folks by selling family letters and papers to the Sunday supplement sections. Now there is the opportunity for them to turn over the family movie album.

Since the cowboys in Red Dog, Ariz., Bozeman, Mont., and such places stopped putting their surplus coin into preciously ornamented saddles and equine trappings and bought autos, the biggest market for saddles studded with silver, etc., has been in New York. A shop in West Forty-eighth street is showing one priced at $2,100. Newly rich riders in Central Park buy them.

Six Dead And Twenty-Eight injured Toll In Week-End Auto Accidents In State

(International News Service)

Eastern Pennsylvania contributed heavily to the toll of deaths and injuries in automobile accidents in Pennsylvania over the week-end, the International News Service survey revealed today.

In all, six persons were killed and 28 injured.

Three persons were killed in Allentown, one in Philadelphia, one in Chester and one in Philadelphia's outlying district.

Harrisburg and vicinity headed the list of injured persons with 13 cases reported. Seven persons were injured in Allentown; five in Philadelphia and vicinity, and one in Chester.

There was a notable lack of accidents in western Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh reporting only two injured. One of these was an 18-months-old baby.

Former New Castle Boy Has Big Role

In the issue of the Long Island Daily Press, Jamaica, N. Y., of Wednesday, June 6, there is a large item telling of the efforts of Queens Village, Long Island, Boy Scouts to secure an all-the-year-round camp site. The drive for funds for this purpose will be staged June 19-28. In connection with the item there is a large picture showing a large elephant, Colonel Burma, of the Sparks circus, bearing a large sign telling about the drive and with a Boy Scout seated on his head.

The interesting part about the picture and item is the fact that the Boy Scout on the head of Colonel Burma is no other than Scout Bobby Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reynolds, former well-known residents of this city, who for many years have been residents of the Long Island district.

"Kiddies' Day" At Park On Tuesday

St. Vitus Parish Members To Hold Outing Wednesday

SEVERAL OTHER BIG PICNICS ARRANGED

Thousands of youngsters of New Castle and Lawrence county will gather Tuesday for their annual "three and five cent" outing at Cascade park which is not only an annual event here but is celebrated in almost every recreation center in the country.

There will be various proclivities for the children and while all of the operators of various concessions, such as the "rides" and amusements, have slashed rates, there will be an athletic program in charge of Jack Hulme and Ed Fritz.

Visit Glenn Pool.

Should warm weather prevail hundreds of the children will have their first opportunity to swim in the Billy Glenn pool and providing they bring their own suits Glenn has promised to lower the admission price to ten cents.

Charles Guillium, better known to the athletic-inclined as "Horse" Guillium, who has been recognized as one of the outstanding swimmers of western Pennsylvania will be on the "lookout" platform as he has again enrolled as the lifeguard.

After the kiddies depart from the park, Manager Carl Shaner will arrange for the big outing Wednesday when St. Anthony's day will be celebrated by St. Vitus parish. However, the public is invited to join with the parishioners in the outing.

Open to Public.

All of the amusements will operate day and night. There will be afternoon dancing and daylight fireworks, something new in this section. There will also be a program of athletics under the supervision of St. Vitus parish members.

Other Picnics.

Portersville Sunday school members will picnic at the park Thursday, and Friday the Order of Eastern Star 333 will also journey to the park, to be followed on Tuesday of next week by chapter 105 of the Eastern Star.

The four county Knights of Pythias outing will start early on the morning of Wednesday, June 27, and last until midnight. As usual it will be a regular K. of P. picnic, which means that there will be plenty of amusement for young and elderly.

Broadcast Through Park.

A feature of the K. of P. picnic will be a demonstration by the Western Electric company of their new radio public speaking outfit whereby dance music from orchestra and victrola as well as public speaking can be broadcast throughout the park.

Rescue mission day will be held June 28 and E. J. Berquist, superintendent of the local mission, is preparing for thousands of children's entertainment. There will be something doing every second and during the afternoon the Fraternal Patriotic Americans, local branch, will picnic.

On Friday, June 29, the New Castle high school alumni will hold their annual dinner and dance.

Red Light Violators Are Being Called In

The police department has started the systematic apprehension of motorists who have been failing to observe the red light of the traffic signals at various busy street intersections of the city. On Saturday Officer Golis turned in seven such violations. A fine of $2 was assessed in each instance. The fine may be increased.

MELLON CONTROLS NOMINATION, SAY G. O. P. CHIEFTAINS

way it probably won't be Hoover. It may, in that event, be Coolidge, Hughes or any of the struggling and embittered allies against the cabinet candidate.

The 79 votes from Pennsylvania are necessary to Hoover. Without them he might be nominated, but it is the judgment of all the leaders in Kansas City that he won't be if Mellon withholds the keystone delegation. Given Pennsylvania it will be all over. The Hoover managers can count 450 votes without any from Pennsylvania or New York. They are assured of 20-odd from New York, and Pennsylvania's 79 would push him across the 545 nominating mark with votes to spare.

The allies are struggling desperately against the seeming inevitability of Hoover's nomination. Like the allies of 10 years ago, their backs are against the wall. They are hammering steadily on the defeatist line of attack and are engendering in the process hard feelings that may bloom in November to somebody's discomfiture.

Leadership Shared

The direction of the drive against Hoover was turned over today to Senator Charles Curtis and Senator James E. Watson, both candidates in their own right. These two veterans of many national conventions and many years of political maneuverting share the leadership of the big offensive against Hoover. And if he is ultimately stopped it will be largely their handiwork.

"This convention," said Curtis in a bristling anti-Hoover statement, "cannot afford to nominate as the head of the ticket anyone for whom the party will be on the defensive from the day he is named until the close of the polls in November.

"The Congress that has just adjourned made a splendid record. On this record and the record of administration for the last four years our party can win the coming election if the candidate is a man for whom no apologies will be required."

Claim Hoover Weak

That is the line of attack which the anti-Hoover directors are pursuing so vigorously—that Hoover will be a weak candidate against Al Smith in November. Every incoming delegate is button-holed and impressed with the difficulty of electing the Secretary of Commerce against Al Smith. The new arrivals are being told that he will lose the Middle West and that against Smith in the populous and wet East he will get nowhere. And on top of that they add that he "isn't a Republican, anyway," or wasn't eight years ago. It is a defeatest campaign with a vengeance.

Even Senator Jim Reed of Missouri, a Democrat, is helping the anti-Hoover cause along.

"I hope they do nominate Hoover," he said to a circle in the lobby of the Hotel Muehlebach. "Certainly nothing could be sweeter from our point of view, for he will be the easiest man to beat they can put up."

How much effect this line of attack is having is, of course, conjectural. The Hoover delegates regard it with dismay and downright anger. Ex-Congressman James W. Good of Iowa, the generalissimo of the Hoover camp, says it is "hitting below the belt" and that "it is unfair" and "unworthy of Republicans".

To which the anti-Hoover allies respond that it is "just being bluntly and brutally candid."

Perhaps it doesn't matter so much, anyway, whether the delegates are impressed or not. The principal job of the coalition leaders is to "sell" the idea to A. W. Mellon and a few of the others who have this convention in their keeping. A frontal assault on the diminutive treasury head will be launched this afternoon upon his arrival here.

Allies Desperate

In their desperation to "Stop Hoover," the allies are keeping the Draft-Coolidge movement well up in the foreground. And that is another thing for which they are anxiously awaiting the arrical of Mr. Mellon. They expect him to bring the word, definitely and finally, as to whether Mr. Coolidge would choose to run if the convention goes ahead and nominates him, anyway. They believe that he knows. They also believe he knows whether Charles E. Hughes meant it when he said that he was not a candidate and would not accept a nomination if it were made. They know that Hughes was the original first choice of both Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Mellon. And to the allies it is "anybody but Hoover—anything to Beat Hoover."

The confidence of the allies that "it won't be Hoover"—in the face of the mathematics of the situation—is literally amazing. Every report from the east has indicated that Mr. Mellon would throw his Pennsylvanians to Hoover on the second ballot. But the allied leadership won't believe these reports. Senator Watson said Saturday and reiterated today that he had "all the assurance a man can have" that Hoover will not get the Pennsylvania vote.

There the situation rested today, 24 hours in advance of the convention opening. The sorely pressed anti-Hoover leaders have only four more days to accomplish their purpose. In that time it will be decided whether it will or will not be Hoover. The outlook on Monday morning is that it will be Hoover.

Lynn was at Meadville Sunday afternoon and participated in the annual memorial services of the fire department of that city, during which a fine monument was dedicated in honor of the late Chief Dowdell of that place. DEPENDABLE DRY CLEANSING

Some Sidelights On Convention

By RUTH RIDENOUR
International News Service Special Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 11 — A prominent and wealthy citizen of Kansas City, Mo.—the buckle of the corn belt—arrived home a couple of days ago and noticed changes in his home town.

A big old mansion a few blocks from the hotel district had had its face washed. Injections of telegraph wires, lining of star spangled satin, a covey of telegraph machines and some 12,000 chairs (if you can call the stiff things that), had made the place look different.

The prominent and wealthy citizen investigated further and learned that there was to be a Republican National Convention.

"I'd like to see that," he said.

"Call Conrad Mann. He's chairman of seating guests or whatever you call it. He distributes seats according to the amount you contribute to convention expenses," a bystander told him.

P. and W. citizen promptly called Conrad Mann. He had played golf with him often.

Greetings were exchanged. Health question settled. Dates made.

"Con, by the way. I left a check here on my desk before I went away made out to the Kansas City Convention committee. My secretary didn't know where to send it. Are you taking care of those contributions?"

"If you think you can buy a seat to this convention for $100 you're just crazy," replied Mr. Conrad Mann, and forthwith hung up the receiver.

That day Teddy, the veteran check room lad of the grill of the Hotel Meuhlbach, had been approached by a "very prominent local doctor" and offered $150 each for three seats.

"Four hundred and fifty dollars!" Teddy shook his head sadly while accepting my dime, as he recounted the incident. "I could use that."

There is a seal twice as high as I am, suspended in the air before the bedazzled face of old convention hall. It is made of a number of crystal electric light prisms of many colors. At night powerful searchlights play upon it. It doesn't look as cheap as it sounds. In fact, it will be an inspiration to Broadway and Roxy or Joe Schenk should bid on it after this is over. And there are several acres of chairs inside the place. Yet that is neither satisfying nor sufficient.

Mrs. C. H. Baley who is as busy as she is bright, is all upset because she wants the elephants in Swope Park Zoo brought into tomorrow night's parade. (Flambeau procession, when all delegates get collegiate). Certain delegates from the South talked all week in a crowded hot room—and how those boys did talk—and went home or are still standing around. Not enough decorations and not enough seats. Yet there are more of both than this reporter ever noticed anywhere before.

I tactlessly asked a man who is going to sit in the gold coast (rows behind the platform) how much a seat there cost him. Very Coolidgy he declined to answer. "I am a friend of —such and such a candidate," he said, "and he gave me my seat."

"How much did you give him?" I asked. The sum was published in the report of the Senate Investigating committee but I'd forgotten it and it was too much trouble to look up.

When I presented the question a little differently his bristles softened and he said that he was in the back row of the gold coast and had not contributed more than $25,000.

"You can figure for yourself what the fellows up closer paid for their seats," he added.

Marathon Dancer Leaps Into River, Believed Crazed

Strain Of 167 Hours Of Dancing Causes Contestant To Become Temporarily Insane

(International News Service)

NEW KENSINGTON June 11.—Said to have been crazed by the strain of 167 hours of continuous dancing in the New Kensington dance marathon, Frank Chille of Sharpsburg is under a physician's care today after he leaped from the steamer Julia Belle Swain last night near Aliquippa and swam ashore.

The boat was returning from Chester, W. Va., where the dancers had been taken in order to avoid conflict with the Sunday blue laws.

Efforts were made to quiet Chille by his parents who were on board the boat. Their ministrations failed however and Chille dived into the Ohio and swam ashore. His parents were put ashore and they took him to his home in Sharpsburg.

Five couples remained in the contest today. Among them were Andrew Grassey and Anna Martin of Homestead.

Hon. Otey Walker Goes To Convention As Writer-Delegate

By MARSHAL OTEY WALKER

Special Central Press Correspondent For New Castle News and Delegate to Republican Convention.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 11.—Well, here I am, special delegate from the Old Home Town, to help select the Republican candidate for president.

The editor of The News has kindly asked me to write the inside stuff of what goes on in the convention since I, in my important position, will be in on all the private goings on.

I arrived here today and hurried through the depot, not making myself known, as I hate demonstrations and do not want to be bothered by candidates asking my vote until my mind is made up.

This place is full of people. It looks as though the rest of the United States is empty and everybody is here. The streets are so packed that if one took a deep breath there would be a traffic jam.

I made the rounds of all hotels but they were full. The managers were sorry but they didn't know I was coming. Being a liberal minded delegate, I came here without any reservations of any kind.

However, I used my influence and my town marshal badge and finally landed the last pool table on Twelfth street. It seems I will have to sleep on it with two gentlemen whom I strongly suspect are foreigners as they are constantly eating onions.

Well, sir, I have already drawn up the platform which I will submit to the committee. If the Republicans adopt my platform they ought to sweep the country. Here it is:

1—Farm relief: Quicker service on free seeds from congressmen.

2—Tariff: Abolish the duty on suspenders and double the tax on Scotch jokes.

3—Prohibition: Law violators should be ashamed or more careful.

4—Aircraft: A law forcing every trans-Atlantic flyer to carry a bar of soap and a towel.

5—Highways: Rerouting of the Haystack township road which now passes through Hootstown so it will pass through my town.

6—Foreign: (1) Prevent Chinese laundrymen from joining their civil war as we need them and (2) disarm everybody in Chicago except the police.

There! That'll knock their eyes out. P. S.—I have a straight tip that Harry F. Sinclair hasn't a chance for the nomination.

Plea Is Entered In Forgery Case

John Olmari Decides Not To Stand Trial When Court Opens This Morning

John Olmari, charged with forgery in one information and with conspiracy in a second, entered a plea of guilty at court this morning on the first charge. District Attorney J. Elder Bryan asked that the second charge be nolle prossed, as the cases both grew out of the same transaction.

It is claimed that Olmari forged a check purporting to be drawn by Frank Romin, and made payable to Olmari. The check was drawn on the First National Bank of Braddock and was presented to the First National Bank here for payment. The check was for $78.

Pleas were also entered by Mike Bituneck, charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and Ann Kostel, for possessing liquor.

WINS HOOSIER DEM NOMINATION

New Bedford Troop Wins Camporee Meet

In the face of the most trying weather conditions, the New Bedford troop 1, winners of the last year's county and state meets, again won the Camporee meet of the Lawrence County Council, Boy Scouts of America, which took place Friday and Saturday at Camp John Phillips, it is announced today at the Boy Scout headquarters.

The weather was most unfavorable for such a meet, and it was only because of the splendid character of the boys, their grit and determination that the meet was held. Another important feature which went for the making of success was the new Charles McConnell Memorial cabin which has just been completed and donated to the camp by the New Castle Rotary Club. Although there were many obstacles the final scores were high and the judges had an interesting as well as difficult time in reaching a decision.

The other winners in the meet are as follows:

Second—Ewing Park troop 1.
Third—Highland troop 18.
Fourth—Tie, American Legion troop and Ellwood troop 10.
Fifth—Kiwanis troop.
Sixth—Not known.
Seventh—Kiwanis troop of New Castle.

Other patrols were given high averages, but because of various reasons, it was necessary to diminish their totals.

The judges of the meet were as follows: William H. Watson, scout executive of Sharon; Captain Payne, who is connected with the American Red Cross, and Charles Wood of McKeesport. The scouts co-operated well with the judges and all expressed appreciation, although the rain made it difficult for them to do their work.

The Western Pennsylvania State Camporee will take place next Friday and Saturday, June 15 and 16, at Camp Phillips. Anyone interested in scouting is welcome to attend. Scouts are urged to see that parents and friends are present.

Because they placed first in the meet, New Bedford troop 1 will retain the Dr. Rosenthal cup for another year. They will also get the Kirk-Hutton prize, a sled. Ewing Park troop 1 will also receive a prize from the Kirk-Hutton company.

The name of the troop which won sixth place in the meet as yet has not been turned in to the Boy Scout headquarters. J. Lee Calahan, scout executive, requests that the leader of the representing patrol get in touch with the office immediately.

Claims Coolidge Seeks Nomination, But Not In Open

Former National Republican Committeeman Says Coolidge Wants Nomination

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—"President Coolidge wants the nomination, but will not make an open move to obtain it," today declared William R. Willcox, former Republican national committeeman and manager of Hughes' campaign in 1916.

Willcox, who arrived with the New York contingent, is convinced Coolidge wants the nomination "crammed down his throat". What he will do with it once it is his is another matter, and Willcox said he was not prepared to express an opinion on that.

He said the New York delegation probably would be about equally divided between Coolidge and Hoover on the first ballot.

"Secretary Mellon undoubtedly holds the key to the situation," Willcox said. "I am not convinced that he intends to deliver the Pennsylvania delegation to Hoover."

Court To Convene At Mercer June 18

Seventy-Eight Transcripts Are Placed On File For Session; Mercer County News

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., June 11.—There have been 78 transcripts placed on the in the office of the clerk of courts for the June term of quarter sessions court, which convenes on Monday, June 18. Of the number there are 24 in which pleas of guilty have been entered, five cases of non-support and three cases for forfeiture of seized automobiles, leaving 46 cases for the grand jury. There are, however, a number of transcripts which have not been returned by the squires and aldermen of the county.

During the present term there has been an increase in the cases of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Of the violation of the automobile code there have been 10 cases to date. A number of the arrests have been made by the state troopers stationed in Sharon. There have been 22 transcripts for violations of the liquor laws.

The list also contains two homicide cases, the result of the recent killings in Farrell, the charges being against the same person. There is one case of bigamy and one of concealing the birth of an illegitimate child. The other cases are the usual run of minor offenses.

James Brown, who was fined $200 and committed to jail for two months on a liquor charge, having paid his fine and costs and served part time, has been placed on parole for a period of a year.

The deal for the C. Dale Miller farm of 30 acres in Lackawannock township, which was recently articled for by Paul F. Book and wife of Butler county, was completed Friday, when the deed was delivered.

The W. N. Hovis drilling outfit has been moved to the John Brown farm, near the Big Bend, where a gas well drilled several years ago will be cleaned out.

Mercer county orchardists report a poor outlook for apples this season, especially of the popular varieties such as the Baldwin. The condition is not attributed to freezing, but to a lack of blossoms. It is stated, however, that there will be a fair crop of russets, greenings and Ben Davis.

The will of the late J. N. Elliott of Grove City has been filed for probate. Several benevolent bequests are made in the will. He leaves to the Oakwood cemetery of Sharon the sum of $300, which is to be used for the upkeep of his burial plot. It is provided that about May 1 of each year the markers on the plot shall be washed with "Gold Dust", the vase in the care of George Murchie of Sharon nicely filled each year and placed on the lot not later than May 25, that the lot be kept nicely graded and mowed, and that each holiday cut flowers be placed on the lot.

To the First Methodist Episcopal church of Sharon he leaves $500 in memory of his wife, Jennie B. Elliot, and their two daughters, Sarah F. and Carrie B. Elliott.

The Wolfcreek Cemetery Association of Butler county is left $300 to be used in the upkeep of the cemetery.

The homestead in Grove City and all of the furniture of nature, together with $14,000, is left absolutely to his widow, Beatrice S. Elliott.

To his nephew, Charles W. Elliott, he bequeathed his gold watch and $100, and similar amount to his sister, which is to be placed in the trust of their father, W. M. Elliott, until they become of age.

His executors, Mrs. Beatrice S. Elliott and Ralph Morrison, are authorized to sell any other real estate he may have at the time of his death, and after all debts are paid and the provisions of the will discharged, the remainder of his estate is to be distributed among his nephsw, W. M. Elliott, and his five nieces, daughters of his brother, W. H. Elliott, of New Wilmington.

The Center Of The Universe

By S. S. MYERS

At last according to Dr. Harlow Shapley director of Harvard Observatory the center of the Universe has been located. It is 52,000 light years from here in the southern skies. Around this center the entire Universe is moving.

There has always been an idea that somewhere there is a central sun around which the Universe moves in vast cycles of time. Professor Dick, a famous astronomer of the last century advanced the idea that the Universe circles around God's throne. But up to this time no one had been able to locate the center. The movement of the stars—some in one direction and some in another have appeared so hap-hazard that astronomers have been unable to discover any orderly design.

Now Dr. Shapley comes forward with the announcement that the center has been located and adds some [illegible] that our Universe is shaped some- [illegible] researches have led to [illegible] ing the equatorial line and to new measurements of its [illegible] is, roughly, 200,000 light years from rim to rim and [illegible] thickness although somewhat concave on both sides, with the stars more numerous around the outer edge which appears to us as the Milky Way. The nearer a star is to the center the more rapidly it moves around it. Hence it will be seen that from the outside our Universe must have a close resemblance to the Ring Nebula in Lyra.

According to these measurements our Solar System is well in toward the center, being 148,000 light years from the outer edge and 52,000 light years from the center. It is calculated that the part of the Universe to which we belong is moving around the center at the rate of 200 miles a second It would be interesting to learn something more about that center—what mighty force is there that holds all of this vast Universe in its grasp. But the dark material which is scattered through space obscures the central region and prevents any thorough telescopic study of it.

All of this applies to our own Universe and has no reference to the so-called spiral nebula which lie far beyond the confines of our Universe, millions of light years distant and are Universes in themselves.

Makes Record For Shooting Targets

(International News Service)

CANONSBURG, Pa., June 11.—Hitting a continuous run of 136 targets, U. M. Beck, member of the Canonsburg Sportsmen's Association, has established a local trap shooting record. The run was made at two shoots.

At the first shoot Beck missed the first target and then ran a straight 74 out of 75 birds. At the second shoot he scored a run of 62 before he missed, making a continuous run of 136 hits.

Ordering graft abolished on penalty of dismissal is dramatic and statesmanlike. Executing that order calls for unromantic attention to the routine habits and records of spenders—Norman Thomas.

Government May Search Trains Crossing Border Of Canada For Booze

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 11—Railroads operating between United States and Canada were served today with an ultimatum by the treasury department that unless they take effective steps to prevent smuggling the government would detain and search all freight and express cars passing over the border.

Included in the list of railroads notified, were the Canadian National, Canadian Pacific, Wabash, New York Central, Delaware and Hudson and Pere Marquette.

This action was taken as a result of the recent conference in Buffalo, when customs officials of the American and Canadian government, prohibition authorities and rail executives talked the situation over with assistant secretary of the treasury Seymour Lowman.

Officials explained that the railroads, have been given an opportunity to save themselves great expense and delay in traffic movement by co-operating with the government to check the flow of contrabrand goods, liquor, narcotics and merchandise.

Through careful supervision of shipments, it was believed that the railroads could meet the emergency without interference from the Federal authorities.

Smugglers operating all the way from Detroit to Ogdensburg, N. Y., are declared by officials to be doing a $10,000,000 annual business using chiefly the railroads.

Diamonds, narcotics and intoxicants are smuggled into United States and alcohol, silk, cigarettes and tobacco into Canada. Treasury reports indicate that railroad employes and subordinate officials of both governments are conniving with the smugglers.

GARDNER

June 8, 1928, was the 12th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Hay of Gardner. A family party seemed to be a fitting observance of the day. PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

MEET MEX!

"'Well,' said that watch dog at last. 'You two little birds are too small to do any damage to my master's grounds, I guess, so I will take a chance and allow you to rest in the grass of the grove for a time.

"'But be sure you behave yourselves. No nibbling at the plants—keep away from the blossoms and watch out for yourselves. There are two cats and a dog here. How I do hate the cats—sneaky, hateful things. Mex, the dog, is all right—a good natured chap. I like him well enough as long as he keeps his place. Once in a while he gets to bragging about how well he can drive the sheep and then I take the boaster down a peg or two.

"'But the only time I get real good and mad at Mex is when he insists upon sitting by master at meal time begging for the choice scraps from master's plate. To watch him coaxing master's favor makes me lose my temper and when he trots out into the yard after the meal is over I jump on him good and hard. But for the most part we are pretty good friends. Here comes Mex now. Would you like to meet him? Shall I call him over?"

"Before we could say 'yes' or 'no' the creature, without opening its beak, gave a queer, hollow cry that made our ears ring.

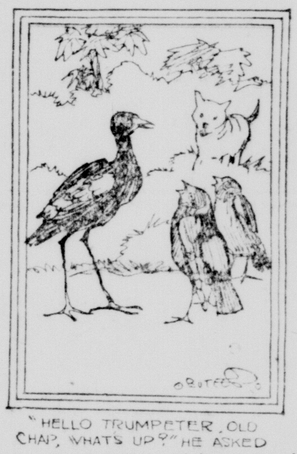
"'Brrrrrrrrr!'

"The loud call brought the dog hurrying over.

"'Hello, Trumpeter, old chap, what's up?' asked Mex. 'Is it time to bring in the sheep? You take one-half the flock and I'll take the other, and I bet I'll beat you to the corral.'"

"'Don't be such a boaster, Mex,' said Trumpeter, sharply, for the dog had said the one thing sure to make Trumpeter, the watch dog bird angry. 'You know that I can drive in the sheep quite as well and as quickly as can you. Didn't master send me out to do it all by myself, last night? But I am not going to argue with you about our private business now. It is not polite to fuss before strangers. Let me introduce you to our guests, Mr. and Mrs. Bobolink. I have given them permission to rest among the grasses a while. Mr. and Mrs. Bobolink, this is Mex!'

"'Bow wow! Glad to meet you I am sure,' barked the dog, and then Mex winked one eye at us. 'But between you and me, friends, don't pay any attention to what Trumpeter



"HELLO TRUMPETER, OLD CHAP, WHAT'S UP?" HE ASKED

says. He isn't the real boss around here. He only thinks he is.'

"'Then who is, I should like to know?' demanded Trumpeter, angrily."

Compensation Must Be Paid Families Of National Guardsmen

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 11.—A member of the Pennsylvania National Guard killed during the annual encampment comes under provisions of the workmen's compensation act, the board today held in a formal opinion upholding an award by the referee.

The decision was made on a plea by the department of military affairs after it had been ordered to pay $4 per week for 300 weeks to the parents of Max J. Hartig of McKeesport. Hartig was killed last July by an automobile while he was walking on a road in the reservation at Mount Gretna.

The board's opinion held that a soldier while in camp is always at the command of his superior officers and that the fact that Hartig had been given a pass prior to the time he was killed did not in any way affect the eligibility of his dependents to compensation.

Perspiration odor is so unpardonable

. . . yet so easy to banish now

SOME FAULTS we might forgive at times—but perspiration odor—never! A person who offends is simply "out"—socially as well as otherwise.

Of course, we can't help perspiring. Physicians say that even on cool days our millions of pores continually give off invisible perspiration—often as much as a quart every 24 hours.

Unsuspectingly, we offend

Whether this body waste is visible or not, it is always causing an unpleasant odor—which is noticeable to others—but not to us. Our own sense of smell becomes deadened to familiar odors.

So why risk embarrassment when it's now so easy to keep safe? Just use Lifebuoy whenever you wash or bathe—it's delightful, purifying—the toilet soap that has become indispensable to millions. It deodorizes all our pores—prevents perspiration odor.

Lifebuoy's bland and abundant antiseptic lather guards health, too—it removes germs. And it's so fine for the skin—keeps complexions fresh, clear, glowing. Little wonder Lifebuoy users are enthusiastic.

Republican Party Beginnings Told By G. O. P. Leader

By JAMES FRANCIS BURKE,
Counsel for the Republican National Committee and Parliamentarian for the 1928 Convention.
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 11.—"Where was the Republican party born?" is being asked by many people now that the convention is at hand.

While seven Grecian cities strove for Homer dead, in the streets of which he had begged for bread, several localities are posing today as the Republican party's birthplace, among them Ripon, Wis., Jackson, Mich., Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh.

Considering what it has meant to mankind, the distinction of launching it upon its career of achievement is naturally one which any community might well covet.

Here in brief is the real story of its origin:

When the slave power induced congress to repeal the Missouri Compromise act of 1820, by the passage of the Kansas-Nebraska bill in May, 1854, and permitted the residents of each state and territory to determine the question of permitting slavery within its borders, the agitation against the extension of slavery was intensified in every section of the north.

Opposed New Policy

This opposition first called itself the Anti-Nebraska party.

Ultimately it became the Republican party, which was the name adopted by the organization which made Lincoln president, and which began its career of unparalleled achievement by rescuing a race from bondage.

At what particular gathering the name Republican was formally adopted is still a debatable one in the minds of impartial observers.

D. C. Herbst, at the golden jubilee of the Republican party in Philadelphia, June 17, 1906, gave a detailed account of its adoption at a mass meeting in a hall above his grocery in Pittsburgh, in the winter of 1852. Others claim its original inception in Ripon, Wis., while others declare that it first was adopted by the state organization, which was effected in Jackson, Mich., on July 6, 1854.

National Honors to Pittsburgh

But there can be no doubt that the birth or creation of the Republican party as a national organization took place in Lafayette hall in Pittsburgh, Washington's birthday, February 22, 1856.

As a result of a conference held at Pittsburgh in November, 1855, between David N. White and Salmon P. Chase, who had been elected governor of Ohio by the Anti-Nebraska party, a call was issued.

Twenty-four states and two territories responded and were represented when the meeting was called to order at Lafayette hall. These included all the free states and eight of the slave holding states, to-wit, Maryland, Virginia, Delaware, Kentucky, Missouri, Tennessee, North Carolina and Texas.

Chose Historic Date

When the convention adjourned at the end of two days, with nine rousing cheers, an executive committe had been appointed and a call issued for a "Republican national convention," to be held in Philadelphia on June 17, 1856, to nominate candidates for president and vice-president of the United States. June 17 was selected because it was the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill.

The Philadelphia convention nominated John C. Fremont of California for president, and William L. Dayton of New Jersey for vice-president, who received a popular vote of 1,341,264 against 1,838,169 cast for Buchanan and Breckenridge, the Democratic standard bearers.

Next came the campaign of 1860, the election of Lincoln, and the beginning of the most notable chapter in the history of political achievement ever written by any single organization in the world's history.

Crimson Athletes Set Fine Record In Past Season

Grove City College Athletes Attain Great Record In Varsity Competition

GROVE CITY, Pa., June 11.—The Crimson athletic teams of Grove City college have successfully gone through the 1927-28 athletic year, with a percentage of approximately .643. Twenty nine varsity contests were engaged in during the year, eighteen of which were won, ten lost, and one tied. While the achievements of the Crimson teams during the past year were not up to the standard of the teams of the past few years, their percentage in the won and lost column is far above .500, and the year must be considered a distinct success.

There were no less than twenty-eight first-year men on the Crimson teams during the past year. Practically all of these men will be available for the teams next year. In view of this fact, together with the fact that only three men are lost from the squads through graduation, prospects are very bright for an old fashioned string of Crimson victories next year. The same coaching staff will have charge of the various athletic teams at Grove City which proved so successful during the past year.

Radio Courses To Be Offered

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jun 11.—Two Courses in radio instruction are among the 14 new courses which will be offered to students in the University of Pennsylvania's Summer School which opens on July 2. Both radio courses will be taught by Dr. Raymond Morgan, assistant professor of Physics.

The first course will cover the principles of radio communication, including the study of transmitting, detecting and amplifying systems. The second course involves a more technical study of the triode or three electrode vacuum tube, with special emphasis on its use as an amplifier and its application in radio circuits.

Regional Advisory Board Will Meet On Thursday

Allegheny Regional Advisory Board will hold its Sixth Regular Meeting in the Fort Steuben Hotel, Steubenville, Ohio, at 9:30 o'clock, a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) on Thursday, June 14th. Total attendance of 500 is expected.

Executive and Railroad Contact Committees of the Board will meet at the Fort Steuben Hotel, Steubenville, Ohio, at 10:30 o'clock, a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) on Wednesday, June 13th. The purpose of this meeting is to consider and approve the docket for the Board meeting of the following day.

At the Board meeting on the 14th, Chairmen of the various Commodity Committees, of which there are 20, representing all important lines of production in the district, will submit estimates of freight car requirements for the transportation of their products during the forthcoming third calendar quarter of 1928 as compared with the months of July, August, and September of 1927.

While intended primarily for information of the railroads as a guide in shaping their car and locomotive repair and replacement programs as well as transportation schedules to adequately meet shippers' demands, these forecasts are being sought with constantly increasing interest by industrialists and bankers as sound barometers of impending increase or decrease in production of basic commodities. Their chief merit lies in the fact that they are based upon replies by individual concerns to questionnaires.

The Commodity Committee Chairmen also cover in their formal reports at the Board meeting conditions existing in their industry, stocks on hand, and other pertinent information collected from individual concerns in the district through medium of a questionnaire.

Railroad representatives in attendance at the Board meeting state conditions obtaining on their individual roads and advise definitely their ability to successfully handle the estimated volume of traffic covered in Commodity Committee reports.

The Banking committee, composed of ranking executives of important banks located in the outstanding communities of the district, render a comprehensive statement regarding the financial and industrial conditions in their localities as viewed from the banking fraternity's standpoint, including bank clearings, deposits, and savings as of May 15, 1928, compared with same date of last year; also whether liquidations have been satisfactory or otherwise during the past six months. They also state their ability to meet impending demands for funds.

Synchornizing closely with the Banking Committee's report, is formation compiled by the Chamber of Commerce Committee, composed of Secretaries of the Chambers at all important points in the district. Their report includes data regarding the average operation of manufacturing plants; condition of retail business; value of building permits; building material sales; labor employment; postoffice receipts; and general pertinent information.

The total membership of the Board is over 1200, being representatives of the shipping public. Railroad representatives do not hold membership in the Board.

The members of the Board in New Castle are:

F. D. Carson, T. M., Pearson Brick Co.

Alexander Crawford Hoyt, V. P. National Bank of Lawrence County.

Ellwood Gilbert, S. M. & Supt., New Castle Lime & Stone Co.

THIRD DEGREE LEADS TO YEAR IN DEATH HOUSE

NEW YORK, June 11.—Police third degree methods used in obtaining a "confession" from Robert Weiner, which was responsible for his spending 13 months in the death house at Sing Sing prison under sentence to electrocution, are being investigated by Police Commissioner Joseph A. Warren.

Weiner, who was freed after the court of appeals had reversed his conviction with a stinging criticism of police brutality, has made a charge to Commissioner Warren involving Detective Sergeants Harry Beck and John P. Broderick and others.

Blame for the treatment Weiner received also is directed against Capt. Arthur E. Carey of the homicide squad.

Weiner asserts that Beck, Broderick and a half dozen other detectives beat him up mercilessly in the basement of police headquarters on the night of his arrest. Capt. Carey, it is alleged, ordered the detectives to take Weiner to the basement and "prepare him" to make a statement.

Marathon Dance Record Broken

Chicago Couples In National Marathon Pass 207th Hour For New World's Record

DETECTIVES TO MAINTAIN VIGIL

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 11.—The ludicrous and fantastic, which has predominated in Harry Caplan's National Marathon Dancing Contest, has given way to the sinister.

While a half dozen bleary eyed, and foggy minded surviving couples, all that is left of the brave band of 138 which began the contest more than 200 hours ago, laboriously lifted and replaced their swollen feet on the hard floor of the Coliseum, Pinkerton operatives, disguised as waiters, trainers and ushers threaded through the capacity crowd of 15,000, grimly alert for lurid stories of attempts to eliminate contestants by poisoning their food and pouring ether on their rest-period cots, have sprung up. Chicago gamblers have heavy wagers on the contest.

The dozen half dead men and women still left on the Coliseum dance floor are not concerned over the precautions taken to guard them. The only thought which seems to penetrate their befogged brains, and which inspires their exhausted to further movement, is the thought of the $3,500 first prize.

When the 207th hour was reached at 3 a. m. today the world's record for marathon dancing couples was broken.

Riot Occurs

Chicago, June 11.—Rioting that for a time threatened serious consequences early today broke the monotony of the National Marathon Dance Content.

The trouble started when one of the six surviving couples was ruled off the floor. The pair, Harry Freeman and Ida Posen, had danced 208 hours. They were accused of stalling.

Their trainer stalked to the floor and smashed the field judge on the jaw. A mob of spectators, jeering and cheering, swarmed onto the floor and engaged in a battle royal. Police subdued the rioters, the leaders going to jail.

It was learned the disqualified couple was a favorite with the gambling fraternity.

FISHING FOR SUCKERS

A man in a hospital for mental cases sat fishing over a flower bed. A visitor, wishing to be affable, remarked:

"How many have you caught?"

"You're the ninth," was the surprising reply.

"Girl Lindbergh"

Likened To Transatlantic Hero, Amelia Earhart Is Known To Her Family As Gracious, Considerate And Determined

By JOSEPH S. WARD, Jr.
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

BOSTON, Mass, June 11.—The "Girl Lindbergh" so frequently likened to the flying colonel, resembles him in more ways than one.

In the first place and most noticeable is the matter of appearance. There is the same slight, tall figure and the same blonde coloring, the same pointed face and remarkably similar features.

But in addition, both flyers are marked by a calm fixity of purpose a monosylabic reticence, a determination which overcomes all obstacles and a thoroughness which prevents mistakes before they happen.

Knew What She Wanted.

These qualities have been present in Miss Amelia Earhart ever since she was a little girl, her mother and sister assert. They picture a childhood in which this slight blonde youngster knew exactly what she wanted and went ahead to get it. Always gracious, always considerate and always determined.

She was born in Atchison, Kansas in 1898. Her early childhood was passed in that place until the family moved to Chicago. Her primary schooling was divided between Atchison and Chicago and in the Illinois city she attended the Hyde Park school.

After graduating from the Hyde Park school n 1916 she went to Ogontz School for Girls near Philadelphia to finish. Here she studied for two years until the summer of 1918. She is remembered as a reserved, composed, almost Coolirgean figure who determined to read a book a day as part of her education and who carried out her determination.

Took to Aviation.

Her former teachers and fellow-pupils were amazed however when she took up aviation. Her earlier bent had been all toward literature and she had shunned the sciences.

A chance, extended visit to California in 1918 affected her entire future. She visited the flying field at Glendale and a strange interest began to develop wnthin her for the queer, winged monsters which flew. Before long she was taking lessons. Ten lessons and she was ready for solo and within a short time she was one of the first woman pilots in the country. She developed rapidly, and two years later made a world's altitude for women, 14,000 feet. This record stood for two years.

She soon realized that aerial travel in a large way required a knowledge of navigation. Back east she came, and successive courses at Columbia, Harvard and Boston Tech filled in the lack. She became interested in social service and in addition to her flying gave classes in proper English and other subjects.

Became Air Instructor.

When the Dennison Airport was opened near Boston, she became a director and flying instructor at the same time retaining her directorship and activities in the Dennison House a social service center in Boston.

She lived usually with her mother and sister Muriel a high school teacher in Medford a few miles from Boston. The idea of a trans-Atlantic flight came son after Lindbergh's epochal achievement. Though she had a moderate private income she realized she woud have to secure backing and it is said that she was ready to make her own flight in a month or two when she was asked to cb co-pilot of the Friendship.

Her character may best be guessed from her last note to her mother when she departed from Boston: "I have tried to play for a large stake, and if I succeed all will be well. If Idon't I shall be happy to pop off in the midst of such an edventure."

It's AiR-hart.
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

BOSTON, Mass June 11.—If omens have anything to do with the success of Miss Amelia Earhart's trans-Atlantic flight attempt she should win. Likened to Lindbergh her home town folk believe she can't fail. But more important she pronounces her name AIR-hart. That's official—from her family at Medford.

Iron Box Rate Is Being Raised By Bell Throughout State

W. R. Bingham, Bell Telephone company, today appeared before council in session and explained there had been no intention on the part of the company to not notify the city of an application to the Public Service Commission for a raise from 50 cents to $1.00 a month for iron boxes, part of the police alarm service.

He said the rate is computed on the cost of service.

Solicitor White said it is his belief that the new rate, if granted, will be too high.

Bingham stated that the rate is being increased on iron box throughout the entire state.

The city councilmen did not instruct White to oppose the application.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Assassination Of President Garfield

ON JULY 2, 1881, THE AMERICAN PUBLIC WAS SHOCKED BY THE SHOOTING OF PRESIDENT GARFIELD. THE PRESIDENT WAS SETTING OUT WITH SECRETARY OF STATE BLAINE TO VISIT HIS FAMILY ON THE NEW JERSEY COAST, AND HAD JUST ENTERED THE RAILROAD STATION IN WASHINGTON WHEN HE WAS SUDDENLY FIRED UPON.

ONE BULLET STRUCK MR. GARFIELD IN THE BACK, INFLICTING A DANGEROUS WOUND. HIS ASSAILANT WAS CHARLES JULES GUITEAU, A DISAPPOINTED OFFICE-SEEKER WHO, FAILING TO RECEIVE THE APPOINTMENT AS VICE-CONSUL TO PARIS, HAD PLANNED GARFIELD'S DEATH.

THE WOUNDED PRESIDENT WAS CARRIED TO THE WHITE HOUSE, APPARENTLY SO NEAR DEATH THAT IT WAS JUDGED TOO DANGEROUS TO PROBE FOR THE BALL. BUT GARFIELD LINGERED ON AND AT ONE TIME SEEMED SO IMPROVED THAT HE WAS REMOVED TO A PRIVATE RESIDENCE AT ELBERON, N. J.

HOUSE IN WHICH GARFIELD DIED - ELBERON, N.J.

THE PRESIDENT LIVED THROUGH THE HOT SUMMER MONTHS, BEARING INTENSE AGONY WITH GREAT FORTITUDE, BUT DIED AT ELBERON ON SEPTEMBER 19TH. GUITEAU, THE ASSASSIN, WAS CONVICTED OF THE CRIME AND EXECUTED.

Tilden Confident Of Success In Cup Matches In Europe

"Big Bill" Tilden Anxious To Atone For Severe Criticism From Officials

Will Try To Defeat Both Lacoste And Cochet And Bring Cup To American Soil

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, June 11.—The psychists would call it a "fixation" and prattle right along about cause and effect until they considered you had received your fifty (50) dollars ($) worth. But lawn tennis knows that feud never was strong along the base line; that, in fact, he is only at his best overhead—over almost everyone's to be exact. Lawn tennis, therefore, would prefer to consider the matter as coming under the head of an honest conviction.

Anyhow, it developed today, with the young man several days out of the bounding blue bosom of the Atlantic, that William T. Tilden is obsessed with the belief that he can and will beat both Lacoste and Cochet in their impending meetings abroad, thus obtaining personal satisfaction and possession of the Davis cup at one and the same time. They say this conviction has become almost a mania with Tilden.

Refuses Interview.

He is so wrapped up in the idea, it seems, that before leaving he declined to be interviewed about his chances and of necessity America's, because he feared his notions might be confounded with egoism. But to personal friends he made no secret of his confidence in being able to carry thru the program outlined. It appears that his whole being is concentrated almost fiercely on this objective.

No dramatic opuses to confuse Tilden's interests this time; no successive appearances in small time tournaments until his stamina is burned down to the edge of the wick. Tilden, they say, is more "ready" for what is before him than he has been in recent years. Instead of exhaustive exhibitions, he has been conserving his energies by playing only when necessary in Davis cup contests. Instead of quick-change transitions from grease paint to flannels and return, he has been practicing strokes.

His only concern, outside of the campaign abroad, is his incipient disagreement with a faction in the tennis association and even that may have been settled. They had a little dinner here the night the team sailed and it was whispered that the controversy, if ever it really reached that stage, might have been settled then. If it wasn't, the dissenting faction can make up its mind to the fact that Tilden will have his way, sooner or later and probably both.

The trouble concerns the dissenters' fear that Tilden will try to do too much, whereas he is inspired with the perfectly logical idea that the invasion will fall down only if he fails to do enough. It is reasonable to suspect that the challenge round, if we get into it, boils down to a duello between Tilden and France. Therefore, the young man is mostly right in contending that he should be let severely alone to make his fight as he sees it.

Babe Ruth Hits Pair Of Homers

Ruth Clouts Two, Nos. 21 And 22, In Game At Chicago On Sunday Afternoon

CINCINNATI STAYS IN FIRST PLACE

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 11.—Working on the idea of hitting 'em a mile or not at all, Babe Ruth, baseball's master record-maker, has established a new kind of a mark for the boys to shoot at. Since May 28, he has made only six safe hits, but five of these were homers and the sixth a triple which was wasted when the Bambino tried to stretch it to four bases.

The Sirdar of Swat clouted homers No. 21 and 22 yesterday and is now seven games ahead of his last year's record. But the Yankees, who had won six straight, dropped an 8 to 6 decision to the tail-end Chicago White Sox, the first team which has stopped the Yanks on their Western trip.

Cleveland Beaten

The Senators nosed out Cleveland, yesterday, 6 to 5. Detroit swamped the Athletics, 9 to 3, and Sam Gray of the St. Louis Browns registered his tenth victory of the season in winning a brilliant 2 to 1 duel from Charley Ruffing of the Red Sox. Boston dropped to seventh place.

Cincinnati held on to first place in the National league when Jakie May held the Giants to five hits and whitewashed them 3 to 0. Horace Ford, Cincy shortstop, accepted his 127th chance without an error. Henry and Cantwell were the losing pitchers.

Led by the rejuvenated Rabbit Mananville, who made four hits in as many times at bat, the St. Louis Cardinals battered Brooklyn 15 to 7, and took second place away from New York. Del Bissonette of Brooklyn walloped his eleventh homer, tying Hack Wilson and Rogers Hornsby for home run hitting honors in the National league.

Other teams were idle.

Triumphs Again

By Feg Murray

Once more Helen Wills makes the front page, this time by virtue of her victory in the French women's championships, which she won without the loss of a single set. Helen now holds the singles tennis title of the United States, England and France, all won within a year, and there is no reason why she should not easily retain her Wimbledon and Forest Hills crowns this summer.

In her dash to victory at Auteuil, Miss Wills beat, in turn, Miss Marcou of France, 6-0, 6-3; Cecilie Aussem, champion of Germany, 6-1,6-2; Miss Couquerque, champion of Holland, 6-2, 60; Miss Hardie of England, 6-1, 6-1; and Miss Bennett of England, who with Cochet holds the United States mixed doubles title, 6-1, 6-2. Not a married opponent in the bunch, and not a single lady could get more than three games from her.

After Helen's victory over pretty Eileen Bennett, French tennis critics were forced to admit that not even the immortal Suzanne in all her glory could have withstood the furious assault of this 23-year-old girl. Helen now has six national titles to her credit, one less than Bobby Jones, and it will be a grand race between them to see which will bag the most before he or she retires. I confidently expect to be drawing and writing about Helen Wills ten years from now, as she wins her thirtieth major championship.

Feg Murray Says:

Perhaps C. C. Pyle didn't want to pay his Coast-to-Coast marathoners their prize money for fear it might interfere with their amateur standing.

St. Louis Scout Watching "Red"

Frank Rickey Bobs Up When New Castle Plays Akron

Frank Rickey, brother to Branch Rickey, club official of the St. Louis Cards watched Red Leonard smack the apple out of the ball yard at Youngstown yesterday. He also saw Red Drive out two more hits, and in addition witnessed Kenny Hogan star in the field as Kenny made three sensational catches in the New Castle-Akron game.

It would not be surprising were Rickey to make an attractive offer for Red.

Sometime ago he told Manager Textor he would send Red to the Cards and at the end of 30 days, providing Leonard made good would pay a fancy price.

Textor knows his baseball and didn't accept the offer so Rickey is still trailing the team.

This evening New Castle plays at Woodlawn, Tuesday evening at Beaver Falls; Wednesday evening against Beaver Falls here and Thursday evening will tackle Ellwood of the Beaver Valley circuit at Ellwood City.

Pitticisms

BY BILL PITT

Now that Uncle Sam gets a fourth of the gate receipts, a fighter ought to get a pension when he retires. He'll have been working for the government.

With all the profits going for income and gate taxes and license fees the professional sport of boxing is rapidly regaining its amateur status.

The new tax makes the manly art of scrambling ears a federal industry and every broken-beaked battler a patriot.

At the same time the guy squeezing into a maul arena on a pass may be guilty of high treason or defrauding the government.

Kayoes may become scarce because one pug swatting a fellow mitt merchant to sleep may be liable to arrest for striking a federal employe in the pursuit of his duty.

Hereafter, in a title tilt, the pugs may have to battle it out in the senate chamber under government supervision after they have weighed in at the White House.

Tunney And Heeney Have Not Signed Up For Coming Battle

Articles Of Agreement For Championship Bout Not As Yet Signed By Principals

Tunney Is At His Camp In Speculator; Heeney Goes To New Jersey For Training Session

By SID MERCER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 11. None of the previous Queensberry spectacles conjured into magnificent dimensions as George Texas Rickard has ever been launched in more separate and distinct sections than the impending "battle of the plodders," featuring Gene Tunney and Thomas Heeney.

The big show is getting under way with a creaking ballyhoo and up to date has gathered no momentum at all for several good reasons.

First of all the contracts—the articles of agreements for this specific battle—have not been signed. The boys know what they are going to do in the way of percentages and guarantees but the official signing hasn't taken place. Nor have the prices been announced.

Start Training.

Then there is the matter of "plunging" into training. Nobody knows just when Tunney went or is going into training for this fight. He may have started last winter in Miami Beach or when he arrived at Speculator a few weeks ago.

Heeney has also been making some gestures in a local gymnasium and today takes possession of his Rumson farm quarters Fairhaven, N. J.

Honest Tom has been circulating around New York for several weeks without attracting much attention. The challenger privately holds that three weeks of gymnastic work in town would fit him for any fight. He realizes that six weeks of exhibition work is 80 per cent ballyhoo and so doesn't intend to buckle down to it until next month. For every boxing day there will be two play days for Thomas until after the Fourth of July.

Heeney is about to yield to the golf bug which will give the experts one line of comparison with Tunney.

EDDIE BENNETT

Like Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and the rest of the New York sluggers, Eddie Bennett, veteran guardian of the Yankee bats, is coming in for his share of glory. He is known as the "luck" of the Yankees.

Bennett became the Yankee bat boy in 1921, and everyone knows what success the team has had since. He was with Brooklyn in 1920, when the team won the National league flag.

Waite Hoyt was largely instrumental in bringing Eddie over to New York, both having attended the same high school in Brooklyn.

Three Games In Twilight Loop

Three games are on tap tonight in the Lawrence County Twilight League, National section. The games will start at 6 o'clock, daylight savings time.

The Edenburg team will play the Company B team at Coaltown with Hudson and Foster handling the games. The Ryantown team will meet the Italian A. C. at Centennial Field with McCann and Bryson as the umpires. The Radiator A. C. will play at Hillsville with Price and Brooks as the officials.

These 5 [Speed-with-Comfort] Features are exclusive with the Airman

Double Flywheel
Flexible chassis
Light-weight construction
Full-elliptic springs
Air-cooled motor

EACH of these important features contributes tremendously to the Airman's supreme riding comfort—even on long stretches at the highest touring speeds. Without these features, no car can equal the Airman's performance.

The double flywheel steadies and balances the smooth, powerful motor—thus reducing vibration to the minimum at all speeds. The flexible chassis, the scientific light-weight construction and the full-elliptic springs, give the Airman a new all-day, high-speed comfort—there is actually less fatigue from an all-day Airman trip than from a few hours' run in most other cars. Air-cooling has been definitely and dramatically proved by Aviation, to be the most dependable and efficient cooling system—permitting high speed to be maintained for hours on end, without the slightest fear of overheating or injury to engine.

The results of Airman superiority features can be vividly experienced in your first drive. We ask you to accept an Airman demonstration and enjoy the physical and mental thrill of this amazing new kind of motor car performance. Convenient terms of payment may be arranged.

Tom High Hats Gene

When King Gene Tunney of the heavyweights visited Yale and lectured on Shakespeare to the undergraduates he gave box-fight fans a shock. A successor to the mighty John L., Corbett and Dempsey lecturing on literature! Now Tom Heeney steals Tunney's thunder by visiting West Point and talking to the cadets, not on Oscar Wilde or Voltaire, but upon the neatest methods of getting over a hefty right cross and a flashing left jab. But the Australian heavy got a little "high hat" before he departed, as the above photo will bear witness.

Coal Shipment Rates Lowered, Effective Soon

Freight Rates On Western Pennsylvania And Ohio Coal Shipments Reduced

International News Service.

PITTSBURGH, June 11.—Unless the Pittsburgh coal operators' lake rate committee is forbidden by the interstate commerce commission to put its proposed rates into effect, reduced freight rates on western Pennsylvania and Ohio coal to Great Lake destinations will become effective on June 18.

An answer to the petitions of the southern operators for suspension by the commission of the reduced rates was filed Saturday by the coal operators' committee.

Along with the answer to the southern operators' petition, the Pittsburgh operators filed a petition for the suspension of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad's 10-cent cut on lake cargo coal from the Fairmont, W. Va., district to Lake Erie ports which is also scheduled to take effect on June 18.

The Pittsburgh operators specified, however, that this petition was made only in the event that the commission should suspend the effectiveness of a proposed rate of $1.26 on lake cargo coal from the Pittsburgh district. The present rate is $1.46.

A representative of the Department of Highways will be at the sight of the proposed bridge on Tuesday, June 26 at 10 A. M. to furnish any additional information needed.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 11.—The "orderly decline" in the industrial stocks which featured the closing sessions of last week was resumed in the early trading today. The motor stocks and the coppers were the targets for the bears, but bullish support behind the market favorites eased the fall of prices, and even brought about moderate rallies but credit and political uncertainties constituted the most powerful factors at the start of the new week, and buying demand from outside sources tapered off somewhat.

Despite the U. S. Steel Corporation report of a decrease of 455,000 tons in the May forward business after the close of Saturday's market motor-car and building steel orders has been gathering momentum.

Despite official denials of the Nash-Packard-Hudson merger Wall street is convinced that the consolidation will be effected, and stocks of the three concerns were bought on that assumption. At 70¼ today, Chrysler was down 12½ points since the news of the merger was made public.

U. S. Steel sold in good volume about 140½. Radio was firm around 196, and short covering of the active industrials produces a moderate rally in the second hour. Call money 3½ per cent.

Navy Program Again To Come Before Congress

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Staff Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 11.—When congress adjourned, the pet "cruiser program" of Representative Fred A. Britten of Illinois was lost in the jam. It hadn't been acted on.

But next winter—

Well, if that "cruiser" doesn't go through, then it won't be by default of the hottest scrap Capitol Hill's seen in many's the long year.

Britten will be chairman of the representatives' naval affair committee then. The chairman of one of the big congressional committees doesn't always get quite all his own way, but he generally gets a good-sized slice of it. Otherwise, he couldn't hold onto his chairmanship long.

Britten has been "ranking majority member" of the naval affairs committee for quite a while. It's an important position, but it doesn't allow unlimited opportunities for a display of the qualities of leadership. The "ranking member's" a trusted lieutenant, but he isn't in command.

This isn't to disparge the leadership of the naval affairs committee's late chairman, Congressman Thomas S. Butler of Pennsylvania, who died a few days before congress adjourned.

Tom Butler—paradoxically a Quaker—was celebrated as a pillar among big-navy men. But he was pretty old—in point of continuous service the oldest member of congress—and had been growing feeble lately.

Britten is "new blood." He isn't an inexperienced congressman—has been here 15 years—but he's comparatively a young man.

And for pep and belligerency!—well, he's been an amateur ring champion in his day, and he's physically as fit as a fiddle right now. Pugnacity sticks out all over him. He isn't a great debater. He isn't strong on parliamentary finesse. But in a rough-and-tumble!—oh, my!

Britten's the man you'd put at the apex of your pyramid, for a do-or-die rush. He's shock troops. He isn't a lawyer, like most members of congress. He's a building contractor. He's hard boiled.

You may or may not believe in the biggest navy on earth, but you do like to see it represented by a good hard hitter in congres.

The navy business is a rough game. It needs a roughneck as a spokesman—if you're to get its viewpoint.

Some of us, here in Washington, think of various individuals who come to congress as peculiar. Tom Heflin, for example—he seems, here, exagerated. But if he's representative?—that's what we want. Our object's to find out, in congress, what the whole country thinks and wants.

Now Fred Britten strikes me as emblematic of the national fighting spirit.

He isn't a technical navy man. With just my infinitesimal knowledge of the thing, I've caught him in errors of the science of sea-faring warfare, but he has the instinct for it in his heart.

Among other people, that kind of folks are useful.

Automatic scrappers, the Britten type are troublesome when you don't want scrapping, but in an emergency they're wonderful. Their weakness is, they've got no judgment.

SPARE TIRE STOLEN.

W. Haug, 2106 Highland avenue, reported Saturday that he had his car parked in the vicinity of the Venice restaurant in the Seventh ward when some unknown person or persons stole a spare tire and disk wheel from his machine.

QUEEN OF DIAMONDS BEGINS HER ATLANTIC FLIGHT

After 5th Ballot It's a Lottery, If Will's Tip Is O. K.

(Special To The News)

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—Here is the tips that are going the rounds today:

Hoover on the first ballot, Coolidge on the second ballot, Dawes on the third, Lowden on the fourth, Curtis on the fifth.

Then in case there is a deadlock, why it will go into a hat and all the senators draw for it.

Just talked with Borah, and he says he don't care who gets it as long as he can disagree with him.

Kansas City is a doing herself proud. They did have some pickpockets here when it started, but they all starved out.

I am still for Mrs. Coolidge on a vindicatton platform.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

New Castle's "curfew" whistle is now sounding at 9 o'clock instead of 8 as during the winter months. The change is made for the summer.

Rains of the past week have given the farmers something to battle. The weeds are making a great effort to get ahead of the corn. The rain brought on the other crops in a remarkable manner, however.

And likewise, the weather conditions developed a lot of exercise for the residents of the city. Lawn mowers were working overtime on Monday night on many a city lot. Even this morning they could be heard bright and early.

Which reminds that nature is at its best right now. Persons who are not in the habit of rising early should get out these mornings about daybreak and realize what they are missing. Perfect mornings.

Razing of portable schools at various school properties about the city, is a program that looks good to residents interested in proper schools for the New Castle children. A large number of these portable schools are to be eliminated before opening of school in the fall, due to the addition to the senior high school and erection of the new George Washington junior high school.

Commencement exercises for the New Castle hospital training school will take place this evening at the senior high school auditorium. A class of 15 nurses will receive diplomas. This work of training young women in the art of nursing is one of the most important in the community, and both these young ladies and the hospital are to be congratulated on what the event of tonight means to all.

Sometimes sidewalks are poured in late fall or early spring and the frost cracks the concrete. After a time, the top coating begins to peel. But this is appropos to the story. On the North Hill there are many sidewalks that have peeled and the peelings have been left in their places by the owners. And it was only Monday night that Pa Newc encountered another ship of the night ruefully rubbing his shins. He had tripped over a large piece of this concrete "peeling", and had sprawled prone on the sidewalk.

And then, there is a tendency for people to make a dumping ground of the vacant lots of the city. When one passes, he can see pails and boxes of tin cans and empty bottles, placed there, no doubt, by people who thought that they might beautify their own places at the expense of others.

With the announcement that rooms can be furnished at the new Jameson Memorial hospital at a cost of $200, several of the civic organizations, Pa Newc learns, are planning to take a room or two apiece. The Scottish Rite Cathedral association, says Manager Herbert Peairs, will undertake a room.

A committee from the local representatives of the Allegheny Regional Advisory board is undertaking, with the assistance of the Chamber of Commerce, to get the September meeting of the body for New Castle. Already plans are being made, says James W. Cole, secretary

March Of 100,000 Mid-West Farmers Fails To Develop

Friends And Employes Pay Unusual Tribute To Local Manufacturer

Mr. And Mrs. P. J. Flaherty Given Surprise Dinner On Wedding Anniversary

Event Also Celebrates Success Of Johnson Bronze Company Under Flaherty's Leadership

Twenty-five years of marital happiness and industrial success were celebrated together Monday evening, June 11, in The Castleton, when a surprise Silver Jubilee dinner was held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Flaherty.

Twenty-five years ago a young Pittsburgher, interested in a small way in manufacturing, was able to "sell" his future to the young woman of his choice. About five years later the young fellow came to New Castle in the Employ of the American Car & Ship Hardware Manufacturing company. With nothing but a common school education and a world of ambition he advanced to the position of superintendent, and today that same young fellow, P. J. Flaherty, is the president and principal owner of the Johnson Bronze company, the successor to the American Car & Ship Hardware Manufacturing company.

Not Much Comparison.

There is little comparison between the plant he came to some 20 years ago and the plant over which he presides today. The former was a small plant, struggling against the bogey of red ink, with but a building or two. The Johnson Bronze company today is a rapidly growing giant, spread over several acres of ground on South Mill street and constantly reaching out for new business. And Monday night, the friends and employes of P. J. Flaherty surprised him and his wife with a celebration marking the success of the two ventures closest to his heart, his family life and his business.

It was not an ordinary sort of dinner, this dual celebration. It had the spontaneity that comes only from a thing that is being done cheerfully. It was a testimonial of loyalty and devotion from employes of the Johnson Bronze company, and a gesture of friendship upon the part of those who have known Mr. and Mrs. Flaherty. It was the kind of affair that marks the milestones down the highway of life, a friendly light that will dispel the shadows that attempt to darken that highway in the years to come.

A Complete Surprise.

Contrary to the usual "surprises", this celebration was a genuine surprise. Louis Sandler, works manager of the Johnson Bronze company, and his wife had invited Mr. and Mrs. Flaherty to take dinner with them Monday evening in The Castleton. Instead of piloting his guests into the dining room, Mr. Sandler suggested going into the ballroom and as they stepped in, 125 or more friendly voices greeted them, an orchestra broke out into the strains of Lohengrin's "Bridal Chorus".

The guests were arranged about the room at small tables, with a longer table seating the speakers and special guests. All along this table were

Convention Keynoter Asserts Republicans Stand On Success Of Administration

MAKES MENTION OF PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

Campaign To Be Waged On Basis Of Record Made By Coolidge

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CONVENTION HALL, Kansas City, Mo., June 12.—The Republicans are going to the country in the 1928 campaign on the issue of general prosperity—and if Calvin Coolidge should be persuaded to again carry the standard so much the better.

This was the keynote sounded here today by Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, in opening the Republican national convention, which is beset with bitter and acrimonious struggles over candidates and platform.

Senator Fess did not actually propose the nomination of Mr. Coolidge, but neither did he take him out of consideration—he merely left wide open the door to the draft movement, should the convention desire to walk through it by saying that Mr. Coolidge "appeared" to be set upon retiring, and that many of his friends believed so.

Mentions Coolidge

Mr. Coolidge's name was not mentioned by the Ohio keynoter until near the end of his long address. Then, after words of praise such as few conventions have listened to regarding any president save Lincoln, Senator Fess closed with this:

"I once said, and I now repeat my statement. Few are his words, decisive his judgments. His comprehension of problems is broad, his vision clean, and his action dauntless. His conception of public duty forestalls the employment of mere political expediency. He spurns the arts of the demagogue, and strengthens the passion of public rectitude. He is more concerned in directing the public mind in proper channels than in following public clamor based upon propaganda. He yields not to threats, nor is he persuaded by cajolery. His evident desire to do justice to all stimulates public confidence. He shields no wrong, nor denies no right.

Party Platform Being Moulded For Convention

Farm Relief About Only Plank Upon Which Controversy Is Certain

PLATFORM FOLLOWS LARGELY 1924 OUTLINE

Active Farm Relief Plank Will Be Provided In Platform This Year

By KENNETH CLARK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—Except for farm relief the 1928 Republican platform was practically cut and dried today.

There may be a squabble over one or two planks other than the agriculture issue, but to all intents and purposes the platform will be adopted substantially as already written by Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah, who is to be chairman of the resolutions committee. This is the opinion of leaders of various shades in the party.

Like 1924 Model.

The tentative platform, of about 30 planks, hews closely to the 1924 pattern. It is wordy, lauds Coolidge economy and prosperity, extolls the protective tariff, favors strict law enforcement, endorses the administration's efforts to outlaw war and denounces corruption in government and elections.

As originally drafted by Smoot, the farm relief plank over which the big fight has developed, promised a tariff readjustment to bring agriculture and industry more nearly on a parity. By inference, at least, it upheld President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen bill by warning the farmers the panaceas for their ills did not lie in price fixing and other artificial stimulants. It turned down the proposals advocated by the militant corn belt representatives. A copy of the Smoot draft was too "moderate" in its offer of aid to agriculture. Hoover representatives then started revamping a farm plank.

Farm Program.

It is now the policy of the Hoover people to offer an affirmative farm program based on the principles of the so-called Jardine cooperative marketing aid plan. This is an effort to convince the farmers that they can count on assistance from an administration headed by Hoover.

The Hoover idea is expected to prevail finally in the platform, especially as Hoover leaders are claiming they will have a majority on the resolutions committee. Members of the committee are being carefully selected.

It was learned today that recently in Washington Secretaries Hoover, Jardine and Mellon conferred on farm relief. They agreed on the general terms of an agricultural program. Mellon, however, was understood to have opposed specific endorsement of

General Nobile's Radio Will Soon Be Silent

(International News Service)

ROME, June 12.—In a wireless message received here today, General Umberto Nobile, marooned commander of the dirigible Italia, stated that his radio storage batteries were practically exhausted and that transmission of messages would have to be stopped for a few days until means were devised for recharging them.

In his message Nobile also made an urgent appeal for supplies. He asked for boots for his men, rifles and ammunition, medicines, sledges, cigarettes, an oil stove and three pneumatic boats.

Nobile advised that he had so rationed his meagre food supply that it would last for 50 days. He said that a single red-tinted tent had been erected on a large ice-floe to enable aviators of the relief expedition to sight his crew from the air.

In Serious Predicament.

KING'S BAY, Spitzbergen, June 12.—Suffering the pangs of hunger, inadequately equipped to combat the inclement weather of the Arctic, and separated into three groups, one of which contained two injured men, the crew of the dirigible Italia were today in a serious predicament on the ice-floes northeast of Spitzbergen.

Almost all of the crew of 17 and General Umberto Nobile himself were suffering from frost-bite. One of the injured men suffered a broken leg when the gondola of the Italia crashed on the ice in attempting to land.

Convention Is Now Under Way

Republican Party Sessions Are Started In Kansas City Auditorium

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CONVENTION HALL, KANSAS CITY, June 12.—A political band wagon with Herbert Hoover sitting in the driver's seat lumbered into Kansas City's big convention hall today for the first session of the Republican National convention.

There was scarcely a delegate on the floor, nor a party chieftain on the platform, that did not concede the nomination of the candidate on the first ballot, probably Thursday.

The Butler-Mellon announcement an hour before the convention's assembly that "Coolidge is out of it" and "Hoover is the 'man'" was on everybody's lips. On the floor some of the wavering delegations were caucusing as the convention opened and voting to support Hoover.

Idaho, which had indicated its first vote to its favorite son, Senator Borah, was one of these. The delegates decided to show their support of the nominee by going to him at the start. Over in the New Jersey section, where there were some Lowden delegates, the delegation informally agreed to support Hoover solidly from the first ballot onward.

At this rate of Hoover progress, it may be possible to nominate him by acclimation.

The captains of the allies were not much in evidence. They had little to say but it is probable the next few days will see some ruffled feelings softened under the ministrations of party doctors.

Galleries Jammed.

The floor was packed and the galleries jammed to suffocation when Chairman William M. Butler strode on the rostrum and banged his gavel sharply at 11 a. m. Above his head and immediately behind him were two gigantic pictures—Abraham Lin-

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—The nomination of Herbert Hoover by the Republican national convention here became as nearly certain today as anything political can be.

The big delegations from Pennsylvania and Massachusetts were both put definitely into the Hoover column by action of delegation caucuses, and this pushes Mr. Hoover's pledged strength considerably past the 545 nominating mark.

You can take your politics or leave them lay, you can ask the other fellow how he gets that way, you can yell for Dawes or for Senator Gott, but here's a tip that you can't laugh off, it looks like Hoover. You may tell us that Lowden should get the call, or that Curtis could win in the fight next fall, you can cheer for Coolidge or for Speaker Nick, but the boys may do the job and do it quick, it looks like Hoover. And as days go by and the summer wanes, and the heat gives way to the autumn rains, when November comes, you will hear folks, (scuse me a moment, eighty-one today) it looks like Hoover.

URGE ALL TO DECORATE FOR SHRINER'S BIG DAY

Plans are practically completed for the ceremonial and parade to be staged here on Thursday by the Shriners, with indications of some thousands taking part in the program of the day.

The local committees in charge are especially anxious that the city be properly decorated for the event. Thursday is flag day as well as the date for the Shrine ceremonial, and under these circumstances it is believed that the city will be a riot of color. The shrine colors are red, green and yellow. It is the request of the Shriners that business houses, residences, etc., be decorated in the colors for the day.

This program is to be one of the biggest things in the history of New Castle, and it is believed that all will co-operate in the matter of decorating, and thus aid in the success of the day.

It is also announced by the committee in charge, that arrangements have been made whereby the property opposite the Highland public school building will be used for auto parking during the day. This will relieve some of the congestion around the cathedral, it is believed.

American Pacific Fliers Refuse All Funds In Australia

(International News Service)

SYDNEY, Australia, June 12.—Navigator Harry Lyon and Radio Operator James Warner, Americans, who made the trans-Pacific flight in the Southern Cross with the Australians, Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith and Charles Ulm, announced tonight they would not accept any of the funds subscribed in Australia for the flyers.

"The subscriptions are really for the Australians," said Lyon, "It would hardly be fair for us to share them. There is plenty for us in the United States."

A number of gifts, including loving cups, have been donated to the Americans.

KANSAS CITY—Hoover will get 31 Ohio votes on the first ballot, with Coolidge 5, Curtiss 3, Hughes 2 and Lowden 10, a caucus canvass disclosed.

Atlantic Flight Is Again Held Up

(International News Service)

TREPASSEY, N. F., June 12.—Although perfect weather prevailed here, inclement conditions over the Atlantic made it unlikely that the monoplane Friendship would start on its flight to England today.

Miss Amelia Earhart, Wilmer Stultz and Lou Gordon were visibly disappointed by the reports of conditions over the Atlantic for they had previously announced that they would take-off at ten a. m. today if last night's apparently perfect weather conditions continued.

Mellon Gets No Word Of President's Desires

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—The most interesting story going the rounds of the Republican convention today revealed why Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon came to Kansas City without some word from President Coolidge as to his choice for the Republican nomination.

The treasury secretary, anxious to learn the President's wishes, called at the White House just before leaving Washington for the convention, he said. He entered the presidential office, the story went, hopeful of getting some expression from Mr. Coolidge. Their farewell conversation follows, according to Mellon's own account:

"Good morning, Mr. President," said Mellon, proffering his hand.

"Good morning, Mr. Secretary," said the President, and they shook hands.

"I'm about to leave for the convention," Mellon continued, "so I came in to say good-bye."

"Good-bye," said the President, proferring his hand. They shook hands and Mellon left.

There were three others in the car, who escaped injury.

The authorities were notified as soon as the injured persons were brought to the hospital and made an investigation.

of the chamber, and the invitation will be presented at Steubenville on Thursday, June 14. Over 500 men, representing agriculture, commerce, industry and transportation, attend these meetings.

And at the Boy Scout office, plans are progressing rapidly for the spring camporee of western Pennsylvania, which will take place at Camp Phillips Friday and Saturday. The camporee will start Friday afternoon and will be concluded Saturday morning. All parents and friends of the scouts are invited to the campfire, to take place Friday evening. Over 1,000 scouts will be there.

On West Washington street, the immense new garage building is progressing by leaps and bounds. Workers have placed most of the structural steel and it will be but a short time before the concreters will be pouring the floors.

Work of tearing down the ruins of the First U. P. church building, an North Jefferson street, is proceeding slowly. Within a few weeks the site will have been cleared, however. It is understood that the congregation has about decided upon the location for the new church building, on the North Hill.

Suggestion is made by Sergeant David T. Nelson of the city police force, of a method that would be a great assistance to the police in determining the ownership of cars, which come into their possession in various ways. He suggests that not only those having dealers licenses but all who operate machines, paint or place in the interior of their license plates, their names and addresses. Thus, when necessary the police could determine the ownership at once, without the necessity hunting up in the files, if included among those on hand while on the other hand, the license number is so recent as not to be in the hands of the police, the necessity of sending to Harrisburg for the name and address of the owner will be eliminated.

GEN. NOBILE'S RADIO WILL SOON BE SILENT

It is feared that the Italia's surgeon may have to amputate the leg but it seems utterly impossible that he will be able to do so with no facilities at his command.

There was no confirmation here of a report that one of the crew of the Italia was killed outright when the gondola crashed. Another report that Lieut. Lutzow Holm, Norwegian aviator, had found the two injured members near Brandy bay on the north coast of northeast land, was also stamped as baseless here.

General Nobile, three others and the two injured men are in one group, drifting with the ice. It is hoped the wind will cause the ice to drift westward towards land. Another group of the crew is in a similar predicament some distance away from Nobile.

Three others of the crew who started over the ice in an attempt to reach the mainland are causing grave fears here. It is feared they will be lost in the Arctic wastes.

PARTY PLATFORM BEING MOULDED FOR CONVENTION

any particular form of relief. The general idea was laid before President Coolidge but he did not publicly approve the plan as a substitute for the vetoed McNary-Haugen bill. Jardine, who is assisting in drafting the plank, has circulated copies of the program among leaders here.

See Struggle.

No doubt the farm plank cannot be adopted without a struggle. The allies against Hoover have made their bid on the basis of American unrest. They have fought for the equalization fee and they are determined, if possible, to have that principle included in the platform even if not mentioning it by name. The most militant elements would specifically endorse the McNary bill.

There has been some talk in the Wisconsin and Minnesota delegations of bringing a minority farm plank to the floor of the convention. This probably will be done if the committee deals in generalities.

The wet group is not satisfied with the platform outlook on prohibition and is also threatening to carry a fight to the floor. Neither effort is expected to be fruitful.

A third party threat is largely discredited by the progressive and farm leaders. Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, whose father bolted in 1924, declared today he knew of no plans for a new party movement.

Summing up the sentiment of the so-called old guard Republicans, Charles Beecher Warren of Michigan, who was the resolutions committee chairman in 1924, and who is here assisting Smoot, declared:

"The farm plank will favor relief for farmers done in a constitutional manner."

SENATOR FESS OUTLINES G. O. P. ISSUES OF 1928

His sense of fairness provokes support and disarms attack.

"After five years and seven months of leadership in our nation, he leaves office by his own fiat, which appears to be final and is so interpreted by many of his friends in spite of the fact that his nomination and election would be a foregone conclusion did he not forbid.

"This hold upon the confidence of the American people of every name, class and creed, without regard to partisan feeling, makes Calvin Coolidge the greatest personal and political force in the world today."

Avoids Mention of Prohibition

Senator Fess studiously avoided mentioning prohibition by name, but he made it clear that the Republican party is a dry party. His allusion to prohibition was veiled but pointed, in that section of his speech devoted to "law enforcement." After calling for more universal respect for the law, he said:

"No backward step can be tolerated upon whatever pretext which would permit a noisy minority to exploit the great mass of our population. All over the earth, led by our own example, there has burnt into national consciousness the conviction that this policy and program of human conservation must not be scuttled.

"It is not a question of tolerance or of liberty, but of life, both individual and national. The Republican party is ready to call the roll on this false doctrine masquerading under the mask of liberty. It is ready to sound the moral tocsin against the present campaign of noise-making minority whether in the interest of business profit or mere human indulgence. It stands for respect for law. It condemns the violation of law."

Stand On Coolidge Record

Senator Fess made it emphatically clear that the party is willing to stand or fall on the record of the Coolidge administration,—and in this connection he rebuked the farm rebels in the party by approving the sentiments expressed in Mr. Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen bill. He echoed a number of the President's veto arguments, and at the same time highly praised the administration's agricultural record, which, he said, contained "the enactment of no less than 24 separate pieces of constructive and remedial legislation covering every phase of the agricultural problem."

But it was upon the prosperous condition of the country since the Republicans returned to power seven years ago that one Ohio senator placed most emphasis.

"Today," he said, "we are in the longest period of sustained business prosperity in our history."

Going into details then, Senator Fess sketched the business depression that immediately followed the war, dwelt upon the enormous public debt and the burdensome high taxes, the disarrangement of the whole economic and business structure of the country, and asserted that the Republican party had rescued the nation from that slough. The public debt has been reduced eight and one-half billions of dollars since 1921, he said, at the same time that taxes were being reduced nearly $2,000,000,000 a year and the country being made prosperous.

"This accomplishment" he asserted "was not the result of accident but rather of management."

Under it he continued the American standard of living has been raised to the highest level in the world's history and kept there. By way of comparison he referred to the "regrettable experience of Grover Cleveland in his tariff-for-revenue-only policy and the long line of soup houses."

Senator Fess mentioned no candidate by name—unless President Coolidge can be considered in that category. But he did pay indirect compliments to Herbert Hoover Andrew W. Mellon Charles E. Hughes and Charles G. Dawes.

He praised the work of the Department of Commerce in the devlopment of radio and commercial aviation under Hoover; he spoke in flowing terms of the treasury record; he told how American statesmanship had made itself felt in the rehabilitation and peace of Europe through the Dawes plan and the Locarno pacts.

Foreign relations came in for considerable though unsensational comment. He avoided any reference to the world court which the Harding-Coolidge administration sponsored and which the Republican leadership of the Senate defeated. He reaffirmed Republican opposition to America's entering the League of Nations. Praised the State Department's efforts to "outlaw war" by treaties, and defended staunchly the Coolidge policy of sending marines to the little banana republics of Central America.

He denied the marines were in Nicaragua and Hayti for any imperialistic purposes, and asserted they would be withdrawn when the need for their presence was not longer felt.

On the whole, he told the delegates, the party record has been one of outstanding success and accomplishment, and it is upon that record that the Republicans should seek a new lease of power.

People once respected law. But people aren't impressed by your lodge emblem if sorry men can join the lodge.

MABEL BOLL STARTS FIRST LEG OF HOP ACROSS ATLANTIC

Earhart, Boston aviatrix now at Trepassey, N. F., with the plane Friendship, in the race to be the first woman to fly across the North Atlantic.

Carries Enough Gas

Charles Levine, who loaned the Columbia to Miss Boll, said the plane would not stop at Old Orchard, Me. He said the Columbia was carrying enough gasoline for a flight across the ocean. Three hundred gallons of gasoline are awaiting the fliers at Harbor Grace, N. F.

Latest reports said the weather was "spotty" over the Atlantic, and not favorable to a flight. The fliers are likely to encounter twenty-five mile an hour headwinds, reports stated.

In an effort to follow the Columbia Levine took off with Emile-Burgin at the controls of his Fokker Universal fifteen minutes after Miss Boll started.

The Universal returned about an hour later. Those on board reported they had not once sighted the Columbia. Levine said they followed the coast line as far as New London, Conn., he said the weather was thick but was clearing as they were returning.

Plane Unsighted

Portland, Me., June 12.—Four hours after the Columbia took off from Roosevelt Field, N. Y., the trans-Atlantic airplane remained unsighted along the New England coast line.

A report that a plane resembling the Columbia passed off Cape Elizabeth bound north up the Maine coast toward Nova Scotia was unconfirmed. Thick weather was reported off shore.

Preparations were made to receive the Columbia at Old Orchard Beach but watchers waited in vain long after 10:30 a. m., the time the flyers were due there unless they planned to continue on to Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

A presidential year, we take it, is a year when nobody wants to be nominated for the vice presidency.—The Albany Evening News.

The wedding march was played by Miss Clare Duff, sister of the groom, and several numbers were rendered by the church choir.

The bride was attractively gowned in beige georgette with hat in corresponding tone, and carried a Colonial boquet. She was attended by Miss Mary Duff, sister of the groom who wore blue Elizabeth crepe, and carried a colonial boquet. Joseph Dess served as best man.

A wedding breakfast for 17 guests was served at the Granada Tea room. Flowers in dresden tones were used as a centerpiece.

The bride has been in the office of the W. R. Campbell Undertaking company, and Mr. Duff is employed with the McCoy Motor company.

Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Duff left for an eastern motor trip, and upon their return will reside at 405 South Ray street.

State Regent Speaks At D. A. R. Meeting Here

Patriotic suggestions and profusions of garden flowers decorated the home of Mrs. C. S. Royce, Lincoln avenue Monday afternoon when members of Lawrence Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution entertained at "Tea' in honor of the state regent, Mrs. N. Howland Brown of Norristown, Pa.

A large representation was present from the Butler, Grove City, Sharon, New Wilmington and Beaver chapters.

Mrs. Brown was here especially to have a conference with D. A. R. chapters in Western Pennsylvania During her splendid talk she stressed the importance of contributing to the Valley Forge Memorial window to which the local chapter has already paid their quota.

The "D. A. R. Black List" which has caused much comment in the last few months, Mrs. Brown explained as an absolute mythe, as such a thing does not exist in the organization. She further stated that the propoganda in regard to this "Black List" evidently was started by persons who were not familiar with the D. A. R.

Tea was served following the conference. Mrs. W. W. Campbell, Mrs. J. H. Frew, Mrs. E. B. Russell and Miss Alam Locke poured and the aides were Mrs. F. P. McCreary, Mrs. Wayne Stitzinger, Miss Jessie Ray, Miss Floy Owens and Miss Helen McBride.

CONQUERING THE PACIFIC

WITH a steadiness and certainty suggesting the ways of a ship, but at four times the speed, and more, the Southern Cross ploughed through the worst weather of her trip on the last lap and arrived at Brisbane, Australia. The relatively short distance remaining to Sydney, the end of the journey was traversed over land. The Pacific is conquered. And while June is early for predictions, the conquest may well remain the chief aviation event of the year. Nothing can rob it of its laurels as a great achievement.

The hop from California to Hawaii had been several times accomplished already but remained the record for oversea flight. The Southern Cross was to better that by the next step in its course, to the Fiji Islands, by 700 miles. Brown and Alcock in 1919 made the non-stop ocean crossing from Newfoundland to Ireland, 1,960 miles, though it could have been considerably shortened. Kingsford-Smith, Ulm, Lyon and Warner covered nearly 3,200 in the Fiji flight, lengthening the oversea record of nine years ago by 1,200 miles.

The aviators had a fine plane, perfectly tuned and equipped. They neglected no reasonable safeguard against disaster. They worked together harmoniously as a well-matched team. They were received in Australia with something like frenzy that welcomed Lindbergh to France. They have well earned all the plaudits given to them.

FARCICAL INSANITY PLEAS IN MURDER TRIALS

THE famous Remus murder trial in Cincinnati caused much disgust among law-abiding citizens, but it may prove to be a blessing in disguise if it should be the means of ending farcical methods of criminal procedure in our courts.

One of its results was to induce the National Crime Commission to appoint a special committee to investigate the matter, and the report which it makes on this phase of murder trials should have a far-reaching effect. It demonstrates the utter absurdity of intrusting the difficult determination "of the mental responsibility of an accused person for his acts to twelve laymen, admittedly unable to pass on the question from their own knowledge or training."

The remedy for this sort of thing is contained in a series of recommendations made by the committee of the national organization says the Philadelphia Inquirer. First of all it would have the mental condition of the defendant determined before and not during the trial for murder. If he is adjudged insane he would be sent to an institution for the criminal insane. If he be found sane, then the trial may proceed without the introduction of confusing testimony from so-called mental experts. It provides for the "permanent internment" of the mentally incurable, without regard to the offense committed.

The committee urges immediate legislation in all the states in order to bring about this much-needed reform in court procedure. The effect of it would be, not only to clarify murder trials, but to bring about results giving the public greater protection than has been enjoyed in a generation.

It is cheering to know from this report that no less than one hundred courts in thirty-one of our states are already using the services of psychiatrists in dealing with such cases, and that the plan has worked well wherever it has been tried. It touches on one of the weaknesses of criminal practice in this country "as regards the plea of insanity." The plea may still be received, but it is passed upon by disinterested experts before the trial and not made the means of befogging the minds of jurors who do not pretend to have the ability to decide such an extremely difficult question. In Colorado such a plea results in having the defendant committed to a state hospital for observation for a period of thirty days. In Massachusetts persons accused of a capital offense, or those indicted more than once for any crime, are referred to the State Department of Mental Diseases.

At last we are finding a way of avoiding the scandal by which persons acquitted of murder on the ground of insanity are afterwards turned loose.

CONDITIONS IN CHINA STILL UNSETTLED

WITH Nationalist troops now quartered in Peking, the city seems to be reasonably quiet. There are six thousand of them, under the command of General Chang. The sixteen divisions commanded by Feng will remain outside, at least for the present. Every attempt has been made to assure the foreigners of adequate protection, no doubt sincerely, for episodes like that at Nanking last year would greatly injure the Nationalist cause in the eyes of the Powers. Nevertheless, it is well that the Legations are strongly protected by their own troops.

There is still fighting in the neighborhood of Tientsin, where the demoralized Northern forces are trying a break through the Nationalist lines. Feng is active in this quarter; his forces have cut off all communication between that city and Peking, and no one knows precisely what he will do with his victory if he wins it. He remains the uncertain factor in the situation. Neither Chiang nor Yen trusts him; and if he gets possession of Tientsin he might make it a base of operations against the Nationalists in Peking. It would be premature to assume that the civil war in China is over with the flight of Chang.

They say a moral wave is sweeping this country. Sometimes we get mad and think it needs sweeping.

We heard of a bird who declared he was not going to give the newspaper reporters any more news. We also know if the same reporters want to do it they can make more news on that gent than he will ever be able to give 'em.

TODAY'S STORYETTE.

The professor had taken his class for a ramble in the country to study nature.

"This afternoon, young men" he said when a shady spot had been selected for the lecture, "I am going to show you the peculiar anatomical structure of the one-horned toad."

When he took from his pocket a small package neatly wrapped in white paper. He opened it slowly and carefully. A banana and a sandwich fell out. The professor frowned and looked thoughtful.

"Well, well' he said "I could have sworn I had eaten my lunch."

So far we have heard of no persons 98 to 100 years old attributing their long life to smoking cigs. Although once in a while we hear of one who has smoked a pipe and taken a wee nippy all his life and thinks that had something to do with long living. However it is said that miners who smoke succumb first in mines where the gas exists.

We do not know why porch swings are not as popular as they were some years ago unless it is because they are too conspicuous.

A young preacher arose one Sunday morning to announce the subject of his sermon. "Brethren and sisters" he said "the subject of my discourse this morning will be 'The World, the Flesh and the Devil,' I shall make only a few remarks on the world, merely touch on the flesh and go straight on the devil."

Any woman who has been married more than a couple of years knows that there are two sides to every question—the right side and her husband's.

New slang phrases are very perishable. They only last two or three months at the best.

Always there is something holding us back. It's the engine in the flivver that impedes its progress.

Some time ago Meadville, Pa., raised $212,000 for a hospital. Since then a new industry has located there and buildings are now being built in which four or five thousand men and women will find employment. Industries and people go to cities that show they are willing to make their towns attractive and convenient.

Villages may be more virtuous. There's no incentive to get lit up in a town that isn't.

That was a great stunt of the Pullman porters going on a strike and then not going. They said they wanted $150 a month and no tips. They knew they would still get the tips and they also knew that if they got the $150 a month they would be just that much ahead, but even at that they thought better of it and decided not to lose anything by striking. Those Pullman porters are not as dumb as they look.

Senator Norris, elected as a Republican and acting like a Democrat, declared in Washington that delegates from the South to the national Republican convention had been bought and sold like merchandise over the counter. We know ourselves that there is some queer stuff goes on about the delegate business, and that money is a consideration that has to be reckoned with in some way. A fistful of ten dollar bills seems to be quite an inducement.

"Could you give a poor fellow a bite?' asked the dust-stained tramp.

"I don't bite myself" answered the lady of the house, "but I'll call the dog."

One advantage of capital punishment is that the man convicted and sentenced isn't pressed very long to pay his attorney's fees.

A Hungarian count who was barred from landing in this country was received in Mexico with open arms by the officials and by the greatest courtesy by the immigration officials of that country. The Mexicans must have had something up their sleeves. The Mexicans, by the way, wear big sleeves, also.

Our government has warned the railroads running into Canada many times that they would have to stop the smuggling of booze into this country over their roads. Now the freight cars, express matter and passenger cars are to be searched, because the railroads have not complied with the request. This is going to cost innocent travelers on the railroads a lot of expense and annoyance. A few people in this country cause a mighty lot of trouble to the many in lots of instances.

Dear Sir: Some people are hard to convince. This from my old home town paper is an example:

Dull Politics a Happy Land.
Watching the Condemned.
O'Casey's Surprise.
Jehovah In War.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

"Happy the nation that has no history" was said when history meant wars.

Happy is this nation that can afford to take so little interest in nominations to be made at Kansas City this week, and at Houston later.

The extent to which the country runs itself, and gets along somehow, is shown in lack of serious public interest in the nation's most important task.

Our President, once elected, has more power than any reigning monarch. And our people take it for granted that everything will be all right, no matter who is elected.

Is it not a fact that half the voters, at least, are more interested in this year's new automobile than in this year's new president?

Our solemn fathers were careful in arranging the now government. The people were to rule, but not absolutely. They would choose electors, superior men, and the electors would select the president.

Now politicians and corporations, about which the fathers knew nothing, take the responsibility, while the people look on, taking things as they come, quite content.

Winter visitors to the Riviera, looking over the blue Mediterranean, often say to a secretary, or servant, "look in the paper and see what the weather is like in New York."

If New York is freezing, the Riviera dweller is happier.

Cotton Mather assured his Puritan New England congregation that the blessed in Heaven would be permitted to look down and see friends burning in hell—and made happier by the sight.

To make your own lot seem bearable, think of brave Gen. Nobile and his crew, adrift on Polar ice.

That ice is frightfully rough, often piled up in hummocks, each a small mountain. The gas bag, "dirigible" no longer drifts and drags at the mercy of the winds. To abandon that dangerous shifting shelter and its food and heat supplies would be fatal. Seeing and killing an occasional bear is the only hope as the fliers wait for rescue.

Those brave Italians need all the courage and fortitude that took them on their perilous adventure.

Sean O'Casey, living in Ireland, wrote fine Irish plays, "Juno and the Paycock." The Plough and the Stars" and other great successes.

O'Casey went to London, got a wife, a dress suit and perhaps a slight English accent, and now the Irish players refuse to produce his latest work, "The Silver Tassie."

W. B. Yeats, who would like to be friendly, says the play is too long, without substance, and gets nowhere.

Poor O'Casey is shocked and surprised, but his experience is not new. When Robert Burns went to live in Edinburgh, met fine ladies with titles, and wrote sonnets, his stuff was worthless. If Bunyan had written "Pilgrim's Progress" at the Ritz, instead writing it in jail, it would not have lived. A man reflects his environment, and conditions about him.

Some churches refuse to join a hymn-singing contest because they don't like Kipling's "Hymn Before Action."

They say Kipling's blood-and-thunder composition would not please the Lord, forgetting some fighting advice that Jehovah gives to his chosen people in the Old Testament.

One Kipling verse read:

The earth is full of anger, the seas are dark with wrath
The nations in their harness go up against our path.
Ere yet we lose the legions, ere yet we draw the blade.
Jehovah of the Thunders, Lord God of Battles, aid

One clergyman says: "That's not fit to be sung by the congregation of a Christian church."

Yet, if war started, that congregation and its clergyman would be all for fighting, anxious to hear of enemies slain.

The main difficulty would be convincing the post-war crop of young men that they should go to sit in trench mud, while others sang hymns and prayed for them.

Correspondents in Kansas City, nearly all, believe the first big block of votes will be cast for President Coolidge. Tomorrow will be an interesting day in the country's political history, and some may be surprised, as they have not been surprised before. It may comfort you to know that the average delegate is in the dark as completely as you are.

Senator Watson, who believes that he would about fill the bill, complains that "Hoover and Gov. Smith have nothing to say for themselves." Possibly they are leaving the "saying" to the voters, and to their friends.

Calvin Coolidge has convinced the public that a man may be wisely economical in speech, as in other things.

Our French friends are coming slowly but surely out of their heavy war troubles. Gold is accumulating in the French treasury by hundreds of millions. And for the first five months of this year, the treasury's tax receipts have exceeded estimates by a billion francs. This is good news for France and the rest of the world. Each nation is the customer of the other nations, and prosperous customers make good business.

THE BIBLE UP TO DATE

A new analytical reference Bible, just put out, marks a significant step in the progress of Bible study.

It is a far cry from the day when the investigating student had to read the Scriptures for himself and look up all the literature bearing upon the subject, and today, when the modern student has such a book as this in question before him.

This Bible, first of all, gives us the authorized English version of the Scriptures. This version will probably never be excelled, not because of its accuracy, but because of its literary beauty. It has become one of the standards that fix the English language. It is one of the landmarks of the English tongue. No efforts to improve this translation have ever been quite successful because what they have gained in accuracy they have lost in dramatic beauty.

Along with this text the book present all sorts of Bible helps.

There is an anlysis of the Bible, taking up the various subjects mentioned in the book, there are excellent illustrations and maps. All the results of the research of years has been boiled down in preparing these helps.

You can find out easily by means of this analysis all that the Bible teaches on any subject.

In the back of the book is a condensation of Cruden's Concordance, the best Concordance known, so that remembering any word of a text you can find the passage in which that word occurs.

This modern Bible ought to foretell any more bizarre and curious fadmaking out of detached and incoherent texts of Scripture.

All the light of modern scholarship and learning has been concentrated here upon the words of this remarkable book.

Even today the Bible is the most widely read and probably the most valuable work in existence. No book in the world compares with it in influence and importance. Whether you believe it or not you cannot deny its extraordinary effect upon human thinking.

Tomorrow—Fog.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

IT HAS ARRIVED

The "Talking Movie" is here and there is trouble in store for the Venuses and Adonises of the Film World by reason thereof.

From Hollywood to the newly reopened Paramount studios on Long Island, cameras are clicking, klieg lights blaze, and megaphones emit quick and sharp commands. Motion picture studios are humming with activity.

In casting agencies there is a new line-up among applicants for work in the studios. Flappers and doll-faced ingenues are there in numbers; "character women" and veteran screen actors rub elbows—sometimes frayed elbows—with the sheiks of the movies. To this motley gathering of picture players has been added a new type; the mature and seasoned actor with a voice. For the movies have become vocal. It is the most momentous chapter in the story of the screen.

The "Talking Movie" is not altogether new. Since the earliest days of motion picture exhibition, experimentation has produced divers talking devices synchronized with the action of the film. From time to time, these atrocities chirped and squealed in nickelodeons; as years passed quality improved and sporadic attempts were made to popularize articulate films in better grade houses. These had a briefday, and we're happily quiescent.

But in the laboratories experimentation continued; culminating in the Western Electric System, under which for more than a year the Vitaphone Corporation and the Fox Movietone have made successful productions. At this wirting more than 300 theaters are equipped to present Vitaphone or Movietone; projection appliances are being installed in 300 additional theaters. It is estimated that more than 1,000 theaters will be equipped to offer "talkies" before the close of 1928.

The "Talking Movie" promises to revolutionize motion pictures entertainment and to establish new standards of writing for the screen. A new and broad avenue opens to dramatists. Recent experimentation in vocal pictures demonstrated all too clearly the gulf which separates scenarist and dramatist. A play fashioned by a writer of glib movie-captions roared its strident banalities from the screen; action was arrested and the thread of the narrative broken; shadowed characters became preposterous puppets, when an inept scenario was substituted for the skilfully written dialogue of an experienced dramatist.

When the movies become articulate, acting for the screen will acquire a new status and a new definition. It is barely possible tha' many motion picture actors—mute—may become inglorious in the new regime. Unusual beauty, or a proper introduction, plus youth, heretofore have been the combination that unlocked the gates to the golden streets of Hollywood. Experience, in the sense of maturity of art, was superfluous, if not a liability. Gestures and action were di-

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

AT THE JOURNEY'S END

Come, death, be merciful and end his pain!
Life has deserted him and hope is vain.
You were his foe, but at the journey's end
Now he would welcome you and call you friend.

The life he loved is over. All is done!
He is too tired to greet the morning sun.
He is too tired for laughter or for care.
Strike the last blow and let him slumber there.
No bright tomorrow here for him can dawn.
The last sweet joys of earth for him are gone.
Anguish and pain are all life has to give.
He longs for sleep, but sleep life cannot give.

Come, death, be friendly—end his bitter pain.
Seal those brave lips which shall not smile again.
We who must stay shall weep that he must go;
Peace comes with death—and it were better so.

ONE VIEW OF DEATH.

Death comes to most people peacefully and as a release from discomfort if not from pain and trouble. I believe there is nothing terrible in such death. Nothing to fear.

As a newspaper reporter, frequently present at disasters and tragedies, I saw death in horrible forms and I learned to hate it. But in the same capacity I attended hundreds of court trials many of them growing out of domestic infelicity and I came to look upon marriage as a fearsome institution. After some years of more normal living I have found marriage a beautiful institution and I believe that few human beings ever find complete earthly happiness outside of it. Death, too I have observed, may be beautiful.

Once when I was a small boy I seemed to taste death. I was very ill sitting in a chair before the kitchen range and I felt life ebbing from me in successive waves. Something far more powerful than I seemed to be drawing me away from life. My family stood about frightened. After a few minutes I seemed, both to the watchers and to myself to pass out of life. I was away—so far away that space was different and altogether limitless. I was immeasurably interested and contented.

Returning to consciousness was like being born again into a strange world. Somebody was pouring whisky down my throat and tugging against the force that held me in the other state of being. I opened my eyes and a great sense of loss and disappointment overwhelmed me. My environment seemed strange and I sat there for a long time trying to project myself in memory back into the vast country in which I seemingly had been existing for uncountable ages, or in that country a moment seemed eternity.

That was a good many years ago but it remains a vivid and pleasant memory. I can sit in the train and think about it and I become so lost to my surroundings that I do not rebuke the man in the seat behind me who is scratching the back of my neck with his newspaper. I forget to get off at my station. I am trying to re-create some of those blue-and-gold impressions that I almost brought back with me from a very far country.

I do not know how common such experiences are. I have talked to very few people about it since it is a difficult thing to explain.

But when I think of death I think of that eternity that I sensed when the earth-life seemed to pull me. And it seems good, not evil.

Capper Favors Charles Curtis For Presidency

Senator Capper, Leader Of Farm Bloc, Says Curtis Is Logical Choice

MAY BE NAMED AT CONFERENCE

Mid-West Senator Could Command All Factions Of Republican Party, Belief

By SENATOR ARTHUR CAPPER
Leader of the Senate Farm Bloc and Staunch Supporter of Curtis.
(Written Exclusively for International News Service.)

KANSAS, QITY, June 12—The nomination of Charles Curtis for President of the United States would solidify the Republican Party, heal all chisms and insure us a sweeping victory in November.

Out of the series of conferences being held today as the convention assembles, I am certain there will come an agreement to nominate Curtis. The Republican Party must have a united front and Curtis is the man to bring harmony and victory.

All factions can compromise upon this stalwart Republican leader of the senate. His record has been one of loyal service to his party and country. He has been an outspoken friend of the farmer; he has safeguarded the rights of legitimate business; he has helped to develop American industry. He has the broad experience, the executive capacity and the intellectual qualification to fill the presidency with honor and distinction.

Farm Issue Raised

The farm issue will be raised in the November campaign. If the Republican Party is to win, it must carry the normally Republican agricultural states of the Middle-West. No man is more fitted for this task than Senator Curtis. His career has been devoted too to aiding labor. The working man look upon as a friend. Thus, the farmer, the laborer, the business man and the banker join in endorsing his candidacy. The Republican Party should heed such a call. I predict it will.

On law enforcement, Senator Curtis' record is excellent from a Republican standpoint. He made a record in his home city of Topeka which would satisfy every believer in law enforcement.

Throughout the Middle West there is a feeling too that our section of the country should have a larger voice in the management of the government. Curtis would answer that demand.

This son of the Plains is not too conservative for the liberals and not so radical as to lose conservative support. He is acquainted with the problems of the East and yet he was raised in the West.

The Kansas sentiment is that America needs a westerner for president. She has proffered Charles Curtis. I believe the Republican Party, in order to guarantee victory in November, will choose her favorite son as its nominee.

rected and timed by the man with the megaphone. Puppets moved to the rythm dictated by the director. Youth, leanness, youth; these have been the prime requisites for screen honors. Through the propaganda of screen popularity, favorite movie stars inadvertently have established a national standard of immaturity of face and form—and intellect.

The potentialities of the talking films are as limitless as those of the radio. The beauty of the English tongue may yet be heard by a generation that knows only the patois and the patter that daily assail the ear. Through the miracle of a screen made articulate, a literate drama or the lyric beauty of a classic text may some day astonish the glittering walls and the ornate tinselled draperies of a "Picture Palace." The cultured possibilities of the "Talking Movie" are boundless.

Let the promoters of the "Talking Movie" have a care however, lest the voices from the screen tend to further depress the standards of speech by slovenly words, nasal twang and mispronunciation, else all the efforts of art and science expended upon the novelty will be wasted.

Highway Robbery Case Is On Trial

Jackim Marczik Tells How He Was Held Up While Returning From Pool Room

Clarence Schultz was placed on trial before Judge Hildebrand in court today on a charge of highway robbery. It is claimed that he, with two others held up and robbed Jackim Marczik, as the latter was returning home from a pool room on Long avenue. When Schultz was later arrested a bank book and other papers were found in his possession, but none of the money, amounting to $180 which it is alleged had been taken. Two others were arrested but they could not be identified and were released.

Marczik testified that he was returning home from the pool room with part of the money in his hip pocket and a part in a front pants pocket, when he was held up. Two of his assailants took hold of his arms and held him while the third went through his pockets. After they had taken his money Marczik claimed that the men held him for almost an hour, threatening him with bodily injury if he did not go to his home and get them some more money which they thought that he had. Finally he convinced them that he did not have any more money and he was released. He indentified the bank book found in the possession of Schultz as his property. The case is still on trial.

His Health Came Back Soon After He Got Konjola

MR. WM. E. DUFFORD

Amazing reports are coming from men and women in all walks of life who have taken this new Konjola medicine and were delivered from their health troubles. This advanced remedy is a liquid compound. It contains juices from twenty-two roots and herbs, thus forming a medicine that cleanses the inner system, restores healthy digestion, invigorates the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and strengthens the nerves. Konjola has also banished cases of rheumatism and neuritis for many New Castle people who have suffered for years.

The Konjola Man at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, is personally meeting throngs of people throughout each day and explaining Konjola. At the same time others already benefited by this famous remedy are offering some very unusual indorsements about it. A few days ago Mr. Wm. E. Dufford, 713 W. North street, this city, made the following statement:

"Within a short space of three weeks, Konjola has completely restored my health," said Mr. Dufford, "and this is the first time in several years that I have been entirely out of misery.

"My health in general was getting worse during the past year and it really had me worried, especially since I was unable to find a remedy to help me. I would wake up in the morning with a headache and right after eating I would feel sick at the stomach. My liver was dull and inactive and this made me sluggish and drowsy most of the time. I had no pep or energy and by the time I retired at night I was so tired and worn out that I felt that I would never wake up. But still I never got a good night's rest. My kidneys were in such a disordered condition that I was forced to rise several times during the night and this kept me from going sound to sleep. I tried different remedies for relief, but nothing seemed to help me and I was becoming very discouraged.

"Then a friend of mine recommended that I try Konjola. It turned out to be just what I needed to build me up. The first few doses settled my stomach and ended the half-sick feeling that came over me after eating. By the end of the first week I could tell it was helping my kidneys because I only had to get up once or twice during the night. Now, the night risings have stopped altogether and my kidneys are in perfect condition. This medicine also restored my liver to more normal action and took away that tired, sluggish feeling that hung over me all the time. Since I have finished the treatment, I have a better appetite, enjoy sound, peaceful sleep at night and have plenty of pep and energy the next morning. I can certainly recommend this medicine to anyone, because I know what it will do."

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

New Castle Man Familiar With Estate Where Coolidges Will Spend Their Vacation

In addition to keeping the Republican party guessing as to just what he meant when he said he "did not choose to run," Calvin Coolidge is a good judge of vacation spots, according to Robert E. Long sales manager of the Lehigh Portland Cement company.

According to Mr. Long the estate of Henry Clay Pierce on the Brule River in Wisconsin is a paradise, a country estate upon which a fortune was spent to make it the most unique place of its kind in that part of the country. With a party of engineers Mr. Long surveyed the place for the late oil magnate in 1912 and his description of it makes one envious of the President's vacation.

Entirely Enclosed.

The estate is 400 acres in size, and is entirely enclosed by a fence. No visitors are allowed in it and the people who live in the vicinity are not allowed to go in. As a result it is as much a curiosity to the Wisconsin folks as it is to those who live in other states.

A rustic plan is carried out in everything. The bridges are made of steel but have been covered with bark and bows and look like old fashioned rustic bridges. Winding paths carry one to any part of the estate and at night these paths are lighted. Instead of the usual button to turn on the current, one finds electric appliances secreted in the tails of squirrels, in the wings of robins or owls. By pressing the animal or bird the lights are turned on.

In the main dining room of the lodge there is a huge chandelier which is suspended from a fish net. Inside the net is a rainbow trout and what appears to be large drops of water dropping from the net and fish are in reality electric light bulbs.

According to Mr. Long the beauty of the place is almost indescribable and few places in the entire country afford such an ideal place for a vacation. The estate is located about 30 miles from Superior Wisc., and about 25 miles from Lake Superior. Nearby there is an Indian village, Winnabajou by name, on the Northern Pacific railroad. At the time Mr. Long assisted in surveying the property he was with Thomas and Thomas a firm of engineers.

Peculiarly Mr. Pierce seldom if ever visited the beautiful place. He was located in Texas and sent many delegations of friends up there but stayed away himself.

Trumpeter Shows Who's Boss

"Again Mex, the big tease, winked an eye at wife and me!" twittered Bobolink.

"'Master is boss, of course, and after him I am of most importance.'

"The dog was only fooling, but how angry his words made Trumpeter. With a shrill cry of rage the great bird rose into the air and came down, ker-spang! right on poor Mex's back, striking at the dog with his beak and feet.

"With a howl of pain the dog started to run and threw Trumpeter to the ground. Back trotted watch dog bird to us.

"'There, that shows who is boss, I guess, doesn't it?' asked he, and wife and I had to admit that it did. Then, Trumpeter continued:

"'Since that is settled, perhaps you would like to know more about me?' How would you like to see my own house?'

"Before we could reply Trumpeter had turned and was trotting off. Of course we followed but the big bird's legs were so long that we had hard work to keep up with our guide.

"Down through the grove we went, past the house where the Two-Legs were and along a path on either side of which grew flowers of every hue. At last Trumpeter stopped at the foot of a tree and gave his loud, thrill cry. Out from behind the tree trotted another bird whom Trumpeter called his mate.

"'Some friends to see our eggs, my dear,' cried Trumpeter. Then together the two birds pointed with their bills at something on the ground.

"There in a hole at the tree-trunk was a nest and in it were ten of the loveliest light green eggs you can imagine. Wife and I were surprised. Ten eggs in a nest at once! Whoever heard of such a thing! We could scarcely believe our own eyes.

"'What beauties they are,' declared I, and Trumpeter nodded proudly.

"'We think so,' agreed he. 'Green is our color, you know. Perhaps you had noticed that I wear a green vest with just a touch of gold.'

"Of course we had noticed. That green vest was so beautiful that we had been staring at it ever since that watch dog bird came to demand our business in the grove, and we said as much to our companion. 'But why did Mex, the dog, call you Trumpeter?' asked I. And I felt very stupid when he told me. I should have guessed the answer to my question.

"'Because of my cry, stranger,' replied the watch dog bird. 'Everyone said my voice sounds exactly like a trumpet. I should have thought you would have noticed it. But Trumpeter is only the last half of my name. I am Mr. Golden Breasted Trumpeter, if you please.

"'Hark! Unless I am very much mistaken, master is calling me. What can he wish! I must go and see!'"

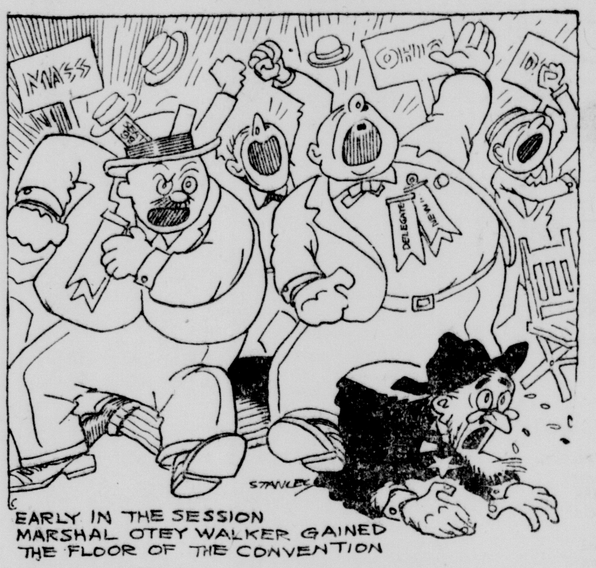
Why Not A Bearded President? Queries Hon. Otey Walker



By MARSHAL OTEY WALKER
Special Central Press Correspondent for New Castle News and Delegate to Republican Convention

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 12.—If noise means anything then the Republican convention is on in full blast.

In my time I have attended two lodge conventions and a meeting of the National Association of Town Marshals and Village Constables, but they were nothing like this. People began screaming the minute things started and everybody is still hitting on both tonsils.

Early in the session I gained the floor of the convention, having been put there by what at first appeared to be a boxcar but turned out to be an oversize delegate from New Jersey. I crawled from under his insteps with nothing broken but my dignity.

The next minute I was in the thick of things; fact is, I never saw so many thick people in my life. There should be a law prohibiting delegates from having a waistline of more than 60 inches. Many of the men here are so big they look like individual delegations.

I haven't yet decided to what candidate I will give my vote. Hoover looks good, but what kind of an appearance would he make in cowboy pants? Can Dawes throw a baseball on opening day? Would Lowden tire easily under much handshaking? Has Curtis a fine radio voice? Does Watson know how to ride an electric horse?

These are the big questions which face the delegates. The candidate fitting all these requirements is the man to succeed Coolidge.

Another important point is, does the candidate shave? We haven't had a chief executive with a beard since Harrison, or one with a mustache since Taft. A candidate with a full growth of jaw shrubbery mounted by a well-kept lawn on his upper lip would not only be a distinct novelty, but would also appeal to the mountaineer vote.

Charles Evans Hughes is one of the few men in public life who still cling to the beard. So do I. It was good enough for Lincoln and it's good enough for me. If Hughes has a chance here's one chin he can depend on.

MARCH OF 100,000 MID-WEST FARMERS FAILS TO DEVELOP

farm work were charged by the farm leaders for the situation.

"The word was broadcast by the Hoover forces that the farm movement was nothing but politics and all bluff, and a lot of farmers were evidently afraid that they would be led into such a situation," explained Senator Gerald Nye of North Dakota.

"There is no mistaking the sincerity of the farmer nor the depth of his feeling. Nor should there be any mistake about the difficulty of electing a Republican ticket in November if it is headed by an opponent of farm relief. The situation might easily lead to a third party."

Hope More Arrive

Backers of the farm trek were hoping that the day would see thousands of farmers from nearby states churning up the roads to the convention city.

Faced by the fear of failure, the farmers, on the advice of Governor A. A. McMullen of Nebraska, decided not to join in the general convention parade last night. Instead, plans are being made for a big parade and mass meeting tonight.

The much-advertised caravan of Gov. A. G. Sorlie of North Dakota got into the city after three days on the road. The caravan slipped in town quietly and in loose formation.

"We had as high as 150 cars with us but after leaving Omaha we made no effort to keep them in a procession," said the governor. "More than 100 cars came to the city.

"The fact that these people were willing to make a thousand-mile trip ought to show the sincerity of our movement."

Governor Sorlie announced that in the event the convention did not nominate former Governor Lowden, his second choice would be Secretary Hoover.

"We want a good man such as Governor Lowden to head the ticket," the North Dakota executive declared, "But if he cannot be nominated I hope our delegates will vote for Hoover. It is a mistake to say that Hoover cannot carry our state."

Less than 100 autos had registered at the special tourist park, attendants said. Most of the farmers who motored in chose to find rooms in downtown hotels or private homes.

Anticipating taunts at the number reaching the city, the Indiana delegation advertised more than 50,000 signatures to petitions for farm relief.

The attitude of the farm leaders also would be made manifest in a statement of 26 organization heads that no enemy of farm relief can be elected.

"If we don't get what we want here, we'll go to Houston," was the threat of many farmers.

coln and Calvin Coolidge. They were the only pictures in the vast hall.

Chairman Butler looked as solemn as a treeful of owls. No smile lightened his countenance.

"The hour of 11 o'clock having arrived," he said, sonorously, "and a quorum being present, the convention will be in order. Please rise and stand while prayer is offered."

The rustle of thousands rising, and then the bishop asked God to bless the assemblage. He asked particularly for Divine guidance in the labors that are here to be performed.

First Outburst.

The first outburst of convention enthusiasm came when Madame Schumann-Heink, a mother who gave sons to both the German and American armies during the war, was introduced and led the assembly in the "Star Spangled Banner."

As Butler was presenting the temporary roll of the convention, a trickle of applause started far back in the hall. It grew in volume as it approached the platform, and in a twinkling most of the delegates were standing on their feet cheering and applauding.

Down the center aisle was walking the diminutive figure of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon. He looked embarrassed at the interuption he had caused, for Butler was pounding savagely with his gavel, seeking to restore order.

The Pennsylvania section was in the first row, directly under Chairman Butler's nose. Mellon dropped unobtrusively into the first seat on the aisle and started reading a newspaper. Next to him was Gov. John H. Fisher, one of the original Hoover men, and next to Fisher was Senator-Designate William S. Vare, who has consistently forced Mellon's hand in the endorsement of Hoover.

Secretary Roy O. West then droned out the official call of the convention.

Butler then explained the mechanism of national conventions and of the national committee. He went into considerable detail as to the functioning of the national committee in a presidential year.

Mr. Mellon, wearing a Hoover poppy in his lapel, listened intently.

Then Butler proposed the selection of Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, as temporary chairman, and the convention approved it with a whoop. This was a mere formality because Fess was selected weeks ago.

A committee moved down to the Ohio section, secured the person of the keynoter and took him to the platform amid cheers.

DELEGATION WILL SUPPORT HOOVER ON FIRST BALLOT

tional committee, spoke the words that assured victory for Hoover.

Butler told his Massachusetts delegates that he would vote for Hoover.

"I have not desired to do anything that might preclude and foreclose the possibility of continuing President Coolidge in office," said Butler. "But I now will ask my alternate to vote in my place for Herbert Hoover, and I am satisfied that such a course will meet the approval of our beloved President. I am satisfied that it is satisfactory to the President for the the good people of Massachusetts not to vote for him."

At the same time Secretary Mellon was counselling the 79 Pennsylvanians in a similar vein across the street.

Coolidge Out

Secretary Mellon said that when he made his statement in Philadelphia a few weeks ago to the effect that of all the candidates that had presented themselves Hoover came nearest to the Coolidge pattern he was still hopeful that President Coolidge might be prevailed upon to stand again.

"At the time of our conference in Philadelphia on May 12 it was still uncertain whether President Coolidge might be induced to accept a renomination," he said.

"Now, however, it has become clear that he will not do so. It, therefore, seems wise to look for that nominee who will best carry forward the policies of the present administration, which have won the wholehearted approval of the American people.

"As I said in Philadelphia, Mr. Hoover seems, of all the candidates, to best measure up to the high standards that we have set. My suggestion to my colleagues in the delegation is that we vote for him on the first ballot.

"I suggest that the Pennsylvania delegates cast their votes for Mr. Hoover," he said.

There was a record roll call in the Pennsylvania delegation on Mellon's suggestion, and it resulted in 79 affirmative votes and not a single dissenter.

Neither Mellon nor Butler would admit having received any direct word from the White House. Butler said he was merely stating "my opinion".

Mellon, however, said that he based his opinion upon a conversation which he had with President Coolidge shortly before he left Washington.

"I have never really felt that Mr. Coolidge would accept renomination," said Mellon later. "In fact, I've thought he wouldn't for a long time."

The Hoover managers immediately seized upon the Butler and Mellon statements and broadcast them through the city just as the delegates began to wend their way to the convention hall to hear Senator Simeon Fess' keynote speech.

"It's all over," said the Hoover managers, and even the desperate, disappointed leaders of the anti-Hoover coalition were forced to agree with them—unless the day of miracles is not past.

"Hoover is away over," said ex-Congressman James W. Good of Iowa, the Hoover generalissimo here. "He will be nominated before the first ballot is three-quarters over."

Milk Report Is Issued By Steen

City Health Officer Makes Report Of Milk Condition For Past Month

Dr. William L. Steen, city bacteriologist, today prepared a report covering the examination of milk sold here during May. The report of bacteria is to be presented to council Tuesday.

The bacteriologist says that "good sanitary milk contains from 10 to 30 bacteria per .001 c. c. and certified milk must contain less than 10 bacteria per .001 c. c."

He states in the report that the sale of milk in New Castle containing more than 100 bacteria per .001 c. c. is forbidden by an ordinance.

"Clean, sanitary milk contains few bacteria, while unsanitary milk contains large numbers. Bacteria," the report declares, "are carried into the milk by dirt and dust falling from cows during milking and also from cans and bottles not washed clean and sterilized."

Less Dirt, Better Milk

In plain words, "more dirt means more bacteria", and Steen informs council that the number of bacteria in .001 cubic centimeter is hereafter to be given in his report, which for May follows:

Dr. Taylor (Everglad) certified bacteria per .001 c. c., less than 1.

Hoover Forces Confident Of Early Victory

Convention To Nominate President On Republican Ticket Opens Amid Bitterness

VARE FAVORABLE TOWARD HOOVER

Butler Says It Is Useless To Vote For Coolidge; Vermont Swings To Hoover

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—The curtain rose today on a Republican national convention filled with struggle and exceeding bitterness; a convention in which anything may happen, but in which only one thing appeared likely to happen—the nomination of Herbert Hoover early in the balloting.

The Hoover forces believe they are "in". The sorely-pressed allies against the cabinet candidate are still struggling, savagely and furiously, but it appeared to be a struggle of desperation this morning as the leaders went to bed to snatch a few hours' sleep after a night of smoky conferences.

Vare Favors Hoover

Part of Pennsylvania's 79 votes, at least, are certain to go for Hoover. That much became assured when Senator-designate William S. Vare, who shares with Andrew W. Mellon the leadership of the Keystone delegates, declared unequivocally for Hoover.

"The Republicans in Pennsylvania, in my judgment, are for Herbert Hoover for President," said Vare. "I said in Philadelphia last month at the meeting of the Pennsylvania delegation that he would be the strongest candidate the Republican party could nominate. I now emphatically repeat that statement.

"I am convinced of the sincerity of the several statements by President Coolidge taking himself out of the race, and I shall therefore use my influence at the caucus of the Pennsylvania delegation to have Secretary Hoover's candidacy endorsed."

Vare controls, 19, possibly 30, of the Pennsylvania delegates. Mellon controls the others.

Mellon Silent

For reasons of his own, Mellon was not willing last night to commit himself beyond the point he has already gone, that of all the candidates who have presented themselves at Kansas City Hoover appears to come closest to the Coolidge pattern. Mellon said that several weeks ago. He has not experienced any change of heart, and for that reason, as well as the reason that Vare stole a march on him, the taciturn treasury head was expected by the Hoover leaders to fall in line.

The draft Coolidge business was still on the fire when the delegates began to wend their way to the be-flagged convention hall today, but the smoke from it was growing thinner and thinner.

Vermont Swings Over

Even the home state delegation of 11 Vermonters, who started for Kansas City determined to vote for Coolidge to the last ditch, have swung over to the Hoover cause, convinced that "I do not choose" means "I won't."

William M. Butler, the national chairman, and as much of a political oracle for the President as exists in Kansas City, told his Massachusetts delegation at midnight that, in his opinion, it was useless to think of drafting Mr. Coolidge. Butler and the whole Bay State delegation plan to vote for Hoover from the first ballot onward.

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho was busily engaged in telling all and sundry that the drafting of Coolidge would be a highly dangerous thing from a cold-blooded party viewpoint, as it would lay the President open to the charge in insincerity and tricky dealing.

And so it went all down the line. Nowhere, seemingly, could the desperately maneuvering coalition leaders against Hoover find much comfort. Their own big bet for days has been Mellon and his Pennsylvanians, and Vare's announcement at least partially knocked their hopes in that direction galley-west.

Allies Are Active

But they refuse to give up. The allied captains of Lowden, Watson, Curtis and Goff figure they have two days more in which to turn the tide. And so the conferences continue, the buttonholing of delegates goes on, and the talk of trade and bolt and compromise fills the smoky, stuffy air of the hotels.

The conferences of the allies continued throughout the night. The Vare announcement was a hard blow, but one of the coalition leaders, emerging from a long session in a hotel room, said:

"If Mellon will keep only 50 votes in the Pennsylvania delegation from Hoover for three ballots we can still beat him. We will gain delegates from both North and South after the second ballot. We have assurances of that—if only Mellon will hold fast."

Will Coolidge Talk?

In this situation the Secretary of Treasury was being urged by several influential Republicans on the spot here to attempt to draw some expression from Mr. Coolidge as to whether he flatly would or would not accept a nomination at the hands of this convention.

"You can talk to the President," Mellon was told. "You can say to him that there is a situation here of real peril to the party that has so honored him. You can say to him that there does not exist here a doubt on the part of many of his sincere friends as to his real wishes in this matter, and that a word from him will clear up the whole ugly situation. He can be nominated in a twinkling for the asking."

Mr. Mellon is said to have listened gravely and to have said he would think the matter over. It wasn't a job he appeared to relish.

Similar appeals were made to Everett Sanders, the White House secretary, who insists that he is here merely as a spectator and that he carries no word or letter from his chief. Sanders didn't appear to relish the job, either. Almost everyone appeared to be heartily in favor of someone else trying to elicit some expression from the White House.

Hundred for Coolidge

Despite the Vermont decision to go over to the Hoover camp it still appeared certain this morning that the President would have in excess of 100 votes on the first ballot—unless he definitely forbids the use of his name between now and balloting time.

Connecticut is planning to start the Coolidge ball to rolling. High up alphabetically in the roll of states, the Connecticut leaders plan to announce "Connecticut casts 17 votes for Calvin Coolidge", at the very outset of the balloting. New York will supply 60 more. Illinois will add a dozen others, and there will be scattered votes from many delegations. The anti-Hoover faction of the Ohio delegation plans to give him five votes and scatter others among Curtis, Lowden and Hughes.

"Let 'em vote for Coolidge," said the Hoover managers. "They might as well throw 'em out the window or merely vote 'present'. Mr. Hoover is nominated."

FRIENDS AND EMPLOYES PAY UNUSUAL TRIBUTE

baskets of flowers, tokens of esteem from friends, some of them many miles away. Much bewildered by the suddenness of it all, Mr. and Mrs. Flaherty were escorted to the places of honor and the celebration got under way. Very Rev. F. F. O'Shea asked the Divine blessing and the dinner followed. During the course of the dinner Steve Griffith and his Rhythm Kings supplied orchestral music and at the close of it, Louis Sandler, toastmaster of the evening, opened the speaking program.

Known Across Country.

"This celebration this evening is in honor of a man whom we have learned to love, and the woman who has been his companion in the past 25 years," said Mr. Sandler. "P. J. Flaherty is known to us intimately, but his acquaintanceship extends across the entire country. Through his business acumen he has built up a friendship in the automobile world that goes into every state. Tonight we are here to pay tribute in a small way to the 25 happily married years Mr. and Mrs. Flaherty have spent together, to his success in the industrial world and to wish them both Bon Voyage on their 'second honeymoon' across the seas."

Fred L. Rentz, president of the News, and a close friend of the Flaherty's for many, many years, was the first speaker of the evening. "It has been my pleasure to know the Flaherty's intimately, for a long time. I have been associated with Mr. Flaherty in many ventures here in New Castle, and this very hotel in which we are enjoying ourselves is one of the ventures. He has been a part of this organization since its inception and has been the secretary of the board of directors. Through my contact with him I have come to know and appreciate the man's abilities. Today he is the principal owner of the largest New Castle owned industry we have, a plant that is growing constantly, a plant that is a credit to the city of New Castle. If New Castle had half a dozen more men like Pat Flaherty we would have a better city. He has done his duty in every endeavor he has undertaken. He has been a devoted husband, a good father, a fair employer and a good citizen. Tonight I am proud to aid in honoring him, his good wife and his saintly mother who sits by his side."

"A Good Father."

Attorney Robert K. Aiken was the second speaker of the program. "The kindest thing I can say about Mr. Flaherty," said Mr. Aiken, "is that he has been a good father. It is a great credit to any man to raise such a family as his in decency and honor. He came to the American Car & Ship Hardware Manufacturing company as a bookkeeper. He had nothing but a common school education, but he had a personality and a perseverance that is bound to win success. In a few years he was made superintendent of the plant.

"For many years it seemed doubtful if the plant would ever be successful. The capital stock was increased and more money advanced but for 15 years no dividends were forthcoming. Yet in all that time there was never any question in the minds of the stockholders as to the ability of Mr. Flaherty to make it go. Today the plant is successful, thanks to his leadership and ability."

Bankers Speak.

Two bankers were next called, George R. Balph, cashier of the Citizens National bank, and Thomas H. Hartman, president of the Lawrence Savings & Trust company. Both of them paid tribute to the ability of Mr. Flaherty.

Very Rev. F. F. O'Shea, pastor of St. Mary's church, was the next speaker and in commenting upon Mr. Aiken's reference to Mr. Flaherty being a bookkeeper, said that he too was a bookkeeper, and had been for many years in St. Mary's church. "P. J. Flaherty has been on my books many times," said Fr. O'Shea, "and never in red ink. In the new church which we recently opened, he has built a monument, not of bronze, but of beautiful marble.

"The cooperation between himself and his men is the kind of cooperation that we should see more of," said Fr. O'Shea. "When there is a better feeling between capital and labor, this country will prosper more and we need more industrial leaders like P. J. Flaherty who will show the way in the matter of such cooperation. I wish the Flahertys a bon voyage and a safe return to our midst."

Daniel D. Guinagh, assistant general manager of the Johnson Bronze company, was introduced and spoke briefly. "I has been a pleasure to be associated wtih such a man," said Mr. Guinagh. "In his capacity as president of the company he has seemed more like a father than an employer and I want to promise him this: That in his absence in the next two months we will endeavor to replace his guidance and counsel with an increased enthusiasm that will keep the plant going at top speed."

Miss Alice Martin, who was instrumental in arranging the affair of Monday evening, followed Mr. Guinagh and wished the Flahertys happiness.

Toastmaster Sandler then called upon Mr. Flaherty. His response was brief, and one could understand its brevity considering the circumstances. He paid a high tribute to the loyalty of the employes of the Johnson Bronze company and expressed his deep appreciation of the honor conferred upon him. Mrs. Flaherty was called upon following her husband and in a happy way thanked the guests for their kindness.

Mr. Sandler then presented Mr. Flaherty with a pair of binoculars upon the part of the employes, and Mrs. Sandler presented Mrs. Flaherty with several gifts from the employes. Cards occupied the balance of the evening.

It was a unique affair, one that the Flahertys will undoubtedly cherish the rest of their lives. It was a pleasant marking of a happily married quarter century of married life, a fitting farewell on the eve of their departure for Europe, and a signal tribute to the success of the Johnson Bronze company, which success can be summed up in one name, P. J. Flaherty.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 12.—"My compliments—but I never talk politics."

This General John J. Pershing waived aside all discussion of his possible candidacy for president when he returned from Europe Monday aboard the Leviathan.

The General denied reports that he was hurrying back from France to attend the Republican convention in Kansas City.

EVERY ACHE AND PAIN GONE, AND SYSTEM CLEANSED

Elderly Man On Route 1 Says Ten Herbs Is A Wonderful Medicine.

"Ten Herbs seems to have cleansed all the poisons from my system, and all the aches and pains that I had are gone," was the statement of Mr. Nels Pearson, who lives on Route 1, New Castle, to the Ten Herbs Man.

MR. NELS PEARSON who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington street, this city, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine.

"Before taking your medicine, I was in a badly run-down condition," continued Mr. Pearson, who is 62 years old, and holds a responsible position with the Shenango Limestone Co. "At times, I would fill with gas and become so dizzy I could hardly stand. My kidneys were so disordered that I could not get proper rest—as soon as I would lie down I would have to arise. My whole system seemed to be filled with poisons; and it was always necessary for me to be taking a laxative, as I was greatly troubled with constipation. I tried many kinds of medicines, but nothing did me any good.

"I read in the paper that some persons whom I knew had got good results by using Ten Herbs, so I started using it. I think Ten Herbs is a wonderful medicine, as it has surely greatly benefited me. My bowels are regular, and my liver is active now. Dizzy spells are gone. My kidneys have been benefited most of all. I get proper rest, as I do not have to arise at night. Ten Herbs has put my system in good condition again and I am feeling like a different person. I cannot say enough for your remarkable preparation."

The reason for the great success of Ten Herbs throughout this section is because of the far-reaching, beneficial effects its wonderful natural ingredients have on the entire human system. Ten Herbs benefits and invigorates the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is different from any other medicine, and must possess unusual merit, or so many local people would not be using and recommending it.

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington street, this city, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

Headmaster At Mercersburg Is Taken By Death

William M. Irvine, 63, Headmaster At Mercersburg Academy, Dies Of Illness

HEMORRHAGE IS CAUSE OF DEATH

(International News Service)

MERCERSBURG, Pa., June 12.—A cerebral hemorrhage, superinduced by a general physical and nervous breakdown today was attributed as the cause of death of William Mann Irvine, 63, headmaster of the Mercersburg academy here for the past 35 years.

Irvine succumbed last night after being ill for almost a week. On the night of June 5 he collapsed after he had addresed the senior class at the academy during the "step songs" part of the graduating exercises.

Physicians attributed the illness to overwork. During the last year Dr. Irvine had directed the finacing of the new academy chapel and main hall and it was believed that the worry and nervous strain of the undertakings had caused his collapse.

He is survived by his widow; his mother Mrs. H. F. Irvine of Philadelphia, two daughters Mrs. J. D. West, Melrose Mass., and Mrs. C. W. Slade, New York; three sisters, Mrs. Charles R. Sturdevant of Philadelphia, Miss Sarah Irvine, Los Angeles and Mrs. Samuel Boyd, Royersford and two brothers, Vernon K. Irvine, Bethelehem and Maurice Irvine, Altoona.

Will Break Ground For Girl's Dormitory

Interesting Affair Planned For Next Friday At Penn State College

Grangers of Lawrence county are especially interested in the announcement that on Friday, June 15, at 1 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, that ground will be broken for the Grange Memorial Girl's dormitory at Pennsylvania State College. This building is to cost more than $250,000 and is being erected by funds raised by the granges of the state. Lawrence county had a quota of $3150 to raise for that purpose and gave something over $4000 exceeding its quota in a very liberal manner. It is probable that a number of grangers from here will attend the event.

The program of the breaking of ground ceremonies includes addresses by Dr. R. D. Hetzell, president of Penn State College; P. H. Dewey, past state master of the granges; Dr. Hannah McK. Lyons of the home economics committee; Charles M. Gardner, of Massachusetts, high priest of De-Meter of the National Grange; E. B. Dorsett, present state master; Jane J. Creasy, a junior at State College, and Mrs. Carl C. Phillips, one of the trustees of State College.

The first shovel full of earth will be lifted by Mrs. Carl C. Phillips. In the evening at 7 p. m., there will be a program broadcasted from Station WPSC.

Members of the Tigers Club will meet at their clubrooms in South Mill street at eight o'clock Friday evening, daylight saving time, according to E. S. Strizzi, secretary. Business is to come before the body.

Poehlman To Return From Ft. Monmouth

Grove City Guardsman Will Again Assume Command Of His Company

GROVE CITY, Pa., June 12.—Captain Frank H. Poehlman, commander of the Regimental Headquarters Company of the National Guard here at Grove City, and superintendent of the municipal electric light and power plant, is expected home this week from Fort Monmouth, N. J., where he has been enrolled in the army training school for the past three months. Poehlman was granted a three months leave of absence by the Grove City borough council, in order to attend the officers training school. He attended the electrical and communications school while at Fort Monmouth.

Upon his return he will again assume command of the Company of 112th Infantry, which has been under the command of Lieutenant James E. Welker for the past three months.

Two Drowned In Shenango River

SHARON, June 12.—Two persons were drowned in the Shenango river here, a young man going to his death in a futile attempt to save the life of a boy thrown into the stream when a boat capsized.

Anthony Novasel, 13, fell into the water when George Roman, 14, and John Klarich, 14, brother of the hero in death, jumped to safety as their boat approached the Sharon Water Works dam.

Mike Klarich, 21, who was watching the boys from a bridge pier, lost his life when he entered the water in an effort to save young Novasel.

City firemen were summoned to search for the bodies.

The weakness in the plan of sending instructed delegates is that the instruction never seems to cover enough ground.

Spartan Courage

Refusing to tell of a bullet imbedded in his brain from the gun of a 14-year-old playmate, Willard Johnston, 13, above, of Indianapolis, Ind., displayed Spartan courage in attending school for three days without making his wound known. His mother and teacher, consulting about the boy's fever, wrung the story from playmates of the two boys.

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—Disarmed after a struggle with detectives in a house here early today, Robert Hiatt, 54, was arrested as an escaped convict from Leavenwerth prison.

Hiatt, a notorious train and bank robber in his youth, according to agent McDevitt, of the Department of Justice, escaped two years ago after serving nine months of a seven-year sentence for using the mails to defraud.

Propose To Retire Sewer Bonds In 1948

Under the provisions of a bill introduced in council, Monday, the city will borrow $50,000, for the construction of storm water sewers which will be built in the Lutton-Moravia street district. Bonds will be issued and a certain portion will be paid off each year, all of which will have been retired in 1948. The bonds will bear 4½ per cent interest and will be of $1000 denomination each.

If business would reap the benefits of group action it must remember that theft by an organization, though anonymous, is still theft.

Lawrence County Is Represented

Six Boys Attending Young Farmer's Week At Penn State College

Six Lawrence county boys are attending the ninth annual Young Farmers' week at the Pennsylvania State College, County Agent H. R. McCulloch reports. The event begins this afternoon and will continue until Friday.

Those in attendance from the county will make up two teams. The dairy judging team includes Homer Cameron, Quincy McConahy and Everett McCracken while those on the swine judging team are Kenneth Double, Sidney McCracken and Harold Glenn. Homer L. Glenn of Slippery Rock, R. D. 4 and Mr. McCulloch are making the trip with the boys.

About 600 junior farmers are participating in the Penn State event. The program this year is a varied one including general meetings, sectional conferences for vocational students and club members, judging contests, sight seeing trips around the college, recreation and exhibits and demonstrations arranged for the adult farmers' field day Friday.

Among those appearing on the prozram of Young Farmers' week are A. L. Baker, state club leader, J. F. Keim, and A. B. Bingham, assistant leaders; Russell E. Frost, junior editor of Hoard's Dairyman, Ft. Atkinson, Wis.; Happy Goldsmith, entertainer; and Miss Laura Betty Amos, nutrition expert, Philadelphia Interstate Dairy council.

An examination of the eyes is the only PROOF of an error of vision. In many cases errors exist but the patient is able to overcome them. That means at the cost of an excessive expenditure of energy the patient by an automatic action of the muscles of the eyes overcomes the defect.
When the error is thus overcome the patient may see normally. He cannot know he has an error of vision. But an examination would detect it, and the proper glasses would relieve the muscles of the eyes from the work of overcoming it.

Hundred Boys Given First Swimming Lessons At Y Pool On Monday

Twenty white bodies glisten as 20 boys splash about in the Y. M. C. A. pool. They shout for it is fun. And at the same time they are learning to swim, which is even more important.

Monday afternoon the first free Y. M. C. A. swimming classes took place in the Y pool in charge of Walter E. Kirker, Henry McNicholas and their assistants. All of the more than 100 boys were taken care of by splitting them up into groups of 20 each, and each group spent more than a half hour in the pool.

And in the groups there were youthful swimmers in all stages of the game. Some could swim, some could swim a trifle, and some could not swim at all. But all were bent on being able to swim better when the intensive course is completed.

The ones who could not swim at all: in fact, the ones who were in the water for the first time, were more than interesting. At first they were afraid, but gradually they began to grasp the side railings, lift themselves off the bottom, and start to kick their feet. They were becoming accustomed to the feel of the water.

Others who had been in the water, but as yet who could not swim were lent a helping hand by the Y. M. C. A. instructors. With hands and arms under the boys' bodies, the instructors would help them about the shallow part of the pool, gradually removing their hands until the youth, much to his amazement, found that he was actually swimming. And the ones who could swim spent the time in perfecting their technique.

Mr. Kirker, the physical director, believes that there are many more boys in New Castle who do not know how to swim, and who will appreciate the opportunity. They should use the coupon which appears in the NEWS, getting of course, the signature and consent of their parents or guardians.

There are no strings attached to this offer of free instruction. If you have a boy—if you are a boy—and as yet do not know how to swim, the Y. M. C. A. will welcome the opportunity of teaching you.

Cole, secretary of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, will go to the spring meeting of the board, which will be held at Steubenville, O., June 14, it is announced today at the Chamber of Commerce office.

"Smooth skin most important thing for loveliness"

says Clarence Badger, director for PARAMOUNT

"Because smooth skin charms people so, it is a first essential for screen stardom—no make-up can fake it. The super-smooth skin that can defy the merciless revelation of the close-up lights—every successful star possesses it."

SOMEWHERE deep down it thrills you—the tender, flower-like freshness of a smooth, well-cared-for skin.

Audiences grow tense when the close-up brings the star's radiant loveliness near to them.

Motion picture directors know this. That is why they insist on the utter perfection of "studio skin." Because make-up is almost useless under the blazing lights of the close-up, every star must keep her skin exquisite, radiant.

Nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap. In Hollywood, there are 433 actresses doing important work, including all stars. 417 of these use this fragrant, white soap—96%!

All the great film studios have made it the official soap in their dressing rooms. You, too, will love the smoothness it gives your skin!

BEBE DANIELS, piquant Paramount star and the distinctive bathroom designed for her loveliness—

"The girl with smooth skin need not fear the relentless eye of the camera. Even the cleverest make-up will not suffice under the searching lens of the close-up. The wonderful lather of Lux Toilet Soap is a great help in keeping the skin smooth and lovely."

Bebe Daniels

"Lux Toilet Soap gives my skin that beautiful smoothness I thought only expensive French soaps could give," says RENÉE ADORÉE, dark, exotic Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star. "It certainly is a lovely soap — I do enjoy it."

BILLIE DOVE, beautiful star for First National, says . . . "A smooth skin is most important to every girl. I have used Lux Toilet Soap and find it delightfully pure and refreshing."

NINE out of ten screen stars use it for smooth skin.

JANET GAYNOR, tiny favorite star in Fox films, says...."There's a caressing quality to Lux Toilet Soap that I have never found except in costly French soaps. My skin feels so soft and smooth."

"I used to say 'It is impossible—one cannot find a soap of the luxury of imported soaps in America!' Then I found Lux Toilet Soap. As fine as costly French soap, it feels delicious to the skin and makes mine so wonderfully soft and smooth," says radiant, blonde GRETA NISSEN.

Nearly 60 Boys To Attend First 'Y' Camp Period

Already 57 boys have signed up for the first section of the Y. M. C. A. camp, beginning July 5 and continuing until July 19, states Henry McNicholas, acting secretary of the boys' department.

To take care of additional boys extra equipment is being purchased by the Y. M. C. A., but Mr. McNicholas wishes to caution younger boys that their section is getting crowded and those wishing to go to camp should get in touch with the Y. M. C. A. office as soon as possible.

In the older boys' section, which will go to camp July 19 and remain there until August 2, 25 have signed up. Mr. McNicholas, along with the rest of the secretaries at the Y., predicts an overflow in both sections.

Lions Stage Convention And Name Santa Claus As Head Of Ticket

Amid a riot of applause which lasted more than five minutes and to the tune of the campaign song, "Jingle Bells," Santa Claus received the Republican nomination for the presidency at the convention, held at Houston, Texas, (The Elks club dining room) at noon today, and which was sponsored by the New Castle Lions club.

Hotly contested, the voting between candidate Dangerous Dan McGrew and Santa Claus was the feature of the whole affair. On the fifteenth ballot, Santa Claus was elected, and he is the man the Republican party, according to the New Castle Lions, will base their hopes in the general election in November.

Immediately after the luncheon, the meeting was turned over to the convention committee, headed by Alvah Shumaker. Paul A. Welsh led the singing of the pre-campaign song, "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here", while sycophants passed about balloons and noise making devices.

Balloons burst in air, horns tooted, bells rang and the convention got under way when E. D. Marvin, impersonating Graham MacNamee, began to broadcast the proceedings over radio station BUNK and the blue and red networks. He portrayed the excitement of the delegates, the delegates taking their seats, the huge press tables and direct wires, and then pointed out the prominents to his invisible audience, among whom were Tom Elliott of Elliotts Mills and Andy Mellon.

Congressman Tom O'Reah, temporary chairman of the convention, called the delegates to order by pounding on the table with his gavel (a croquet mallet) and made the address of welcome.

Congressman O'Reah (Alvah Shumaker) said in part:

"Worthy delegates and ladies and gentlemen, at this convention we are not only nominating the Republican candidate, but we are naming the next president. We are met here in convention assembled. We will do this, if it takes all summer."

As a few of the delegates were not as yet seated, the convention was favored by a selection from the U. S. Marine Band, (drum and glockenspeil) under the direction of Arch Cubbison. Nominations were then opened for a permenant chairman, Senator Josephus of the state of Ill Health getting the nomination.

Because he felt that he was perhaps the most worthy man in the party, Senator Josephus, (B. K. Thacker) in his frock coat and ten gallon hat, insisted on making the keynote speech. After the speech, he appointed T. I. Elliott, secretary, and Jacob Altschuler, seargent at arms.

For nominations, Robert Wagner, the delegate from the National Baseball League of America mentioned the name of Dangerous Dan McGrew, the runner up; Dr. T. M. Shaffer delegate from the Gillette Razor company in turn nominated Herbert Hoover, while A. J. Rees, representing the Methodist Board of Temperance and Morals as well as the Boston Watch and Ward Society and the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice, nominated Alfred Emanuel Smith, stating that the candidate met with the approval of his interests as well as those of the W. C. T. U., the Anti-Saloon League of America, other dry forces and the society Opposed to the Prohibition Amendment. After the Rev. C. H. Holcomb had nominated Santa Claus, the nominations were closed. Then followed the voting, at which Santa Claus was given the Republican candidate's place.

Santa Claus' platform, it is understood by party leaders, is that he should be president because he is beloved by all people but father the day after Christmas; because he has travelled extensively, and because he will appeal to the children, and the childish influence will get out the vote.

Pennsylvania Delegates At Convention Organize

Joseph R. Grundy Elected To Committee To Notify President

State Delegation Favors Seating Of William S. Vare By Senate

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—The Pennsylvania delegation, under the chairmanship of Secretary of the Treasury, organized today for the Republican convention.

The first business was the election of Joseph R. Grundy, Pennsylvania manufacturers' representative, to the convention committee to notify the president.

Grundy then offered a resolution demanding an upward revision of tariff rates to be incorporated as a plank in the national platform. It was unanimously adopted.

Secretary of Labor Davis and Senator Reed spoke in behalf of it.

"There would have been no unemployment in this country if we had had a tariff that protected industry", said Davis.

Mellon, Reed and other Pennsylvania delegates already have conferred with Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman of the resolutions committee, about the proposed plank.

The delegation went unanimously on record as favoring the seating of Senator-elect William S. Vare by the senate. A resolution to this effect was sponsored by Representative Greist.

Police Make Visit And Take Colored Man Into Custody; Fine Is $15

William Samuel Brown 127 Lawrence street, a gentleman of color, somewhat disturbed the peace and quietness of his neighborhod last night when he insisted on trying out his 44 calibre rifle by shooting in the air.

In fact his neighbors were inclined to be rather suspicious that something desperate might occur, if it was not stopped and notified the police.

Officers Moore, Letera and Lockard were detailed on the case and found on examination of the rifle at Brown's home that it had contained 22 bullets and that three had been shot off.

He was fined $15 for shooting within the limits of the city when taken before Mayor William H. Gillespie this morning.

COUNCIL AFTER IRON GRATINGS

Property Owners Ordered To Close Gratings To Prevent Accidents

Council today directed Solicitor White to notify all owners of property in various streets to remedy dangerous conditions in front of their properties.

The order is aimed at open gratings, which are used for ventilating cellars.

East Washington street section was particularly referred to during the council meeting.

Solicitor White had Inspector Dysart make a report on stairways, stone steps and gratings.

White said that a woman had fallen when the heel of her shoe caught in a grating. Her face was lacerated.

According to the Bergdoll decision a landlord not in actual possession of property is only liable when notified.

The action of council in instructing White to act places the burden on the property-owner.

The order is far-fetching if complied with as it may mean installation of ventilators in almost every business house.

Council also ordered razing of the Mayne building, South street.

Dog Leads Master On 9,010 Mile Trip Throughout Europe

Young College Student, Blind, Led Throughout Long Journey By German Shepherd

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 12.—Guided only by a specially trained German Shepherd dog, Morris Frank, 20, blind University student of Nashville, Tenn., Monday completed a 9,010 trip without any human companion. The pair arrived here on the Tuscania.

The dog, Frank's faithful companion in traveling about Europe, conducts his master through traffic and around objects with which he might collide. He has been trained to do it in such a manner that a casual observer would not suspect the master's blindness.

Frank, who is returning to Vanderbilt University, Nashville Tenn., announced the formation of a non-profit-taking organization called the "Seeing Eye Society" whose object is to supply trained dogs to blind persons in need of them.

Behind it are Mr. and Mrs. George Eustis formerly of Radnor, Pa., and now of Mt. Pelejin, Vevey, Switzerland.

The Diary of a New Yorker

by CLARK KINNAIRD

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

NEW YORK, June 12. — Unique among the books of the season, and one that should give a lot of comfort to thousands of unrecognized writers all over, is "Rejections of 1927," a volume of short stories sent back to the authors by 10 or more American magazines.

Nearly every writer, novice or professional, has unsold manuscripts that he or she believes well deserving of print. Many of these stories were refused because of editorial prejudices, which, in the words of the conventional rejection slip, "in no way affects the excellence of the manuscripts."

The fact that Kathleen Norris' first story was bought by the Atlantic Monthly after it had been rejected by that publication, is well known. There are scores of similar MMS. adventures. They merely show that editors, like other mortals, make mistakes, and have their vagaries, and that there is a large amount of excellent material repected that is worthy of print.

"Rejections of 1927," edited by Charles H. Baker, Jr., himself a former magazine editor and present publisher's reader, has stories by Ben Ames Williams, Mary Heaton Vorse, Ruth Cross, J. P. McEvoy, Edgar Hay, Gouverneur Morris, Ferrin Fraser, Cyril Hume, Arthur Schnitzler, Emerson Low, Edwina Stanton Babcock, Mildred Cram, Frances Bragg Middleton and Seth Clarkson, among which names are some that will be recognized as headliners by even casual fiction readers.

The book casts no reflections upon Ray Long, Henry Mencken, Merle Crowell, et al., but it does demonstrate that the writer shouldn't lose heart just because ONE magazine rejects his work.

When the Fox organization borrowed the apartment of Emil Fuchs, famed artist, in the Hotel Des Artistes, to throw a swell party for Janet Gaynor, the cinemactress, it ordered attending employes to buy or rent the conventional "soup and fish," and tactfully informed guests that they were expected to appear in formal attire.

All present "looked their best," with one conspicuous exception. Many of the guests wondered how this individual, clad in a sack suit that obviously needed pressing, got in, and speculated on how long it would be before he was "thrown out." Then the uninitiated learned that the person who didn't care how he looked in the presence of so many notables was Emil Fuchs, himself.

As usual, "gate crashers" descended upon the party to rub shoulders with celebrities, a curious collection of which gathered to meet the tiny emotional actress. "Celebs" included Thyra Samter Winslow, author; Marie Dressler, retired comedienne; Harrison Fisher, artist; Ray Long, the editor, and wife; Neysa McMein, the cover painter; Harold Ross, the bovine-appearing Texan who edits the New Yorker, bible of the sophisticates; Dr. John H. Finley, the educator and publicist.

Pacific Fliers Thank Coolidge

Well, if Washington couldn't tell a lie, he doubtless maintained a bitter silence when his neighbors began to talk about trout.

Supply Of Quail Is Getting Scarce

Only 48 Birds Are Received From Texas By Mercer Game Warden

MERCER, Pa., June 12.—Securing quail to replace the losses each hunting season in Pennsylvania is getting to be a task.

Game Warden Frank Fair of Mercer county reports the receipt of 48 for release in the month of April when his order was 400 of the birds.

Out of the orders placed for 12,000 quail with a Texas firm by the state authorities but a few hundred were received.

In the opinion of Fair the time is not far distant when the state will establish their own game preserves or face a depopulation of the wild life.

Tests are now being conducted at various stations on raising birds and just as soon as the proper location is found by experiment the hatching and raising will be carried on more extensively.

Paving Of Park Avenue And West Short Streets Betters Approach To Athletic Field

Recommendation To Enlarge Heating Plant Of Fire Department Approved

ELLWOOD CITY, June 12. — The first adjourned meeting of Council for some years, took place Monday evening in the City building. The members were to have met last Thursday, but on account of conflicting dates with other activities, the meeting was postponed.

Five ordinances were passed on third and final reading as follows: Ordinance constructing a sanitary sewer on Hillside avenue from the existing sewer on Fifth street, a distance of 220 feet, assessing the costs on fronting property.

Ordinance for construction of a sanitary sewer on First avenue from the west end of the existing sewer on said avenue a distance of 270 feet to Cedar Way, with property owners assessed.

Ordinance for paving of First avenue from Bridge street to Gregg street, assessing two-thirds the costs on abutting property.

Ordinance for paving of Park avenue from West Short street to Sixth street, with two thirds of the costs assessed on abutting property owners.

Ordinance for paving of West Short street from Crescent avenue to Park avenue, assessing the property owners two thirds of the costs. The last two named ordinances will greatly improve the approach to the school athletic field in the rear of the Lincoln Junior High school, making a better parking space and much more convenient for traffic during the athletic season.

Report

Borough Manager Lowell C. Monroe submitted a report to the Council members stating that the damage done to the storm sewer constructed at the north end of Second street across the Pittsburgh Circle down the bank of the Connoquenessing creek, should be fixed and extended to the high water mark of the creek, and that the Borough should divert all available material suitable to filling to the location. This recommendation was approved.

Communication

The Circle Lumber company sent in a communication asking that the storm sewer on Sixth street be connected by the Borough so that it flows properly into the river with the company furnishing the material if the Borough will install. This matter was referred to the members of the street committee.

Petitions

A petition for placing of a sidewalk on the south line of Orchard avenue was received and 10 petitioners asked that it be placed between Bridge and Union streets.

A petition asking for the grading of Summit avenue between Brighton road and South Second street, said portion being paid two thirds by the property owners. The petition was signed by twenty citizens. Both petitions were referred to the members of the street committee.

New Library May Open Thursday, June Twenty-First

No Fines Will Be Charged On Books Due During Time That Library Was Closed

ELLWOOD CITY, June 12. — The new quarters for the Ellwood City Public Library are expected to have a formal opening Thursday, June 21, announced Mrs. Catherine Charles, Librarian, this morning.

The Library was ready to open some time ago, but the refinishing of the floors necessitated a delay until the middle of next week. The new quarters are in the Masonic Temple building on Crescent avenue, and will be a great improvement over the former quarters on Fourth street.

The new Library will have about three times the amount of floor space, embodying a separate Children's room at the side, with separate entrance; a section for the use of High school students, which will have the latest reference books on the shelves; an adult reading room and office for the Librarian; and a new charging desk complete with modern files. Many new copies of recent fiction will be available as well as new editions of travel and non-fiction. Mrs. Charles announced this morning that any readers having books out that have become due during the closing period of the library, will not have to pay fines when returned to the new quarters.

The staff of the Library comprises: Mrs. Catherine Charles, librarian, assisted by Mrs. Berwick Barton, assistant librarian; Miss Marjorie Streeter, children's librarian, and Mrs. Glen Hoffman, substitute worker.

Dredge Creek For Body Of Boy Here

First Fatality Of Bathing Season Occurs Yesterday In Connequennessing Creek

ELLWOOD CITY, June 12.—Dynamite and dredging of the Connequenessing creek last night and this morning failed to reveal the body of little Aloysius Walzak, ten year old Ellwood City lad who was drowned yesterday afternoon about 2:30 while in swimming with several companions.

The boy was unable to swim, it seems, and was riding on the back of another boy, when he slipped off and was drawn down into a nearby whirlpool before his companions could come to his aid.

The formation of the creek bottom is very rocky at that particular point, which is located almost directly across from the power plant, and many fatalities have occurred there. The rescue workers have not given up hope of finding the body, in spite of the swift current and rocky formation of the creek bottom. His shoes have been recovered and part of his clothing, it is said.

Labor Secretary Has Suggestions

Makes Proposals For Platform Of Republican Party To Aid Labor

By JAMES J. DAVIS,
Secretary of Labor
Written For International News Service

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—As benefits to the working man I am suggesting the following proposals to the platform committee of the Republican covention:

Good wages—It is necessary to have a high protective tariff to maintain high wages.

Child labor—Children should be protected from arduous occupations in industry.

Eight hour day—Eight hours a day is sufficient for anyone to work. We must eliminate the seven-day week.

Collective bargaining—The right of labor to bargain collectively cannot be denied.

Labor injunctions—There has been a widespread complaint against the use of the injunction. Labor believes in protecting its privileges and safeguarding its rights and immunities from unwarranted invasion.

Summing up, the protective tariff, limited immigration, exclusion of child labor, general watchfulness of women in industry, the eight-hour day, collective bargaining coupled with conciliation and arbitration and curbing the use of the writ of injunction are the important things in which the American laboring man is very much interested.

Rev. Scripture At Nyack, N. Y.

Rev. Milton J. Scripture, pastor of the Hoover Heights tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance in Nyack, N. Y., where he is attending the council meeting of the Christian and Missionary Alliance which is being held in that city.

He was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and St. Mary's Catholic church of Herman. His wife preceded him in death seven years ago.

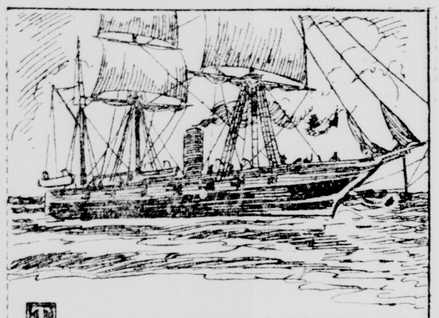
HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

Period Of Naval Decay—1870-1885

AFTER THE CLOSE OF THE CIVIL WAR, THE GREAT NAVY WHICH HAD UPHELD THE HONOR OF THE UNITED STATES AT SEA WAS ALLOWED TO FALL INTO A HUMILIATING STATE OF DECAY. WITH THE COMING OF PEACE, THE GOVERNMENT BECAME ABSORBED IN NEW PROBLEMS AND INTERESTS, AND THE NAVY WAS NEGLECTED.



THE "MONITOR" AND THE "MERRIMAC" HAD PROVED THE SUPERIORITY OF THE "IRONCLAD". BUT, THOUGH FOREIGN POWERS PROFITED BY THIS LESSON BY BUILDING IRON, AND LATER STEEL, WARSHIPS, THE UNITED STATES CONTINUED TO MAINTAIN A FLEET OF OUT-OF-DATE WOODEN VESSELS. BETWEEN 1870 AND 1885 THE EFFICIENCY OF THE NAVY WAS AT ITS LOWEST EBB.

IN THE SPRING OF 1881, PRESIDENT GARFIELD MADE THE FIRST STEP TOWARD STRENGTHENING THE NAVY BY CREATING A BOARD TO SURVEY OUR NAVAL NEEDS AND CONSIDER NEW CONSTRUCTION. AFTER AN INVESTIGATION, THE BOARD URGED THE BUILDING OF SOME SEVENTY WARSHIPS OF ALL CLASSES.

CONGRESS LATER HELPED TO RE-MODEL THE NAVY BY PROHIBITING REPAIRS TO BE MADE ON ANY NAVAL VESSEL THEN IN SERVICE IF THE COST OF REPAIRS SHOULD AMOUNT TO ONE-FIFTH THE COST OF A NEW SHIP OF EQUAL SIZE. THIS MEASURE STRUCK MORE THAN FORTY OLD WOODEN VESSELS FROM THE ACTIVE LIST.

Cincinnati Has Strong Attack

Reds Score Five Runs In Ninth Inning To Defeat Giants In Close Game

WHITE SOX AGAIN POLISH OFF YANKS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 12.—One reason why the Cincinnati Reds are leading the National league parade is that they are strong finishers, winning many of their victories in late innings. Yesterday they polished off the New York Giants again, 7 to 5, by scoring five runs in the ninth. Val Picinich's second home run of the afternoon sent in the winning runs.

Grover Alexander, pitching mainstay of the St. Louis Cardinals, regained his form and beat Boston 8 to 1, the Cards staying within two games of the Reds. Alex made it a perfect day by blowing himself to one of those trick Boston home runs.

With Guy Bush doing the throwing, the Cubs stymied Brooklyn, 3 to 1, and closed in on the Giants. Hack Wilson, portly Cub outfielder, executed a perfect swan dive and saved Bush's bacon when he caught a low liner with two men on base.

Pirates Lose Again.

Playing ping pong instead of baseball, the Pirates made five errors and lost to the Phillies, 6 to 4. The Phils have copped three of their last four starts and now boast a grand total of ten victories.

If the Chicago White Sox make it three straight over the Yankees today, the Yanks will have suffered their longest losing streak of the season. Ted Blankenship held the world's champions to four hits yesterday, winning 6 to 1. Pennock was the victim, the Sox scoring all their runs in the third inning.

Successive homers by Simmons and Foxx in the eighth staked Ossie Orwoll of the Athletics to a 4 to 2 decision in a duel with Gibson of the Tigers.

The Senators continued their winning streak by nosing out Cleveland in the tenth, 7 to 6, on a hit by Kenna, rookie catcher.

Mahoning M. E. Grabs Victory

The Mahoning M. E. team defeated the Grace and Congregational team 12 to 2 in a New Castle Church league game played at the Mahoning field on Monday night.

Robison on the knoll for the Mahoning team allowed but two hits, and fanned six men. Richards was hit hard by the Mahonings and found for 12 hits.

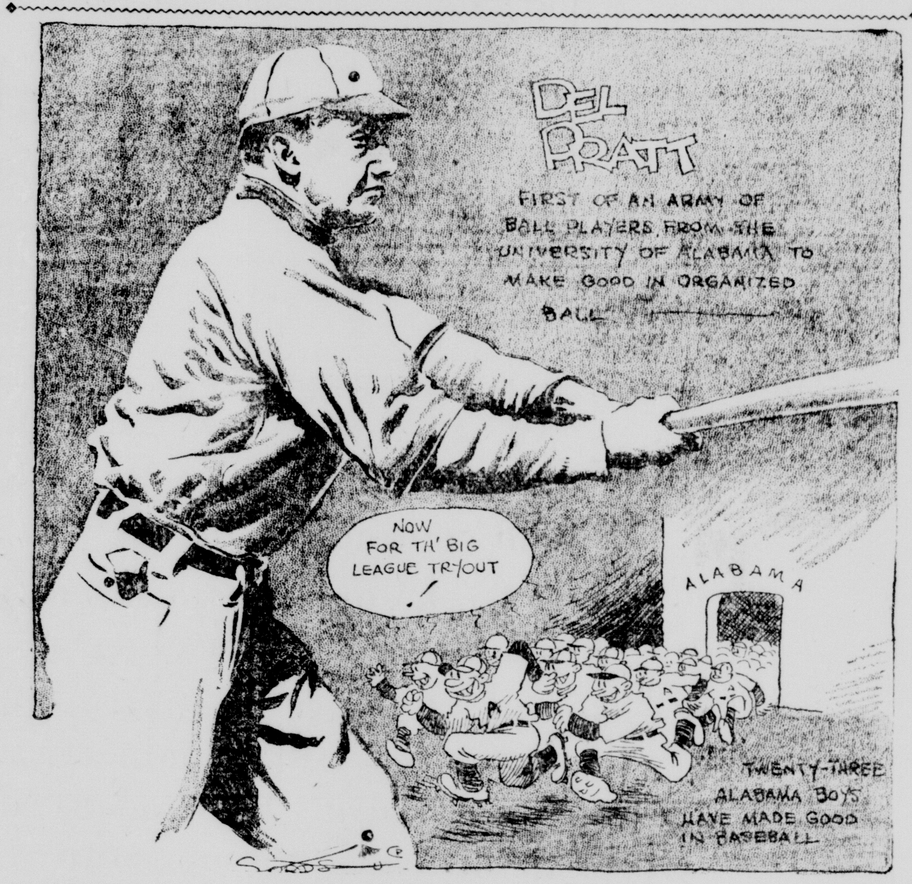
SORDS POINTS—By Jack Sords

Here's School Which Turns Out Big Leaguers Wholesale



No American college or university has had as many of its student athletes in major baseball as the University of Alabama, which can boast of having sent 23 men into the professional baseball ranks, 14 of them having made the big leagues.

Derrell Pratt of the Browns, Yankees, Red Sox and Tigers blazed the trail. That was 15 years or so ago. He was followed by Alabama's crack battery, John (Dan) Boone and Lena Styles, who went to Connie Mack. Boone now is managing the High Point club of the Piedmont league, while Styles is catching for Toronto. Then came "Skeeter" Hamilton, who jumped from the campus to Chattanooga. Guess he is out of baseball now.

A Cleveland newspaperman, the late Xen Scott, went to Alabama as football coach. He discovered some of his gridiron heroes also were baseball stars, and he induced the Cleveland club to grab Shortstop Joe Sewell, Catcher Luke Sewell and Second Baseman Riggs Stephenson. The two Sewells still are with Cleveland but Stephenson is playing the outfield for the Cubs. The success of these three caused the major and minor scouts to keep their eyes on the Tuscaloosa athletes, and each year two or three of the Alabama team find their way into professional baseball.

Southpaw Ernie Wingard went to the Browns but now is with Milwaukee. Ike Boone, great slugger, is in the Pacific Coast league after trials with several major league teams. Luther Pratt was tried out at third by the White Sox and later went to the minors, as did his brother, Francis Pratt. Lou Jones, a crack infielder, is with the Springfield club of the Western association.

There came a veritable exodus of Alabama boys to the pro ranks, with Andy Cohen finding his way to the New York Giants, Grant Gillis, Minter (Jack) Hayes and Emile Barnes being grabbed by Washington. Tommy Sewell, brother of Joe and Luke, was signed by the Cubs and optioned to Reading. Max Rosenfeld is playing center field for Birmingham and hitting better than .300. Pitcher Hutto recently was farmed out by Birmingham to Albany, Ga. Pooley Hubert, all-American football halfback, is catching for High Point in the Piedmont league. Sam Hinton pitched for Dubuque in 1925 and then joined the U. S. marines. Pitcher Jim Alley was signed by Terre Haute, which club recently released him. Dave Rosenfeld, brother of the Birmingham outfielder, also was given a trial by the Barons, but has slipped out of sight.

Tunney And Dempsey May Fight In Canada

Rumor Says That Tex Rickard Plans Big Bout For Canadian City

Government Tax Of 25 Per Cent On Boxing Shows Causes Switch In Plans

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, June 12.—Local diehards who somehow can't get the notion out of their heads that Miss Taylor's husband is a prize fighter, were up and alive again today with the story that either Toronto or Montreal will see Jack Dempsey in a revival of "The Kid's Last Fight," with appropriate gestures, late in September of this year. Tex Rickard will be the promoter, they say, and of course Brother Tunney, the uplifter of humanity, is to be in there spreading the gospel of clean living and Dempsey all over the canvas.

It seems useless for Rickard to affirm and re-affirm that Dempsey has retired, for Dempsey to admit and even insist upon it himself and for Brother Tunney to announce that he is off for a tour of the world directly after the Heeney business. The diehards—and their number is becoming greater as the time goes on—simply act very superior and think up a new Dempsey rumor.

This one today, however appears to have considerably more solidity than the usual backstairs stuff. It is supported, in fact, rather guardedly by one of Rickard's associates, who was cautious enough, however, not to commit himself on anything definite. And the understanding is that Rickard had a conference last night with a representative of the National Boxing Association, which has control of the Canadian territory.

May Come Back

Personally, although I regard Dempsey's announcements of retirement as being almost absolute proof that he will be back in there some time neatly parrying with his chin. I cannot see how the three boy friends can blandly put on their show this year without embarrassing themselves no end. They have declared Dempsey out so often and so heatedly that to bring him back immediately would be to lay themselves open to ridicule and worse. If only for the sake of their reputations for veracity, it would seem necessary to keep Dempsey on ice for at least a decent interval.

The only trouble with this program is that our John may not "keep" indefinitely. Benny Leonard could have had $200,000 to come back any time during the first year he was out but now, when he wants to come back, Rickard's offer has been cut to $50,000. The same thing, in proportion to his drawing ability, can happen to Dempsey, and Rickard is well aware of the fact. You can bet your diamond stomacher that, if Rickard has any idea Dempsey is to retire from retirement, very shortly, he is planning to put the show on this year, clean up for what it is worth and get it over with.

It is a fact, too, that Rickard has been approached before on the question of a Canadian site and that he looked on the idea with passive favor. I mention this only because this favor may have become active since the government enacted its 25 per cent tax on boxing in this country.

FIELDING YOST

Fielding Harris Yost, director of athletics at the University of Michigan, was born in Fairview, W. Va., April 30, 1871.

Yost attended Fairmont, W. Va., Normal, Ohio Northern and the University of West Virginia. He became interested in the development of hydro-electric plants in the south, though football claimed a great deal of his attention.

Yost, at Michigan, became one of the most famous coaches the football world has ever seen. He developed such stars as Harry Kipke, Benny Oosterbaan, Willy Heston, the great Allmendinger, Frank Steketee, Ernie Vick, Neil Snow, Germany Schultz, Benny Friedman, Joe Magidsohn, Edliff Slaughter, Bernie Kirk, Bob Brown, Angus Goetz, Three-Legged Maulbetch, Herb Steger and Jack Blott.

In 1921 Yost became athletic director at the Wolverine institution, and in 1926 retired, at least temporarily, as football coach, turning those duties over to Tad Weiman.

"Hurry Up" Yost was one of the most colorful figures in Big Ten football and always, without exception, had a team contending for the title.

Eight Western Pennsylvanians Qualify For National Open At Oakmont Club

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 12.—Eight Western Pennsylvanias are qualified today to start in the national open golf championship to be held this summer at Chicago. Fourteen golfers in all qualified yesterday over the difficult Oakmount course in section elimination matches.

E. M. Christ of Rochester, N. Y. with a score of 150 for 36 holes led the field in the Oakmount qualifications. He was followed by A. A. Armour of Washington, D. C. older brother of the present open champ, Tommy Armour.

The snaggy Oakmount course, still sodden from last week's rains, was somewhat of a handicap to the golfers particularly on the greens where the sogginess prevented good putting.

The other qualifiers and their scores are M. Hunter, Washington, D. C., 156; George Underwood, Pittsburgh, 157; Vincent Eldred, Olean, N. Y., 157; Jack Gordon, East Amherst, N. Y., 158; Charley Rowe, Oakmont, 159; Pete Walsh, Greenville, 159; Fred McLeod, Washington, D. C. 161; Wright McClure, Chartiers, Washington county, 161; Pete O'Hara, Westmoreland, 163; Fred Brand, Pittsburgh, 163; Emil Loeffler, Oakmont, 163 ;Horace Brand, Uniontown 164.

Italian A. C. To Play Company B. Postponed Game

The Company B team and the Italian A. C. of the National section of the Lawrence County Twilight league will play a postponed game tonight at 6:30 o'clock at the Coaltown field. This game was called off earlier in the season by inclement weather.

The Company B team has at last hit its stride as evidenced last night by their victory over the fast Edenburg team, 8 to 6 at the Coaltown field, the game was won by the stellar pitching of Houston, who held the Edenburg team safe at all times, and through timely hitting by the combined team.

As both the Italian A. C. and Company B teams contain some of the best talent in the circuit, the game tonight should be a good one.

Three Games In Twilight League

Three games are on tap tonight for followers of the American section of the Lawrence County Twilight league. The games will start at 6 o'clock, daylight savings time.

The Lawrence Indies will play the Mahonings at Mahoningtown with Diana and Nolte as the umpires. The Wampum team will play at South Hill with McCann and Bryson as the officials. The Clifton Flats team will meet the West Pittsburgh Garlands at West Pittsburg with Brooks and Price as the umpires.

In the National section the Italian A. C. and Company B teams will play a postponed game at Coaltown with Foster and Hudson assigned.

Home Run Smash By Hurst In Seventh Sufficient To Win Tilt

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—When First Baseman Hurst hit a home run over the right field fence in the seventh inning yesterday it was sufficient to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates though the Philadelphians chalked up two more runs in the same inning. The score was six to four and it was the first game of a series between the National league champions and the tail-enders.

The score was two to one at the end of the third and the Pirates put the punch in the fourth and came from behind to take a two run lead, four to two. Carmen Hill weakened in the seventh and the four run rally didn't do the Pirates much good. Leach drew three hits. The box score:

Cen. Presbyterians Smother Epworth

The Central Presbyterians went on a hitting spree last night at the Scotland Lane field and smothered the Epworth M. E. team under a score of 19 to 4.

W. Grannis was on the mound for the Presbyterians and allowed but seven hits, and had two hits and scored three runs. The Central Presbyterians found the pitching of Brooks and Potter to their fancy and collected 15 hits. The Presbyterians scored one or more runs in each inning and topped it off with eight in the fourth stanza.

Fraiser had four hits to lead the team at bat with Battley, Melder, W. Grannis and R. Grannis also hitting timely.

Emmett Rocco may get a chance with Jack Sharkey at Cincinnati, according to Johnny McCoy, who received his information from Joe Cumo, who with Rocco, is staying at Cleveland.

It has been suggested that the two heavyweights mill June 25 but information received later is to the effect that the two heavies will not meet until late this summer or in September.

Junior League

The Lawrence Juniors defeated the Indians 6 to 5 in a fast game played at the Cedar street field on Monday night as a part of the junior recreation league schedule. The pitching of Wilson for the Juniors was a feature. He fanned 11 men.

The Keystones won a forfeit game from the Athletics at the P. & L. E. field when the latter team failed to show up for a league game.

The Castle Cubs won by the forfeit route over the North Hill team last night at the Castle Cubs field when the North Hill team failed to show up for a scheduled contest.

The C. C. Sluggers defeated the Dimlings 13 to 1 in a Junior game played at Glasser Field on Monday night. The hitting of Krupa and Telles featured for the Sluggers. Soho on the mound for the Sluggers allowed but two hits, and fanned five men.

William Henry Sherdel of McSherrystown, Pa., is out for revenge on the Yankees, to obtain even a chance at which he must first beat the other New York team, the Giants, as often as possible. In other words, "Wee Willie", who isn't so very "wee" at all, lost twice to the Yanks in the 1926 world series, and, by pitching the ball he is capable of, can help his team to another chance at the world's title, against those same Yankees, next October.

This very left-handed Mr. Sherdel, whose slow curves have made him a tough proposition for so many batters in the older circuit, is now in his 11th season with St. Louis, which club he joined in 1918 after two seasons with Milwaukee in the American Association. Before that he had two years with Hanover in the Blue Ridge league and, believe me, from the Blue Ridge to the "Red Birds" is some jump. Up to the start of the 1928 season, Bill had won 119 games and lost 104.

Last year his 17 wins were made against the following teams: Boston, four; Giants, three; Brooklyn, two; Phillies, three; Reds, three, and Cubs, two. He never did beat the Pirates in 1927, and lost twice to the Corsairs. In 1926 he was poison to Brooklyn, beating Uncle Wilbert's boys six times while losing to them only twice.

Sherdel pitched the first game of the 1926 world series, being removed for a pinch hitter in the eighth, losing 2 to 1. He then pitched the fifth game, allowing nine hits and being defeated 3 to 2. That's why "Wee Willie" wants to be a conquering William and get back at the Yankees in 1928.

FEG MURRAY SAYS

From publicity matter sent out from Madison Square Garden, New York, on the international endurance dancing championship, I glean that a staff of doctors and nurses is at hand "to insure that no couple will wreck physical exhaustion and its recurrent effects".

It strikes me that just thinking about this "dance of the hours" has waltzed the writer around rather silly.

Cen. Christians Defeat Hakoah

E. Solomon and Blau were only Hakoah players to get a safe hit off Shiek. H. Plant on the knoll for the Hakoah team allowed only four hits, and had seven strikeouts. Shiek fanned eleven men.

Ryantown Trims Italians 3 To 2

The Ryantown team of the National section of the Twilight League nosed out the Italian A. C. last night at Centennial Field by a score of 3 to 2. It was a seven-inning game.

Walter Kirker hurled a fine game for the Italians and held the Ryantown team to five hits, but errors by Paul Reider let the Ryantown team score the winning run. Reider muffed a grounder that allowed Mash to reach first and he later tallied the winning run. Lintz, on the knoll for the Ryantown team, pitched a steady game, holding the Italians to seven hits. Paul Fahey, with a double and single, was the feature hitter of the game. "Ducky" Guinaugh also had two hits. Lintz was the best hitter for the winners.

Salem Boy Breaks World's Record

It will be of special interest to the sport lovers of this district and especially those, who followed and were interested in the career of Ralph Day during his high school days here, when he was the outstanding pole vaulter of the district and shining football star, to know that another school boy who hails from Salem, O., as did Day has broken the interscholastic pole vaulting record of the world. This was done at Chicago, when he made 13 feet and three and three-sixteenth inches. He goes to Boston the last of this month to try out for the United States Olympic team. It is believed that he will have little trouble making the team.

The installment plan enables you to have a lot of things you couldn't possess otherwise, and it's strange that the bigamist doesn't get the idea.

Crowd Will Greet National Golfer

When Tommy Armour, national open champion of both the United States and Canada, appears on the local course Thursday afternoon, he will be followed by a large gallery. He will make the round of the course of the New Castle Field Club with Captain V. Artnur Smith, club professional. After making the course, he will give a lecture of at least one half hour on the fine points of the game to all those so fortunate as to be present. The course is in fine shape for the event and should the weather continue to be as fine then as it is today, some excellent scores will be turned in by Armour and Smith.

Two Games Booked For Buckeye Field

Buckeye Girls and the Capitols will play in the feature tilt at Buckeye field Wednesday evening and after the contest is over the Hakoah A. A. will meet the Old-Timers of the organization. The first game starts at 5 o'clock and the second at 6:30 p. m. daylight saving time.

Pitticisms

BY BILL RITT

The National league has discovered that both kinds of Reds are tough boys to monkey with—Communist and Cincinnati.

The Cincy Reds are bad-mannered fellows. They don't seem to care that they are supposed to be a second division club.

The Cubs have team spirit, the Giants the reputation and the Dodgers the Philosophy—but the Reds are on top.

* * *

Once the Reds get hold of first place they are as hard to dislodge as a hungry neighbor at supper time.

The Reds heretofore have been about as successful as an Alabama Republican. They won one pennant in 60 years.

N. Y. STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 12.—Monday's closing reaction in the principal security markets of the country induced or forced heavy selling in the market favorites in the first period today, and prices for the principal motor, steel and copper stocks reacted to lower levels. The call loan market showed the effects of withdrawals of funds by the local banks, and the renewal rate was unchanged at 6 per cent.

After the first half-hour the shorts started to cover, and the decline in the market leaders was halted.

Selling of the motor stocks accompanied statements to the effect that the manufacturers are now entering the season of tighter competition, when "sales resistance" will be encountered in larger volume. Chrysler's new decline to 68 brought that stock down 20 points from the high of last week, and reflects in some measure the dissatisfaction among Chrysler stockholders over the merger with the Dodge company. General Motors rallied about a point in the first hour, but the balance of the motor list was dull and reactionary. Fractional recoveries were recorded in a few of the industrial and railroad stocks in the second hour.

Griggs: "Do me a favor, old man. Don't let your wife wear her new spring costume when you come around to our place. I don't want my wife to see it just now."

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

"Jack Dempsey's going to fight in the fall, isn't he?"

That query bobs up in just that fashion, sooner or later, every time the coming heavyweight title match between Champion Tunney and Tom Heeney is mentioned.

It's really almost unbelievable the way the average fight fan clings to the Dempsey standard. It seems impossible for most fans to accept as a fact that impression tossed out at intervals by Tex Rickard, New York fight scribes and even Dempsey himself that the former king is through with the ring.

It's more a question as to whom he will meet rather than whether he will engage in another fight—and that one this year.

To many folks who have followed the vagaries of the fight game of late years, the coming Tunney-Heeney scrap would seem "made to order" to promote another battle featuring Dempsey.

Just who would be Jack's opponent is another matter, of course.

But these angles are being considered.

If Champion Gene makes short work of the British challenger the former will (by the one cuff on the chin or half a dozen to the tummy) eliminate most of the other "logical contenders" as they now stack up. Heeney has shown himself to be as good as any of the run-of-mine heavies. If he is hopelessly outclassed it will mean that almost any of the others can be set down as pie for the champ.

This means that it will take a decisive victory over some one of recognized merit to place any of these other hopefuls in a position to draw a gate for Tunney. And the gate's the thing, of course.

Boy On Bicycle Struck By Auto

Accident Occurs On North Mill Street Near Grant; Other Mishaps

Several automobile accidents were reported to the police in the past 24 hours.

Miss Lillian Ward of 415½ Croton avenue reported that she was enroute east on East Falls street Monday at North Mill street, when Howard Hart, aged 15, of 409 North Mercer street, riding south on Highland avenue on a bicycle, was hit by her machine. There was another automobile going in the same direction on East Falls street at the time. Miss Ward went to the right side of the street and made the stop sign stop, then turned south on North Mill street. The other machine went out in the middle of East Falls street and crossed North Mill street. The result was that the boy and Ward car came together.

He was knocked down but was able to get up himself. Miss Ward took him to the office of a physician, where it was found that his injuries were not of a serious character, his right leg being bruised and his face scratched.

Maurice Schoenberger of 517 East Leasure avenue reported Monday that he was driving north on Lafayette street at Cherry street, when a car bearing Ohio license 769-338 going east on West Cherry street without observing the stop sign caused the Schoenberger car to sideswipe it, causing minor damage.

Clyde L. Uber of 824 Lathrop street reported that he was going east on East Washington street at the public square in front of the Fountain Inn hotel when his machine hit and slightly damaged the rear of a car bearing license 263-615, which was going in the same direction in front of his machine.

Withhold News Of Mrs. Coolidge From Her Aged Mother

(International News Service)

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., June 12—News of the sickness of her daughter today was withheld from Mrs. Lemiro Goodhue, 78-year-old mother of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge.

Mrs. Goodhue, who has been confined to her room in Dickinson-Cooley hospital since December with influenza, was still in a serious condition.

The sickness of his mother struck a sad note for John Coolidge, the son, a senior at Amherst College, in the adjoining town of Amherst. John had been looking forward to having his mother with him at commencement time.

Arrest Woman On Moonshine Charge

When Officers Lynch, Reynolds and Campbell armed with a search warrant visited the home of Mrs. Jennie Isaac, 10 West Reynolds street about 11 o'clock this morning they found large quantities of home brewed beer, a barrel of wine and a vat of beer in the process of brewing they report.

Mrs. Isaac threw out two quarts of moonshine except for a small quantity salvaged by the officers before she could be stopped the officers charge. The officers brought Mrs. Isaac, several bushel baskets filled with beer and a small quantity of wine and moonshine to the office. Mrs. Isaac is being held in the city jail pending disposition of her case.

Hundreds Romp At Playgrounds

Plan To Grade And Level Baseball Field At Gaston Park

START WORK SOON ON TENNIS COURTS

Weather conditions proved ideal Monday for the formal opening of the various playgrounds in the city and hundreds of children enjoyed their first day's romp since school in protected places.

The playgrounds were opened by flag-raisings and brief addresses by the different instructors acting under the supervision of Nicholas Cassello who is in charge of all grounds this summer.

At the West Side a bugle sounded "To the Colors" and its strains could be heard over a large portion of the section in which the playground is located. Despite the fact that inclement weather of the past week prevented all of the apparatnus being installed 75 children attended the opening.

A rainbow of colors greeted the visitor at Gaston Park as the varicolored clothing of at least a 150 children mingled with the fresh green of the spring foliage and harmoniously painted apparatus. Every piece of equipment at this ground is set up and receiving the usual vigorous playground usage. Within a few days a project is to be started that will enhance the value of Gaston Park more than ever.

To Grade Diamond.

The baseball diamond is to be graded and leveled. The surplus soil is to be used for filling the space between the first base line and the basketball court where a regulation double tennis court is to be located. It will be a topnotch clay-surfaced court with adequate backstops. Both the baseball field and tennis courts are situated in a natural amphitheater so that a spectator may seat himself on the gently sloping bank and watch practically all of the activities of the park.

Numerous conveniently placed benches are not only sought by children but by a surprising number of adults. Such is the popularity of this widely heralded but little known park. It will pay any citizen to visit and see the natural beauty the city possesses well within its limits.

Many at Croton.

A large number of children overflowed the large tract at Croton. A popular pastime at this place is hacking at a golf ball with a midiron and resulting in effectively slicing the ancient turf of the old Country club. An environmental heritage no doubt whatever that is. But actually this playground is located on the fine turf that once constituted the old golf course.

The outlook at McCleary avenue was none too bright so far as the footing was concerned. Sections of the field were left a trifle muddy as a result of last week's storm. In a day or two this playground will cope with any of them in entertaining the number of children that regularly frequent it. Last year McCleary carried away first honors for the prettiest and best playground flower garden. This year the responsibility for the swimmers will not be carried by the city. The water in the river is hardly fit for bathing and so it will be discouraged as much as possible.

Stimulate Tennis Here.

Equipment and apparatus is being moved to the Ben Franklin grounds and being installed as rapidly as possible Quite a number of children were romping and playing on the field in spite of the lack of equipment.

The controversy that has been raging over the Sheep Hill project has seriously handicapped the opening of this much sought playground. It looks now as if the situation is to be settled in such a way as to be entirely satisfactory to all concerned.

Work on the projected public tennis courts for various sections of the city will be resumed as soon as possible. For some reason cities nearly always approach and develop their recreational resources very slowly and always cautiously.

MACRE ENTERS PLEA TO LIQUOR CHARGE

Joseph Macre, charged with manufacturing liquor at West Pittsburg, entered a plea of guilty at court today. Officers are alleged to have found a still and other paraphernalia used in making liquor in Macre's home.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Did a little roaming up in the Castleton Monday night. The employes of the Johnson Bronze Company, and a group of friends honored Mr. and Mrs. Flaherty with a Silver Jubilee dinner and customers it was considerable of a party. If one could be sure of such recognition at the end of twenty years of married life it would seem well worth it.

Not that this alone was the reason. They are starting on a "Second Honeymoon" shortly, and the affair was a farewell party. In addition it was a tribute to an industrial leader of this city who is a credit.

The nice thing about this gentleman is that with all his success he has never gotten beyond being called Pat. And somehow I rather envy the successful man who still has retained the knack of being called by his first name. It's a tribute to his personality. You can't remember ever hearing Theodore Roosevelt being called Mister very much, nor William Jennings Bryan, nor Bill Taft, nor in fact any one who ever amounted to a lot. That term mister, as a rule, is just a sop to a small mind. Imagine calling Herbert Hoover Mister Hoover, or Babe Ruth, Mister Ruth. You can as easily imagine P. J. Flaherty being called Mister. He's big enough that he doesn't need it.

Dan Guinagh philosophized somewhat upon the vagaries of banks, while the dinner was going on. "Imagine this" said Dan. "A fellow gets a notice from the bank that his note is due, and in the same envelope he gets a highly colored prospectus calling attention to the beauties of a trip to Bermuda, or Yellowstone Park, or some other far off place. But their note reminds you that your note is due."

This is no time of the year for canned goods. Fresh strawberries, fresh tomatoes, fresh vegetables of all kinds, and now, greens. And among the greens that are most tasteful is the lovely polk. When you and I were kids there was an argument as to whether or not polk was poisonous but we know now that it isn't. Bob Armstrong spent considerable time over at the Legion Home last night, enlarging upon the tastefulness of a dish of polk, properly prepared. And in passing let it be said that Robert knows his polk.

Saw a rather unusual automobile up around The Castleton the other afternoon. Its engine was a well known American make, but the body was by a London concern. It was right hand drive, the body was done entirely in leather, the roof was of glass, and in the passenger compartment the seat was faced reversing the driver so one could look at the roadway in back. It was arranged so it could be made into a bed, and on the door was a lunch tray. Entrance was made by two steps on the rear. A peculiar looking job it was, but probably costing plenty pennies.

Guilty Of Driving Autos While Drunk

Two Are Found Guilty By Juries On Monday Afternoon

William Aho, charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, was found guilty by a jury Monday afternoon. It was claimed that Aho was driving on South Mill street, turned the corner at Market alley and crashed into the Sherman House.

A verdict of guilty was also returned in the case of the commonwealthy against Earl Montgomery, who was charged with operating a vehicle while intoxicated. He was arrested in the vicinity of the public square.

Will Begin County Pool Of Wool On Next Monday

Lawrence County Co-operative Wool Growers Association will pool their wool Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 18, 19 and 20, according to an announcement made this morning by County Agent H. R. McCulloch.

The wool growers are requested to bring their wool to the warehouse on Moravia street according to the following schedule:

Monday, June 18.

North Beaver township and Butler county.

Tuesday, June 19.

Plain Grove, Slippery Rock, Wilmington, Wayne, Perry, Shenango, Hickory, Washington, Pulaski and Scott township.

Wednesday, June 20.

Union, Little Beaver, Mahoning, Big Beaver townships and Beaver county, as well as sections not included in the above list.

"In case your neighbor has never pooled his wool," states S. B. Hayes, president of the association, "you will be doing him a favor by explaining the working of the pool to him, and if possible, persuading him also to pool his wool.

"During the coming year, the association is planning to make two wool shows. Any wool grower who has some nice fleeces of wool should wrap them carefully and deliver them to the warehouse when the wool is pooled. You will be paid for this wool when the pool is sold, whether before or after the show and will receive half of the premium money won by your wool. The association will show wool at Harrisburg and at Wheeling, W. Va.

"The farmer will also want to look over his wool and select fleeces for the show at the annual meeting of the association. This wool also should be carefully wrapped but kept at home until the time of the meeting. There will also be premium money and two silver cups to be competed for at this time."

Home Coming Week Concludes At People's Mission

Home Coming Week at the People's Mission, Sampson street, concluded Sunday evening. It was one of the best series of meetings in the history of the Mission. The last day was Rally Day and was largely attended.

Sunday morning communion service was held. Miss Louise Gorst, a graduate of the Bible Training School, spoke.

On Sunday afternoon, Sabbath school was held. A man who had been converted at the Glory barn at McKeesport, Pa., gave a wonderful testimony. Many old friends of the Mission were present at this service.

Sunday evening Richard Owrey, superintendent of the Mission, delivered a wonderful sermon at the close of which eight souls found their way to Christ. Miss Rickel played a saxophone solo. A duet was also given by Kenneth Winters, violin and Miss Rickel, saxophone.

ONE ISSUE REMOVED FROM POLITICS

MISSISSIPPI flood control is now assured. With the signature of the bill sent him by congress, President Coolidge has removed what might have been a decidedly disturbing issue from the coming campaign. The best of it is that apparently no strings have been left.

The president insisted upon steering a straight course and actually brought congress to his feet. He did not get all that he wanted, but he did obtain a fair and square measure and the outcome apparently is very generally acceptable.

There was great danger that flood control would run wild; that the government would be committed to immense expenditures variously estimated up to a billion and one-half dollars. For such a menace the president could not possibly stand. After several conferences with representatives of both congressional bodies, he secured limitations. The government will expend $325,000,000 for levees and for floodways and spillways intended as diversion channels. The states will furnish the land required for levee foundations. In the construction of floodways and spillways the government will assume responsibility only for damage to lands not previously subjected to floods.

It was a heated controversy that raged from the beginning of this congress. Fortunately common sense has prevailed at the demand of a president who insists upon common-sense methods of administering public affairs. So all's well that ends well.

PROSPERITY STRAWS

FOR several years there have been four fundamentals of American prosperity so truly basic in character that general business has improved or declined about in proportion as their combined contributions have been favorable or unfavorable. These four factors are the condition of ease and availability of credit accommodations, and the state of three fundamental businesses—automobiles, steel and iron, and building construction.

Credit accommodations at the present time are reasonably satisfactory. Interest rates are at fairly reasonable levels. Credit is available for business uses on easy terms. The steel and iron industry is enjoying prosperity. It is well known that the automobile industry is humming along at a more than average rate, and that it anticipates still better business as the summer advances. As for building construction, the volume since the first of the year has been larger than the optimistic had predicted.

To these pleasing omens might be added the activities of the stock market. Wall street evidently is confident of good times ahead, and is not alone in that opinion. The present market certainly indicates improved business.

TOO MUCH FOOD

EXPERTS representing the Gorgas Memorial Foundation have issued a bulletin warning the American people they are eating too much food and repeating the old saying that more graves are dug with teeth than with shovel and pick.

These experts say that as prosperity has become more general the people have increased their eating of rich food. The dinner of a dozen courses, popular three decades ago, no longer is in favor, but people often are sadly overfed. The experts warn that overeating shortens life and increases ill health and is quite the most costly fad the public can find.

Overeating loads the body with surplus fat, which interferes with normal conditions and produces a burden for the bodily organs. Hardly less damaging than overeating is the eating of unbalanced diets, providing no normal support for the body, overloading one part, undernourishing another, and forcing the development of serious organic troubles. Too much sugar is one more sin of appetite, and against that the Gorgas experts make positive statements that the people would be much healthier if they reduced their use of sugar largely.

As scientific foundation for their preachment for less food the scientists declare it is now positively known that merely eating an abundance of food is not the right way or the best way to insure and maintain bodily health and strength. What is needed is simple food, in balanced quantities, with repression in operation on the appetite at all meals.

Hints and Dints

'TIS LIFE BEYOND.

I watched a sail until it dropped from sight
Over the rounding sea. A gleam of white,
A last far-flashed farewell and, like a thought
Slipt out of mind, it vanished and was not.

Yet to the helmsman standing at the wheel
Broad seas still stretched beneath the gliding keel.
Disaster? Change? He felt no slightest sign,
Nor dreamed he of that far horizon line.

So may it be, perchance, when down the tide
Our dear ones vanish. Peacefully they glide
On level seas, nor mark the unknown bound.
We call it death—to them 'tis life beyond.

A great effort is to be made, but we do not know by whom to get congress to adjourn May 26. A motion to adjourn is always in order so congress has the power itself any time it wants to exercise it. Anyhow we hope some one gets it adjourned.

But even if it were possible to make both ends meet a man would experience considerable difficulty in making them dovetail.

In some precincts in Chicago it was found after investigation after the recent election in that city there were fewer votes than the returns indicated. A little thing like that should not worry Chicagoans. In many places even here in this congressional district are told that enough votes can be had to elect just as soon as it is found out how many are needed. At a price of some kind of course no doubt.

So far as we are aware we've never seen a man run amuck. But then we've never seen the galled jade wince either. We guess we haven't seen much.

It is stated as a rumor of course that the air express may be absorbed by the railroads. The railroads sure will have to absorb something if the new means of travel do not stop developing. Such a thing as making the railroads more attractive as a means of travel perhaps has not occurred to the railroads. Dirty cars and delays have much to do with people staying off the railroads. If we had a railroad we would not try and act peeved but would give some real service.

It costs far less to put a criminal to death than it does to support him in the penitentiary for life. This may seem more or less brutal but consider. Is it just to force honest, law-abiding hard-working citizens to pay for food, clothing and shelter for worthless burdens to humanity? Could not the money that would be spent to support these criminals be better used to teach our children to be loyal, trustworthy, God-fearing citizens? Could not this money be put to better advantage in making life a little brighter for the poor cripples, mutes, blind, etc., who, through no fault of their own are in suffering and poverty? Does civilization consist in supporting malicious vultures who prey on human life while loyal citizens go in want? Only a fool could call that civilization.

Sullivan and Mulcahy.
Ford's Busy Day.
Paul Revere's Horse.
Automobile's Booming.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

DETROIT, Mich., May 21.—Self-confidence usually means success. When John L. Sullivan met the Prince of Wales, grandfather of today's Prince, Jem Smith, heavyweight champion of England, was present and in training to fight Kilrain.

Sullivan, who was to box for the Prince's delegation with his sparring partner, Jack Ashton, said to the Prince:

"Your English champion is here, trained to fight. I'm just off the boat and fat. Tell your champion to get into that ring with me. If I don't knock him out in two rounds, I'll go back to America."

The Prince was delighted, but Jem Smith's manager said "No."

A fight with no gate money, and with Sullivan, had no appeal. So Sullivan boxed with Ashton, Jem Smith boxed with old Alf Greenfield. The Prince, and this writer, the only newspaperman there, were disappointed.

Detroit feels about Detroit as Sullivan felt about himself. Joseph Mulcahy, who was born in New York, and now edits the Detroit Times, says, with perfect seriousness:

"Detroit, today, is what New York was 25 years ago. Fifty years from now men will be saying, 'New York is what Detroit was 25 years ago.'"

Every day is Henry Ford's busy day, but Friday was unusually busy. He arrived in the morning to greet the Bremen fliers, who saw his plant, and had luncheon with Edsel Ford, head of the committee to receive them.

Then Ford welcomed Junkers, who built the Bremen, and talked engineering with him. "A fine product of Germany's thorough training methods", Ford called Junkers.

At four o'clock in the afternoon Ford was talking with Gen. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad. Perhaps they discussed the combination sleeping car and airplane transcontinental service, announced by the Pennsylvania and Santa Fe.

Just beyond Ford's Dearborn office Gen. Atterbury might have seen actual air transportation on the Ford flying field.

A neat, new station has been built for arriving and departing air passengers, and a big Ford plane, having just brought a full load from Cleveland, was waiting to carry another load in the other direction.

If you ask Ford about his flying plans, he says, "Ask Edsel, he is looking after that."

But Ford is deeply interested in flying, and sells his tri-motor planes for $30,000, less than each one costs to build. Profits with volume will come later.

Ford says that for the moment "flying has come up against a stone wall, and some big things need to be done." He may undertake to do one or two of them, although he does not say so.

All Detroit cheered the Bremen fliers, and nobody except Ford paid much attention to Junkers, who built the Bremen and made the flight possible.

Asked if that did not seem unjust, Ford replied, "Well, somebody asked the other day, 'Did you ever hear of anybody that knew the name of Paul Revere's horse?'"

The automobile industry is booming as never before. Chrysler expects to make the world sit up, with his new car, the "Desota". Florida will like that name.

General Motors, in July, will produce a new Buick, for which you are politely requested to wait. Mr. Knudson, president of General Motors' Chevrolet, says that car is selling one hundred and thirty thousand odd cars a month.

The young Ford factory driver, shooting you through traffic in a new Ford Model A, shows you that the car can do 40 miles an hour in second speed, and believing that three negatives make an effective affirmative, says:

"In the beginning everybody tried to get away faster than this car, to show it up. But they don't never nobody try to do it now. They just give you the road." Saying which, he risked your life, once more, scooting between two heavy trucks.

Carry a cheerful thought to Sunday morning. This country is really rich, plenty of opportunity to make up for anything that may have happened to you in Wall Street in the last day or two.

Stocks listed on the big exchange were worth, at market price, read carefully the pleasant figures, fifty-four billion, eight hundred and eighteen millions, nine hundred and twenty-five thousand, eight hundred and sixty dollars.

And that does not include stocks listed on the curb exchange, or not listed anywhere, or the gigantic wealth outside of corporations.

Brokers' loans, not quite five billions, are less than nine per cent of the big exchange stock values. How foolish to make a fuss about those loans.

But don't gamble.

INTERNATIONAL GOOD WILL DAY

Monday, May 21st, is the first anniversary of Lindbergh's landing in Paris.

Lindbergh inaugurated a new kind of diplomacy on his epoch-making flight from New York to Paris and he was heartily welcomed by a friendly people.

When he visited the South American countries he was equally acclaimed by them. Wherever he has gone he has been received as a messenger of peace and good will among peoples.

It is no exaggeration to say that his visits to these various countries have done more for the good feeling of the peoples of the various nations than anything that has happened for centuries.

We cannot too often emphasize every occasion to cement the friendship which binds us to other nations. This is our best reliance in time of war or trouble. The best defense of any nation is its friendships and good will with other nations.

The president has referred to Lindbergh as "an illustrious citizen, a conqueror of the air and strengthener of the ties which bind us to our sister nations across the sea."

It is an occasion well worthy of an anniversary and worthy to be recognized in some form commensurate with its vital importance.

The building of an air force of any country should be looked upon as an institution of friendship and not of hostility toward other countries. Rapid and efficient transportation is the best means for breaking down the bars of provincialism with which certain minds are always seeking to surround their nation.

Colonel Lindbergh's exploit was not that of an American citizen so much as of a human being that might have been born anywhere, and his daring deed appeals to the adventurous and youthful of all lands, and all should be invited to share in making this celebration of the anniversary and of his exploit an occasion of good will.

Tomorrow—Quick Justice.

THERE'S THE IDLE RICH

The Secretary of Labor of the United States is a man who has been identified with the organized labor of the Nation all his life. He may have opinions which do not at all times coincide with Capitalists' dreams, but he generally has both of his substantial feet planted firmly on the ground.

The malcontents, political and otherwise, of this Country, have been preaching the Doctrines of Discontent at all times and in all places. Just now the political "Outs" have been using ammunition borrowed from this undesirable class of citizenry and have proclaimed that more than five million men and women in the United States are idle. The idleness of which they speak, they further allege is due to vicious Capitalists identified with the political "Ins".

Secretary Davis comes along and says, "Yes, there is some unemployment, but the condition is not due to faulty business manangement, nor yet to business depression, but to the inventive genius of the country. Machinery has been devised and put into operation which does the work of the, at present, jobless man, by mechanical instead of human effort." The Secretary made this statement to the members of the Foremen's Club at York, Pennsylvania, on April 25th.

Mr. Davis further said that the present period of unemployment is simply another of those temporary seasons when people displaced by new machinery must be carried over until they can find new jobs or until the normal development of industry offers them new opportunities in new industries.

Nothing ever said was truer. Political Economists, good, bad and indifferent, have always admitted that with the advent of every new mechanical invention many workmen had to hunt new employments. The wise Economists have used the word "Emancipated" in this connection, meaning that the workmen might improve his condition in life, being freed from routine toil. The Pessimists have always talked about the ruin caused by new machines and new methods.

Two English travelers on their first trip to this Country have taken a different slant at the situation.

"Peculiar," remarked one of them, "I see stories in the papers about the automobile industry operating at capacity, steel production at a new high April record, tire business thriving, farmers prospering, electric companies doing a record business, chain stores showing big gains, copper sales at new high record, bankers selling $500,000,000 of new securities monthly, record Stock Exchange transactions, record gasoline consumption, etc., and then on the first pages there are dispatches from Washington that tell us that business is depressed, with millions unemployed."

"Does seem strange," replied his fellow tourist, "but you know this is a very prosperous country, and the Washington unemployment statistics may include the idle rich."

THESE YOUNGSTERS

If I thought the younger generation was going to the devil, I would be very much concerned. I have two small daughters who will be in the younger generation in a few years. If I believed the influences into which they are about to grow were wicked and terrible and demoralizing, I would feel that I ought to do something about it. Perhaps I would write a novel like "Heavy Laden," or go on the stump or into the pulpit to cry out against the sins of youth.

But I can't seem to get excited about it. I know young people of almost all ages and of both sexes, in many parts of the North American continent. I have talked to high school and college students, singly, severally, and in large groups, and I can't see anything wrong with them. They are younger, yes. But that is a condition I envy them frankly. I don't hide my envy and make it ferment into intolerance.

Now take this novel I mentioned, "Heavy Laden." It is by a young man named Philip Wylie, who has adopted, for pseudo-literary purposes, an attitude of loathing and contempt for all humanity. He tells the reader, in direct and inelegant language that he, the writer, hates him, the reader. He expresses a superior disgust as his reaction to the sight of the human race. Then he puts down rows and rows of vulgar words, apparently for the joy of seeing them in print.

All this is quite sophomoric, and even a trifle adolescent. I do not know Mr. Wylie at all, but I hope to learn that is is not more than fifteen years old. If he is even sixteen and a half, there is much hope for him. He writes rather easily, and his English is not bad. When he grows up and learns that human beings are really quite nice, he will be in a fair way to crave out a career for himself as a writer.

* * * *

Mr. Wylie's theme is the daughter who is not understood by her father. The daughter goes to college and lives a dissolute evistence, drinking and carousing and generally carrying on in a way to make readers turn the pages rapidly. The old-fashioned father seems a bit bewildered by the young lady's conduct, so the daughter shows him she can do much worse than that. And there's your plot.

Well, that's all right for an honest effort to make one's first novel a best-seller. But as a picture of life it's not so good.

Young people are not old people, of course, and neither is the young generation of today living precisely like the young generation of yesterday. But these adolescent writers who picture the college folk of today as a harum-scarum lot of drunken sots afflict me. I know better. The boys and girls are still pretty good risks.
